5-Year-Old Boy Struck, Killed Here By Truck

A five-year-old Monroe boy, Ronald Warren Ponder, was killed instantly Saturday morning, when he was hit by a gravel truck in the 300 block of the Jonesboro road in West Monroe. The accident is reported to have occurred at approximately 8 a.m.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. today at the Memorial Methodist church with the Rev. Ralph Cain officiating. Interment will follow in the Memorial Park cemetery.

Young Ponder, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ardis Ponder, Edgewater Gardens, was visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Ponder, 300 Jonesboro road, when the accident occurred. According to a police report, the child ran into the path of the oncoming truck, driven by W. N. Brasher, 609 North Sixth street, West Monroe, and was killed when the rear dual wheel ran over his head.

Brasher stated that he saw the child dash into the street and attempted to stop the vehicle. When he realized he could not stop the truck, he turned it into a yard in an attempt to miss the boy.

Young Ponder is survived by his parents; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ponder, West Monroe; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Warren; and one sister, Sandra Ponder, 11 years old.

Pallbearers will be Robert Powell, Dr. William Epstein, Carl Slakter and Dr. Henry Hammonds.

Adm. Carney Is Favored For Bradley's Post

NATO Officer May Head Joint Chiefs Of Staff

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Speculation on a successor to Gen. Omar N. Bradley as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff centered today on Adm. Robert B. Carney, commander of North Atlantic Treaty forces in Southern Europe.

Bradley is due to retire Aug. 16 and the field of possible successors appears to be wide open. Those who suggested that Carney be kept in mind regard him as a potentially satisfactory compromise in the long and bitter dispute between the Navy and Air Force over their respective roles in aviation.

Carney has kept virtually aloof from much of that bickering. Thus he has stirred no deep hostility in the air force camp and is looked upon as a friend of many Army officials.

But the factor that really counts is that Carney is not a naval aviator.

Adm. Arthur Radford, commander-in-chief, Pacific, is an aviator and has been a sharply outspoken proponent of the Navy in its quarrels with the Air Force and, at times, with the Defense Departmen. Radford's name has been high in speculation on the Joint Chiefs chairmanship, especially since he accompanied President Eisenhower on the latter's pre-inauguration journey to Japan and Korea.

Lost Passport Proves Ticket To Death Ride

NEW DELHI, India, May 9 (AP)—U. S. Embassy officials revealed today the tragic story of a young American schoolteacher who found her misplaced passport in time to board an airliner which crashed minutes later, killing all 18 passengers and crew.

By catching the flight early today, Miss Pauline Lehman, 26, of Mountain Lake, Minn., joined in death two teacher companions with whom she planned to share the joys of a round-the-world tour. Her friends—Miss Jean S. Cohen of Baltimore, Md., and Miss Anita Whistler of Berkeley, Calif.—were among 43 killed in the crash of a British jet Comet near Calcutta a week ago.

An engine on the plane Miss Lehman boarded caught fire just after the Air India C47 transport took off early today for Bombay. The pilot attempted to return to New Delhi's Palam Airport, but the two-engined craft crashed in flames at the edge of an Indian bamboo hut village.

Among the 13 passengers was a second American—Ramchand Watumull, 40, of Honolulu, an Indian-born member of a wealthy Hawaiian family.

The three schoolteachers had completed exchange teaching assignments in Rangoon, Burma, and made extensive plans for their world tour.

Freed State POW Shy Of Red Talk

LIVINGSTON, La., May 9—UP—Louisiana's second prisoner of war to be repatriated refused Saturday to discuss his treatment at the hands of the Communists but admitted, "I feel sorry for the guys who are still over there."

Pfc. Ambrow Vampran of Maurepas, about 20 miles southeast of Livingston, was released from Camp Leroy Johnson Friday night after Maj. Harold E. Hainot, port surgeon, pronounced him in good physical shape.

Jets Leave Red Zones In Flames

Seoul, Sunday, May 10 (AP)—U. S. Sabre jets carried the brunt of the air war Saturday in their new dual role as fighters and bombers, destroying two Red jets and touching off raging fires at two Communist troop-supply centers.

Ground fighting was small in scale but frequent, particularly along the Central and Western sectors.

The Eighth Army reported 19 classes along the line—11 of them thrusts by the Communists. It said "contacts showed a marked increase" as patrols bumped into each other in no man's land.

The Air Force said 72 Sabre divebombers swarmed out in record sorties Saturday over the Western Front. A total of 36 hit and blasted into flaming ruin 45 buildings in a troop concentration a few miles southwest of Kaesong, near the mouth of the Yesong iver.

In an afternoon strike 36 more Sabres dive-bombed a Red fuel and supply area at Sariwon, dropping 75 tons of explosives.

"I could see every bomb going into the target," said one returning pilot. "Flames were 1,000 feet high and smoke was rolling up to 5,000 feet."

The Sabres peeled off one at a time for high-speed screaming dives—faster than Red anti-aircraft batteries could aim and fire.

In all, Sabre divebombers of the 18th Wing flew 108 sorties—a new high for the unit since it switched from slower F80 Shooting Star jets.

CHIEF TO RETIRE

GULFPORT, Miss., May 9 (AP)—Richard Hart, police chief since January, 1949, announced today he would retire in July to enter private business.

Hart, formerly in charge of the police department's identification bureau, did not disclose the nature of the busines.

New Country Club And Driving Range Planned

Plans for a new country club for Monroe, with a capitalization of $50,000 and with a clubhouse estimated to cost $20,000 to $25,000, were announced Saturday by L. M. Ray, secretary of the new organization.

Articles of incorporation have been filed in the office of the Ouachita Parish clerk of court. The new club, articles of incorporation showed, will be known as Roselawn Country Club, Inc. Its domicile was given as 2220 Louisville Avenue. Mr. Ray said the club would be located on 18th Street.

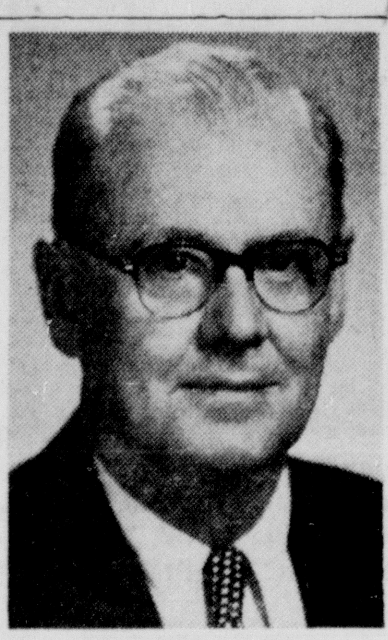
Organizers and charter members and first officers are: Sam C. Brown, president, owning 300 shares; Edward J. Alexander, vice president, owning 300 shares; Joe E. Freund, vice - president, owning 150 shares; Byron Terror, treasurer, owning 150 shares, and L. M. Ray, secretary, owning 300 shares.

The corporation is capitalized at $50,000 represented by 5000 shares of $10 each, with authority to commence business when $12,000 has been paid in.

Objects of the corporation are to build, construct, own, lease, operate, manage and carry on the business of golf driving range and operate taverns, restaurants, and to sell and dispense foods, beverages, and liquids of all kinds, the articles stated.

Mr. Ray said that a golf driving range and putting course will be constructed and that there will be a complete restaurant, cocktail lounge and private dining room. The driving range will be 1,000 ft. long, which is said to be amply long for any normal driving. The clubhouse will be of brick construction.

The new club will be open to the public at a "nominal" membership fee or on a one - time fee basis for driving.



RICHARD HALE

Mailhes Retires; Hale Takes Helm

L. A. Mailhes, general manager of the Monroe Morning World and News-Star, has retired after serving in the general managership since last September. His retirement was announced yesterday by William H. Bronson, president of the News-Star—World Corporation.

Richard Hale, who has been business manager for the Morning World and News-Star since early this year, has been named general manager of the two newspapers.

Mailhes, a native of New Orleans, has been associated with the Ewing newspapers for more than 46 years. He received an A. B. degree at Loyola university in New Orleans in 1904 and became associated with the New Orleans Daily States, of which the late Col. Robert Ewing was editor and publisher, on Jan. 1, 1907.

In October of 1919, Mailhes went to Shreveport as business manager of the Shreveport Times. In 1931 he became general manager of the Times and retains that position following his retirement here.

During his general managership in Monroe, Mailhes has directed improvements in the Morning World and News - Star which include inauguration of the Monday Morning World, addition of United Press in both newspapers, re - styling of the headlines and make-up in both papers and four-color printing of the Sunday World comic section.

In April, Mailhes was among 13 residents of the Twin Cities receiving distinguished citizens awards for outstanding service to the community. The citation, made by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Monroe and West Monroe, said in part:

"Although having resided in Monroe less than a year, this person whom we wish to honor has already made a contribution which we believe will have a lasting effect on our community as well as the surrounding area. Past experience and general attitude toward community betterment will have, and is having, a tremendous affect upon those persons who have the pleasure to make his acquaintance."

Hale has been associated with the Shreveport Times for 26 years when he was named business manager of the Monroe paper last Feb. 1. He became national advertising director of the Times in 1927 and advertising director in 1942.

He has served as governor of the 10th district of the Advertising Federation of America, president of the Midwest Advertising Manager's association and as member of the plans board of the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publisher's association.

Cerebral Palsy Campaign Here Officially Opens

An official campaign was launched Saturday in Ouachita parish and other parishes throughout northeast Louisiana toward building a clinic for the care of all cerebral palsy suffering children and adults. Recreational and educational facilities would also be provided.

Cans have been placed in stores for donations and membership cards. During the week of May 17 to May 23 collections will be taken in the theaters.

The Altrusa Club of Monroe is sponsoring the organization of the Northeast Louisiana Cerebral Association and aiding the fund drive. Membership cards may be purchased from any Altrusa member or from members of the cerebral palsy association.

The group sponsoring this drive are the local citizens, leading business leaders, and parents of the victims of cerebral palsy. Membership cards will be sold to all persons interested in becoming a member of this worthwhile cause.

Inasmuch as science has proved that a great majority of the cerebral palsied can be helped to become useful, self - sustaining citizens, the present campaign of the United Cerebral Palsy affords an opportunity to assist in improving the condition of half a million children and adults who were born cerebral palsied.

M. S. Greenblatt, general chairman of the drive, states that the money being collected throughout northeast Louisiana will be used to help the cerebral palsied in northeast Louisiana. Contributions should be sent to "United Cerebral Palsy Association of Northeast La., 2507 Hawthorne St., Monroe, La."

Cabinet Walks Out In Bogota Dispute

BOGOTA, Colombia, May 9—UP—Acting President Roberto Undaneta Arbelaez's entire cabinet resigned Saturday.

First to hand in his resignation was Interior Minister Luis Ignacio Andrade, senior cabinet official, who said he was going to London to attend the coronation of Queen Elizabeth.

Then, the remaining 12 ministers wrote Urdaneta Arbtlaez a joint letter offering their resignations. Ten of them gave as a reason the forthcoming opening of a national constituent assembly.

Jes' Ramblin'

Many mothers have had a lion's share in the shaping of the lives of their children, and on a day like this which comes but once a year, it is quite fitting that they be given recognition.

At the First Methodist Church, as in all other churches here today, Mother is to be the theme. In order to have participation of representative mothers in a night program at the church named, Mrs. J. M. Munholland will be honored for the role in life she has played in rearing a fine family. Also Mrs. A. W. Riggs will be hon-

Mother Admits Drowning Son

KANSAS CITY, May 9 (AP) — A young mother who told police she drowned her son because she didn't want her baby "to be raised up with his father in the penitentiary" was charged with second degree murder today.

The mother, Mrs. Billie Pauline Link, 18, told police yesterday she had allowed the 3-month-old child to drown in his bath because the child's father is serving a five-year sentence for robbery.

She pleaded innocent and was released on a $2,500 bond for appearance at preliminary hearing May 21.

Acute Teacher Shortage Said Facing Nation

47,000 Positions May Go Unfilled, Educators Reveal

NEW ORLEANS, May 9 (AP)—This year the nation's schools will find themselves short by roughly 47,000 teachers. The demand is there. The teachers won't be. What is the answer?

This was one of the problems discussed by laymen and professional educators from a dozen southern and southwestern states today in a two-day meeting sponsored by the National Citizens Commission for the Public Schools.

Maurice D. Bement, Louisville, Ky., director of the commission's southern region, summarized the results of discussion groups at the banquet concluding the meeting.

Bement said the program offered the participants the chance to exchange information on programs in their own communities.

The teacher shortage and finances are the two major problems facing education-minded communities today, he said.

There will be a demand this year for 148,000 new teachers in both high schools and elementary schools. The supply must be taken from 101,179 students about to graduate as certified teachers, he said.

Bement added that many of the graduating group would not join the teaching profession, thus making the shortage worse. Further, he said, many teachers leave the profession after only a short period. Some 60,000 quit each year.

Bement pointed out that the commission's purpose is not to dictate methods for local groups.

"It is not necessary for one community to follow the pattern of another," he said. "Each community has different problems. Our work is directed at co-ordinating the efforts of various community groups and supplying information on what other communities are doing, so that local groups may work out ways to solve their own problems."

R. D. Morrow Sr. of Brandon, Miss., president of the Mississippi Citizens Council on Education, said he felt citizens committees such as his own could do their states great service.

Housing Pinch Faces Children At Blind School

BATON ROUGE, La., May 9 (AP)—Evacuation of the upper floors in two dormitories at the State School for the Blind in Baton Rouge has created a "desperate housing situation," Supt. W. C. Gill said today.

Gill said more than 50 blind children were cramped into other quarters when State Fire Marshal Sidney Bowman condemned the floors last week, following an investigation.

Children are now housed on the ground floor of the buildings and in the school's hospital.

"We may be able to get by until the end of the term," Gill said, "But I don't know what we'll do when school reconvenes in September."

He said Supt. Shelby M. Jackson of the State Department of Education "is making an analysis of the situation.

Richland Fetes Progress Era In Dedication

By YVONNE BRETT
(State Editor)

RAYVILLE, May 9 (Special)—Citizens of Richland parish gathered here today to celebrate an era of progress for the 84-year-old northeast settlement which in 1869 was carved from four surrounding parishes, Ouachita, Morehouse, Franklin and Carroll.

Highlights of the celebration was dedication of the new $500,000 courthouse, the Richland Parish Health Center, presentation of the "Richland Parish Resources and Facilities" brochure, and wooden gavel made from remains of the old courthouse.

Wade O. Martin, Jr., La. Secretary of State, delivering the major address for the occasion, stated that a "truly progressive community is one that places the welfare of the whole people first, and in this respect the progress of Richland parish has been great as shown by the many fine churches, schools, recreational and housing facilities."

Martin commented that Richland's celebration primarily concerned the local assembly, but that the great state of Louisiana was made up of parishes, cities, towns and rural areas and what is good or beneficial for the smallest such community affects the overall state welfare.

Incorporated municipalities in Richland are Rayville, Delhi and Mangham and many noteworthy small settlements.

The magnificent courthouse, constructed in 1951, is second to none in the state in design, modern facilities and convenience. Its basement and five stories, completely air-conditioned house all

Elizabeth Row Is Studied By State Officers

PINEVILLE, La., May 9 (AP)—Law enforcement officials of two parishes met today with Maj. Gen. Raymond H. Fleming, state adjutant general to discuss the problem of violence at strike-ravaged Elizabeth.

The meeting was closed to the press. It was held at Gen. Fleming's house at Camp Beauregard, state national guard headquarters.

An officer said results of the talk probably would be made public later at a press conference.

Those asked to the conference included Sheriffs Grady Kelley of Rapides Parish, and Ralph Thompson of Allen Parish, who have requested martial law in the area of the struck plants, and prosecuting officials from both parishes.

Meanwhile, state police reported all quiet at Elizabeth, west-central Louisiana town of 1100 which has been shaken by dynamite and shotgun blasts and other violence since the strike began at two papermills eight months ago.

In the latest blast Thursday, Lee Howard, 35 year old engineer at one of the plants was seriously injured by a time bomb which exploded while he and a deputy sheriff were investigating a prior explosion that damaged the gas main leading into the plants.

Texas A. G. Sees Vital Youth Role

The Honorable John Ben Shepperd, attorney general of Texas, and former national president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce paid high tribute to the young men of America last night in an address before the Jaycees state convention at the Hotel Frances.

Shepperd compared the nation's young men to little boys who "do not know a thing is impossible, so they go ahead and do it."

"Our young men are the bloodstream of our way of life," he continued. "It is primarily their en-

OFFICIALS NAMED

Winston Linam, Shreveport attorney, was elected president of the Louisiana Junior Chamber of Commerce Saturday.

Other officers elected on the second day of the three - day state convention here included Horace Rand of Rapides Parish, national director, and seven state vice presidents: F. S. Womack of Baton Rouge, Dr. Harold Nolan of New Iberia, Ray Elrod of Bossier City, Gordon Schexnayder of Lafayette, Charles Buckley of Rapides Parish and Lovell Hayden III of Monroe.

The organization adopted a resolution asking Gov. Robert Kennon to declare the area around Eliazbeth, La., under martial law and take whatever action is necessary to quell disturbances in the strife-torn papermill town.

Modification, Clarification Are Called For

His View Said Shared By Top U. N. Countries

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles declared today that some provisions of the Red proposals for disposing of prisoners of war in Korea are unsatisfactory as stated and should be clarified and probably modified.

At a news conference, he also disclosed that the United States has been rushing small arms ammunition and other military aid to strengthen the armed forces of Thailand against the threat posed by the Red invasion of Laos in Indochina. Thailand asked emergency assistance earlier in the week.

His carefully qualified comments on the Korean truce negotiations provided the first official guidance to United States reaction to the eight-point plan which the Reds put forward three days ago at Panmunjom. Under instruction from Washington, U. N. truce negotiators have been seeking the clarification which Dulles said is essential.

Dulles said that the view he expressed was generally agreed upon among the United States and Allied nations like Britain, France, Turkey and others with troops fighting in Korea. The United States, he made clear, has been consulting these countries on the response which the U. N. Command should make to the Red POW plan.

He also said he and other officials discussed the matter with President Eisenhower at the White House Thursday and yesterday.

Dulles' words sharpened an impression here that if the Reds would modify some provisions—principally the proposals for introducing European Communist satellite forces into South Korea and for settling the final fate of some POWs at a political conference—the United States and its Allies would quickly agree upon the Red plan.

200 Made Ill By Food Poisoning; Probe Launched

ANNISTON, Ala. May 9 (AP)—Medical authorities today began exhaustive tests in an attempt to ascertain the cause of the mass food poisoning of about 200 students and teachers at a high school banquet.

"We have nothing definite yet," said Dr. G. A. O'Connell, county health officer. "It could have been caused by two or three things.

None of those stricken was in serious condition. The last two of an estimated 80 or more treated at the Anniston Memorial Hospital have been released. Many remained under treatment at their homes.

O'Connell said about 200 of the estimated 350 at the annual Junior-Senior Banquet last night became violently ill within a short time. Some collapsed at a dance following the banquet. Others became ill at home.

The Skillet Club

By UNCLE FRANK KOHLER

(Chief Skilleteer)

Fred W. Hartman, Buffalo Courier & Express Chapter, likes this "Chicken Saute," and we think you'll agree there is good reason for his enthusiasm:

2 frying chickens (2-½ lbs. each)
2 medium sized onions, diced.
½ cup olive oil or more if needed.
2 cloves garlic finely chopped.
¼ teaspoon rosemary chopped fine.
1½ lbs. fresh button mushrooms.
3 small green peppers, diced.
1 wineglass Sauterne wine.
1 teaspoon salt.
Pepper to taste.
½ teaspoon MSG (optional).

Heat olive oil in skillet, and brown chicken slowly on both sides. Add finely chopped garlic and rosemary and simmer until golden brown. Add mushrooms, diced onions and peppers and continue cooking. Chicken should cook from 30 to 45 minutes in all. Test for "doneness" with a fork.

20 minutes before serving add the Sauterne, then season to taste with salt and pepper. Serves six and royally, too.

Edward J. Cook, Jr., of Phoenix, Arizona, and a Skilleteer from the Wichita Eagle Chapter, suggests a fine "Turkish Pilaf." Not at all bad with some peas and Mr. Hartman's chicken.

2 tablespoons olive oil.
2 cloves garlic, minced.
1 small onion, finely minced.
One-third cup rice, well washed.
1½ cups boiling water.
1 beef boullion cube.
½ teaspoon curry powder.
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire.
1 tablespoon soy sauce.
1 tablespoon tomato sauce.
2 dashes tabasco.

Put olive oil (or butter or bacon fat) in skillet, and brown garlic and onion lightly. Add well-washed rice and fry until golden brown. Add 1½ cups water in which one boullion cube has been dissolved, then the remaining ingredients. Stir.

Cover tightly and let simmer about 25 minutes on lowest possible heat until all liquid is absorbed and rice is brown and flaky. This fine recipe serves two.

1 cup boiling water.
1 cup ice water.
1 cup cooked cranberries (or sauce).
2 cups soured cream.

Dissolve the gelatin in hot water, then add cold water or its equivalent in ice clubs. Chill until it is the consistency of egg whites. Beat in cranberries and soured cream, and blend well. Place in well-oiled mold until firm.

Other berries or fresh peaches or a combination of fruit may be used in place of the cranberries. Chopped pecans, toasted almonds or walnut meats may be added as a delicious variation.

Jury And School Board Criticized

BATON ROUGE, La., May 9—UP—The West Feliciana parish police jury and the Washington parish school board were criticized Saturday by State Auditor Allison Kolb for making "irregular" purchases.

An audit report made by Kolb's office said that the West Feliciana parish police jury advertised for bids on a road grader and then accepted the high bid "although the law provides the low bid shall be accepted."

The report criticized the police jury further for not adopting the "unit system" instead of the present ward system.

The Kohinor diamond is about 186 carats.

Day Observed At Selman School

May Day was celebrated in a delayed ceremony at Selman Elementary School honoring Miss Martha Turnley, a most popular third grade teacher, who retires at the close of this session. The program was planned and presented under the direction of Mrs. Crystal Anthony and her Sixth grade students. Gwendolyn Terry gave a very informative paper on the "Purposes of May Day." As the applause died away, O. J. Baldwin, popular eighth grade Science teacher crowned Miss Turnley as "Queen For The Day." The ceremony was impressive and Mr. Baldwin made an excellent presentation speech.

Mickey Moody appeared on the scene as Reader for a group which dramatized Miss Turnley's life. Mickey very cleverly lead his audience into a receptive mood by reminding them of the heroines of history-beginning with Eve, who appeared dressed in her big fig leaves; Mary, the Mother of Jesus; Molly Pitcher, taken from the pages of history; Sacajawea, the famous Indian maid; Joan of Arc; Florence Nighingale; Pocahontas; Queen Esther; and lastly he told of the birth of the heroine of the hour-Martha Turnley. Her early childhood, graduation from high school, the years she spent as a lecturer from the Chautauqua platform; her teaching years out of state and her return to Louisiana where she entered the employ of Ouachita Parish School Board as third grade teacher at Okaloosa.

Several interesting scenes from her classroom there, with Mr. Ward and Mrs. Williams as observers, were depicted. As the last scenes closed Mickey said, "Thus we find Miss Matti today still teaching A B C's. Some one has said that this is her last year to teach, but we disagree — Miss Mattie will go on teaching in the lives of boys and girls. These boys and girls can never say thank you enough no matter how hard they try."

Walter Holder, genial coach and seventh grade teacher, presented a gift to Miss Turnley, on behalf of the students and faculty. Miss Mildred White presented the chorus in two numbers, "Peggy O'Neill' and "Shortenin' Bread." Mr. Ward and Mrs. Williams gave brief talks.

Awarding High Honors Planned As Tech Event

RUSTON (Special) — Dedicated to "excellence in scholarship, eminence in leadership, and distinction in service," Louisiana Tech's annual Honors Day convocation will be presented in Howard auditorium next Thursday, May 14 at 10 a.m. President R. L. Ropp has announced that classes will be dismissed for the assembly.

Three new awards will be presented at the program for the first time this year. They are the Futurt Teachers of America award, the Herbert L. Hughes English award, and the Frederic Post and Eugene Dietzgen awards.

Two outstanding freshman engineering students will receive the Post and Dietzgen prizes of drawing sets and certificates of award.

Receiving the Future Teacher award will be "the outstanding senior member of the George W. Bond chapter of the Future Teachers of America."

A cash prize given to the person who wins the Herbert L. Hughes English award, which was begun this year by Dr. Hughes, dean of the School of Arts and Sciences and head of the department of English and foreign languages at Tech. The recipient will be "the English major graduating in the June commencement having the highest average in English."

President Ropp will preside at the convocation. Rev. R. R. Branton, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church of Ruston, will give the invocation. The benediction will be given by Rev. O. R. Perkins, pastor of the Ruston Church of Christ.

Presentations which will be made include: Agriculture club award, by John Routon. Delta Sigma Pi Scholarship award, by Dr. Glenn Hodge. Tau Beta Pi award, by Pat Baker. Freshman Engineering awards, by J. Gale Chumley. Inter-fraternity council award of scholarship plaque, by John Drane.

Original Student Compositions To Feature Recital

A recital of original student compositions will be presented by the Music Department of Northeast State in Brown Auditorium Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. The public is invited.

Music which will be heard on this program is an outgrowth of projects in theory classes of James F. Monroe of the Northeast faculty. The evening event will feature music of Miss Jonnie Bankhead, Miss Jane Wallace and Roland Carter, all music majors.

Tht program is divided into three parts. The first group of numbers consists of two chorale harmonizations by Roland Carter and a choral suite, "The Four Seasons," by Miss Wallace. These selections are to be sung by the Northeast Choral Group.

Included in the solo section of the program are two numbers, "A Friend" and "Goodbye" by Miss Bankhead and "Wild Plum" and "When I Was One and Twenty" by Miss Wallace. Jennings Wilkins, tenor will sing these songs, accompanied at the piano by Miss Wallace. She also is to perform two original piano compositions to conclude the group. They are "Theme and Variations" and "Impromptu in C Sharp Minor."

The last group on the program will comprise instrumental numbers. Carter's "Rondo" is to be performed by Jack Kimball, clarinet; Billie Joe Wafer, baritone, and Miss Delores Logan, bassoon. Performing his "Sonata Allegro" will be Herbert Gathright, trumpet; Robert Wagner, saxophone; Ronnie Fox, trombone, and Billie Wafer, baritone.

Final selections are two movements from a "Trio Sonata" by Miss Bankhead, to be played by Miss Wallace, piano; Eloy Fominaya, violin, and Robert Wagner, saxophone.

Motorists' Skill In Driving To Be Tried On Machine

A free test of the motorist's driving skill on a scientifically - built machine will be a feature of the Chevrolet all-star show, coming May 12 through 15 to the showrooms of the Lee-Rogers Chevrolet Co. , N. 3rd at Washington from 8:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The amazing, new driver skill-o-meter, developed and engineered especially for this show, scientifically measures the factors that determine an individual's driving ability. The test is simple, and every person who takes it will receive a billfold-size card showing an evaluation of his performance.

The all-star show has six other dramatic exhibits which demonstrate many engineering features that ordinarily are unseen by the car buyer. By cutaway models and animated displays, the operation and construction details of these important engineering features are shown.

The displays actually tell their own story. A hidden loud speaker under each display tells visitors about that particular exhibit. Several of the displays may be operated by spectators.

The inside story of the new, 115-horsepower "Blue - Flame" passenger car engine is told by an actual "operating" engine that is cut in half. The complete inner workings of an automatic transmission are revealed to the visitor as he actually operates the Powerglide display. Still another shows an illustration of a new Chevrolet on the highway — then, as if by magic, inner body structure units are shown, as parts of the body fade from view.

Mom

There comes a day each year when a grand person, a person to whom every man, woman and child the world over pays a debt of love and gratitude. That person, needless to say, is your mother. It has not been too many years since the first mother's day was celebrated in America. However, it is wondered whether most days of the year are not, in some manner, "mother's days"? It is certainly fitting that one day of each year be set aside to honor the person who above almost anyone has given her all to you and your happiness.

There are few mothers who would not deny themselves happiness and security to see their children have a good education and are well fed and clothed. In turn, there are few people who, after reaching maturity, will not give their mothers the happiness they so deserve.

On mother's day, there are many sources who would have Americans believing that the only mothers to be honored are those dear fragile ladies who are well along in years and sit in their rocking chairs content to mend clothes and knit. To be sure, these are wonderful folk, and they certainly deserve all the honor in the world. However, it is wondered if American women are nowadays content to do this. More and more mothers are taking an active part in business and politics.

Many ladies, who used to be content to stay at home, are finding their ways in the business world. Many of these do this out of necessity. There never was a finer person than one who works to improve the conditions of her family. Many young mothers must in these days of high prices and expensive food bills, help the family budget by taking some sort of a job. Many men have their pride hurt by this, but they are now coming to agree that Mom can do a good job whether it be at home or in the office.

On this day which honors the mothers of this nation, it is well to remember some of the things American mothers, young and old, have had to bear in the past years. After the end of the war in August of 1945, all Americans hoped and believed that there would be peace. The service men came home to their families. These returning men took jobs and began to raise families. Then, out of the east came the storm clouds of more conflict.

The President called for American intervention in Korea and sent troops to stop the attack. The rest is history. However, it is bitter history for many American mothers. The older ones saw their sons, many who had only recently hung their uniforms in the closet for what they hoped was the last time, have to take these same uniforms out and go to fight in the Far East. Not only have these brave women borne the hurt and the sorrow, they have braved the relative indifference of the American people to this tragedy which is personally affecting more and more American women as the months roll by. Then, the mothers have rolled up their sleeves and taken the man's work on their shoulders. This, obviously, is the same in respect to all wars, but the Korean war is especially bitter as many husbands had been away for so long fighting in the second war.

The job of the American mothers is becoming more complex with the increasing dangers of the world situation. Women who must get jobs to support their sons and daughters are still finding that many jobs are not yet open to them. In almost every case where women take jobs, they make a success. The business and professional world is no longer a man's world. There are many men who object and hold that mothers cannot be good mothers and still hold positions. That argument is "shot through" with fallacies.

A mother's love for her children never diminishes no matter how much work she has to do. In most of the cases where women work, it is this love which prompts them in the beginning to take a job, a job which will give their children a better life and better conditions. The nature of a mother, whether she be American, Korean, Chinese, English or any other nationality, prompts her to look after the betterment of her children before herself.

This feeling of a love which cannot be surpassed begins when you are born. When you are what is considered an "adult" and you think that you are too old to be "coddled" by your mother, remember that in her eyes, you are still the baby she rocked to sleep those years ago. To the young people who are inclined to make life hard for their mothers just because they are children and probably don't know better, all the naughty acts and deeds in the world cannot diminish the love mom has for her children. Sometimes, when you are grown and your mother comes to visit, she might seem overly attentive. Give her a break; she's your mom and she loves you.

On this Sunday morning when all America honors its millions of mothers young and old, take a few moments to again express to her your love and devotion and thanks.

Let Fittest Survive

Some conception of what leadership means when provided by government heads may be gathered from Washington reports that the theory of hard work is catching on rapidly with personnel in government departments.

There was an attempt to ridicule the order that employees were to cease standing around in corridors smoking and chatting. But there is enough good sense in the country to support the view that while there is gossiping the work of the government isn't going forward.

And that touches very closely on the main point that there is far too much waste in government at a cost of tax money which the citizen might be able to use to better ends.

Elaborating the "no loafing" order, the President and heads of departments are setting examples in hours and industry that will get the job done. After they get over the initial shock, employees will like the new order of things. There is nothing more boring than frittering away time while watching the clock.

In normal sequence it will be discovered that fewer hard-working people will be needed to staff government services than the 2,600,000 now employed. Let the fittest survive is a good policy.

L. A. Mailhes Departs

A bulwark of these newspapers has stepped down. For the past 46 years, Mr. Mailhes has been a prime figure in the direction and management of the Shreveport Times and in recent months, the Morning World and the News-Star. Mr. Mailhes studied at Loyola University in New Orleans where he took a bachelor of Arts degree in 1904. He became associated with the New Orleans Daily States in 1907 which was published by the late Colonel Robert Ewing.

In 1919 he went to Shreveport where he became the Business Manager, later to become the General Manager in 1931. Upon his retirement as General Manager of the Morning World and News-Star, he will remain in that capacity at the Shreveport Times.

Upon the death of Wilson Ewing, publisher of the Morning World and News-Star, Mr. Mailhes came from Shreveport as the General Manager of these papers. An extremely civic minded man, he believes that the first duty of a newspaper is to act as a public servant. Therefore, under his leadership, the Morning World again started to publish a Monday morning issue and instituted a complete color comic section on Sunday.

He revitalized the editorial policy of both papers into that of a prominent voice in this area and he inaugurated changes in the makeup of the papers so that each would be read easier by the subscribers. Mr. Mailhes became General Manager in the "heat" of the 1952 presidential campaign and through his direction, both papers, while editorially supporting the now President Eisenhower, gave each candidate equal opportunity in the news columns in a spirit of complete fairness.

Even though Mr. Mailhes has been in the Twin Cities but a few months, he has become widely known and admired. He was listed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce as among 13 citizens of this area who received citations for good citizenship awards. The citation read as follows:

Although having resided in Monroe less than a year this person whom we wish to honor has already made a contribution which we believe will have a lasting effect on our community as well as the surrounding area. Past experience and general attitude toward community betterment will have and is having a tremendous effect upon those persons who have the pleasure to make his acquaintance.

The text of this citation should speak clearly for all those who have had in past months the extreme pleasure and honor of knowing and working with Mr. Mailhes. To the employees of these papers, he is known and recognized as being the epitome of fairness and this has earned him the respect, the great respect of every employee from the department heads to the newest apprentice or cub reporter. Mr. Mailhes has a spirit not usually associated with a man of his years.

He has a genuine understanding of all problems not only inside the newspapers, but in civic affairs as well. He is quick to grasp the significance of problems of national and international aspect and often, this was shown in the editorial policy of the papers. He recognizes the importance of the newspaper in local affairs and in such, he made these papers easier to read and adding better features and other conveniences with the reading public in mind.

Under his management another wire service was added to both papers in an effort to keep the readers better informed as to the problems and crises of the international and national situation.

Mr. Mailhes has served to the best of his great ability the Morning World and News-Star. He is one of the oldest newspapermen in the State of Louisiana. He has spanned three generations of Louisiana newspapermen and his retirement from the Monroe papers will be a distinct loss to these papers. His influence will always be a part of these newspapers and his advice always heeded. There are few members of the "fourth estate" with the experience of L. A. Mailhes.

The Morning World and the News-Star are saddened at the retirement of Mr. Mailhes and consider it a loss of great extent. These newspapers feel that they speak for all the citizens of this area who have known Mr. Mailhes when they join in wishing him and his wife many years of future happiness.

L. A. Mailhes will always be a part of the Twin Cities.

A Bad Habit Is Hard To Break

Price, wage and other government controls are being removed as rapidly as possible. We are headed back to a free market, competitive economy. This move appears to have the support of the people, which is a wholesome indication. The philosophy of the free market is inseparable from the philosophy of free government.

For years the people have been told by bureaucratic planners that controls can protect consumers against inflation—which they cannot do. Every effort has been made by many top politicians and government officials to create distrust of the free market which has given the United States the finest production and distribution system the world has known. It is a great tribute to this system and particularly to retail distribution that it has been able to function for such a long time under a mountain of anti-competitive, anti-free market controls.

Today controls are being removed but we should not forget that they are being removed while activity is high and people are reasonably content. We should not forget that there is still a $260,000,000,000 public debt to reckon with and that for most of the time during the past two decades we have been supported by government deficit financing and war spending. In plain words, controls and the philosophy of political dictatorship that they represent are being thrown off with the approval of the people, but there has been no test as yet of renewed faith in the philosophy of a free economy. Bracketing prices and wages with "floors and ceilings" by government decree is like the dope habit. It is hard to break.

Department Shuffle Would Add $222 Million To Payroll

WASHINGTON — NEA — Five Eisenhower administration reorganization plans have thus far added 14 new top-level officials of cabinet and sub-cabinet rank to Washington's bureaucracy. If all are approved by Congress, these new top jobs would increase the government payroll by $222,500 a year, although much of this would be for replacement of other officials formerly doing similar work for less rank and money.

The increases include one new secretary, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, first head of the new Department of Health, Education and Welfare, at $22,500 a year. Mrs. Hobby would also get one new undersecretary at $17,500 and two new assistant secretaries at $15,000.

The first law which President Eisenhower signed created a new undersecretaryship of State for Administration. This job was given to Donold B. Lourie, former Quaker Oats official.

Department of Agriculture's reorganization plan would create two new assistant secretaryships and create another Assistant Secretary for Administration, who would have Civil Service status.

The new Department of Defense reorganizaion plan would creae six more assisant secretaries, on top of the three jobs of that rank previously provided for.

Only the Department of Justice reorganization plan would create jobs, though it did change rank and title of some top officials.

Floweriest orator in the Senate is still Matthew M. Neely of West Virginia. When Sen. Spessard Holland of Florida took the floor of the Senate to call attention to the fact that 100 Florida Daughters of the American Revolution were in the gallery, Senator Neely poured it on like this:

"Mr. President, it is obvious that the beautiful ladies from Florida, who have just been introduced, have all found the fountain of youth, for which the old Spaniard searched in vain. Ladies, please be as generous as you are beautiful, and tell certain elder members of the Senate how to obtain enough of the magic fountain's potent water to wash away the heavy burden of their years."

The toughest question so far thrown at Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby —new Secretary of DHEW—concerned an editorial which appeared in her Houston newspaper some months ago. The editorial supported the stand of a group of Texas housewives who refused to pay social security taxes for their maids.

Mrs. Hobby was asked if she still felt that way, now that the Social Security Administration was in her department?

She replied that the regular editor of the editorial page was not working that day, and she herself was out of town. Mrs. Hobby said that if she had been there that editorial would never have been printed. Furthermore, she did not support the stand of the Texas housewives.

Secretary Hobby was asked at her first press conference if she considered herself a Republican or a Democrat? She asked the reporter to make the question more specific. Well, did she plan to support Democratic candidates in Texas in the 1954 congressional election?

"I'll decide that when the time comes," Mrs. Hobby replied. "You knew I wouldn't answer such a question now."

Then she added as an afterthought: "But I do hope that the Republicans increase their majority in Congress at the next election."

Maj. Charles "Chuck" Yeager this summer hopes to be the first man to fly at twice the speed of sound, or 1520 miles an hour at sea level.

Five years ago Major Yeager broke the sonic barrier. To double this record he will fly in a new rocket-powered research plane being built for the Air Force by Bell Aircraft.

The present unofficial air speed record is 1238 miles an hour, held by Bill Bridgeman, a U. S. test pilot. Even this speed is twice the muzzle velocity of a regulation .45 cal. pistol bullet.

Killing Communists through kindness is the newest maneuver being used in Malaya's warfare against the red bandits in the jungles. How these tactics work was explained by British Col. Arthur E. Young, until recently head of the Malayan police force, who stopped off in Washington to visit FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

The big, blond Britisher was formerly assistant commissioner of police in Scotland Yard. When first assigned to Malaya, he wondered how he could Londonize the jungle police so that the anti-Communist people would trust them as the British people trust their "Bobbies." The answer in London was that the system has been in effect for 100 years or more. Colonel Young, in Malaya, didn't have that much time.

But last December he did start a six months' experiment which he called "Operation Service." The idea was to make the police recognized as the friend of the people. He had a label made for police uniforms and police installations in the forts built at 60-mile intervals throughout the jungle. The motto was, "Friend of the People."

Top Scandal—So Few Anti-Communist Pictures

Hollywood's most embarrassing public relations question remains unanswered. The Movie Colony cannot explain the vast amount of anti-Nazi films it made—in contrast to a handful of anti-Commy pictures . . . The Communists, unable to get their pitch on the screens, have concentrated on keeping anti-Commy subjects off. They "sold" Hollywood producers the buncombe that such "message" films are death at the box-office.

But "Big Jim McLain" (co-auth'd by Commy-killer Richard English of the Saturday Eve'g Post and other mags and films) still is making coin—showing a hefty profit in six months.

Hollywood Reds have been serving Moscow by grinding out propaganda (viciously anti-American) for Soviet papers and Ivan Curtain radio depots . . . Albert Maltz, the movie author, completed a play in Cuernavaca, Mexico . . . A few months later it had a resounding premiere in Poland. The Anti-U.S. propaganda is funnelled out of Havana and Madrid.

One of B'way's top stars (a H'wood name, too) was a famed fellow-traveler . . . He apologized to Gov't probers not long ago . . . Said the usual thing—"made a mistake, was a fool, a dupe," etc. (Hmf).

He allegedly quit the party when he discovered his wife in bed with a Red Negro actor-operatic star . . . Just because his wife was allegtdly untrue to him he got miffed and took it out on his Comreds. (Fine Commy!

The Mexico film colony's best kept "secret" is that the wife of one of the Hollywood Ten (Mrs. Albert Maltz) was on the Mexican DC3 which was almost blown up last Sept. 24th . . . The "Inside" is that the plotters attempted to collect insurance on seven peons . . . The plane, however, landed safely . . . But the Commies (down there) have never been the same—certain that the bomb was intended as another Russian Ambassador Ourmansky murder plot.

Communist Steve Nelson (one of the nation's top leaders now in prison for sedition) was a Lt. Col. in the Spanish Loyalist army.

At the time, he consoled the widow of a young officer killed in the Spanish conflict . . . Subsequently, she married one of our top atomic scientists and Nelson tried to blackmail her . . . This is the same louse who refused to accept a subpena (from the House Committee on Un-American Activities) until he could summon news photogs to cover the event.

The Commies in H'wood and Mexico (where many have fled are most embarrassed by a Negro-American novelist (W.M.) and his French boy-friend.

Blair Moody as his opponent. . backers of the rigid McCarran-Walter immigration law will fight the Eisenhower proposal. . .it will split both parties down the middle.

Strongest Underscretary by a Dam Site—Outstanding "little cabinet" member looks like Undersecretary of Interior Ralph A. Tudor, San Francisco engineer and former colonel of U. S. Army engineers. He supervised the earlier stages of big Columbia River project for U.S. government power dams, now will have controlling word on many new power development projects, will arbitrate public vs. private power disputes. Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay is said to have made Tudor's choice as undersecretary a condition to his own acceptance of cabinet post.

Tudor is a West Point graduate, class of 1923, about to hold its 30th reunion. Most of the class went into the then Air Corps, including Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, now chief of the Air Froce. An Air Force officer, who is class secretary, goggled when he went over the class roster, to send out reunion notices, called Vandenberg and excitedly asked, "Say, Hoyt did you know we had an Undersecretary of Interior, too?"

More About Bohlen — State department heads beginning to be uneasy about Charles E. "Chip" Bohlen, new ambassador to Russia, fight over whose confirmation pitted Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (rep. Wis.) against Eisenhower administration in first test of strength. . . in contrast to cordiality shown other free nation diplomats in Moscows' new look, reports are that Bohlen is being given the cold shoulder. . .possible forerunner to some incident such as forced withdrawal of our last ambassador George F. Kennan. . .Moscow still does not want U. S. diplomats who know as much about communism and Russians as Kennan and Bohlen.

If Bohlen should be withdrawn his probable successor is Loy Henderson, career diplomat who has done excellent job as ambassador to Iran and Pakistan, also knows Moscow.

Clawson Was Impartial — Discharge of Marion Clawson as director of Land Management, Department of Interior — he had 180,000,000 acres under his direction—was carefully studied by Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay, who told friends he wanted to be fair to Clawson, whom he felt had been disloyal. . .while he was deliberating, a note came from his Democratic predecessor as Interior Secretary, Oscar L. Chapman. . . it said "Don't worry, Doug, he was disloyal to me, too." Clawson got the ax.

Secretary Hobby Learns Ladies Rile Easily — Clarence Manion, former dean of the University of Notre Dame law school, who might have been in the same cabinet with Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of education, health and welfare. . . .he was considered for the post of attorney general. . .will argue the constitutionality of social security taxes in the challenge of the law by "the rebel housewives" of Marshall, Tex., who have refused to withhold taxes from wages paid their domestic help.

Secretary Hobby, whose department administers social security, is at cross purposes with Manion and also with the embattled women from her native state. . .and likewise with a number of her fellow newspaper publishers in Texas. Mrs. Hobby was asked by reporters about an editorial appearing in her paper. . .The Houston Post. . . which supported the position of the housewives. . .she replied that it was written and appeared without her knowledge. . .that has made the issue rather personal between the women of Texas. . .but Mrs. Hobby says she will enforce the law the way it's written. . .Washington is waiting for the case to reach the U. S. Supreme Court for real fireworks. . .Manion is an outstanding pleader.

Documents On Louisiana Purchase Put On Display

By MARY ANN PARDUE

WASHINGTON — Cherished documents relating to the Louisiana Purchase have been taken from their fire-proof repositories and placed on exhibition in the National Archives in recognition of the 150th anniversary of that historic act.

Most impressive among the time-honored collection, in which the authentic pages record the history of the purchase—one of the great achievements of Thomas Jefferson's tenure as president, is the formal Instrument of Ratification. This is the document in which the French Government, under Napoleon Bonaparte, agreed to cede the vast territory to the United States and accepted the purchase terms.

Despite the passage of years, the beautiful script, together with the signatures attached to the treaty, remain distinct and legible. The emperor, who signed himself "Bonaparte," inscribed his signature at an angle near the bottom of the last page of the treaty. Other signatures are those of Talleyrand, Napoleon's Foreign Minister, and Maret.

Inscribed on fine parchment, the Treaty of Ratification is enclosed in a midnight blue velvet binding , heavily embossed in gold in an intricate design featuring serpents and eagles. In the center of both the front and back covers are medallions bearing the initials "F. P." signifying Peupil Francais—People of France.

Connecting the leaves of his historic documents is a heavy gold, tasselled cord, joined by the French seal in brick red wax. A gold case or "skippet" encases the seal.

The exhibit, which opened April and will continue through the month of June, occupies half of the Archives building's main exhibition hall, just to the right of the entrance to the domed rotunda in which are permanently displayed the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

Included in the special exhibit are other priceless documents relating to the Louisiana Purchase, such as the despatch, partly in cipher, reporting the first French offer to sell Louisiana; messages of Jefferson to Congress, including his confidential message asking for an appropriation for the Lewis and Clark expedition, records of transfer of sovereignty at New Orleans, and papers documenting the payment of $15,000,000 for Louisiana.

The most decorative document in the entire collection is a 1716 agreement between the French and the Cherokee Nation, a vivid reminder of the pioneering role of France in the settlement of the Mississippi Valley. Perhaps as a tribute to the Indians' love of bright colors, the agreement is elaborately emblazoned with crests and other decorative motifs, including an Indian in colorful ragalia.

Spanish rule of Louisiana is recalled by the Pinckney Treaty of 1795, in which Spain granted free navigation of the Mississippi River to Americans, together with the right to deposit goods at New Orleans for shipment abroad. The withdrawal of this right of deposit goods at New Orleans for shipment abroad The withdrawal of this right of deposit goods at New Orleans for shipment abroad. The withdrawal of this right of deposit in 1802 led to unrest in what was then the west and ultimately resulted in the Louisiana Purchase.

Also of interest among the documents is a paper signed by Secretary of the Treasury, Albert Gallatin transferring two million dollars, originally appropriated for the purchase of New Orleans alone, toward the total cost of the purchase.

Twenty - eight other documents and maps are currently on loan to the Louisiana State Museum in New Orleans for use in its Louisiana Purchase Exhibit. According to an Archives official, this is the largest single collection of documents ever loaned by the National Archives, with the exception of the Freedom Train exhibit a few years ago.

Monroe Student Initiated Into Phi Kappa Phi

RUSTON, (Special) — Nineteen members were initiated by Louisiana Tech's chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary scholarship society, at a banquet here recently.

Scholarship and character form the basis for selection of the new members. Selections were made from the upper five per cent of the second semester juniors and the upper 12½ per cent of the seniors.

The new members are:

School of Agriculture and Forestry — Billy Max Davis, Dubach; and Claudette Schroeder, Shreveport.

None were elected from the School of Home Economics.

Concordia Will Start Its Summer Trade School

FERRIDAY — Concordia Parish Trade School will start its summer schedule June 1. Beginning on that date, classes will be offered from 7 a.m. until 1 p.m. through the summer months. This is being done so that students may attend classes and enjoy summer vacation at the same time.

The school will offer courses in farm mechanics, and cabinet making to any boy or man who desires to take it. To those high school boys who desire to earn credit towards graduation they will offer these courses for nine weeks beginning June 1. Upon satisfactorily completing this course of nine weeks, one credit will be earned which can be applied toward graduation. Any student interested in earning this credit must first register or make his wishes known to the high school principal.

Courses in commerce will be offered qualifying persons for such positions as secretary, stenographer, bookkeeper, or business machine operator. Complete business administration courses will be offered. Short courses in typing, bookkeeping or accounting, business machines and many others will be offered also. These courses may be taken separately or in combination whichever the students desire.

Night or extension classes have been closed for the summer months and will be open again next fall. All students who were attending the night classes are urged to enroll in the day classes, if possible.

It is stated that the general public is always more than welcome to visit the school, especially anyone interested in any of the training offered. The facilities of this school are for the use of the people, it was pointed out, and they are urged to make the most of it.

Missionary Team To Be Speakers At Covenant Church

A husband and wife missionary team, Catherine and Frank Vandegrift will speak to members and friends of the Covenant Presbyterian Church Tuesday evening at 7:30. The meeting will be held in the Lexington School auditorium. The Vandegrifts have just returned from the Congo.

Both missionaries were born and reared in Birmingham, Ala., where they were members of the Central Park Presbyterian Church. At a Synod Youth Camp Fank felt the call to full time Christian service after an inspiring challenge by Dr. Manford George Gutzke, professor at Columbia Theological Seminary. Frank talked with his pastor's brother who was an industrial missionary in Africa and felt that he, too, could serve better with his hands than with his tongue.

His education at Georgia School of Technology was interrupted by three years of army service in mechanical maintenance work. Catherine finished at Birmingham Southern College and taught in the Birmingham school system while Frank was in the army. After the war, Frank returned to Georgia Tech and received his degree in mechanical engineering. They both went to Columbia Seminary and received their masters degrees. On June 22, 1949 they sailed for Belgium where they studied French for six months and then left for service in the Congo.

Mr. Vandegrift worked as an industrial missionary, doing repair work on vehicles, hospital equipment, and missionary buildings. He has done architectural work, supervised, and inspected the work of Belgian contractors in the erection of a maternity hospital, hospital administration building, two churches, and a complete normal school for teachers. In addition to his industrial work, he has participated in the evangelistic work, such as week-end preaching and an annual trip into the bush country for the purpose of spreading the word of God. He is the "Daddy" of 150 boys in a boarding school and the "mayor" of the local work village, as well as a cowboy to a hundred head of cattle.

Catherine worked as an educational missionary, supervising the work of several native teachers. In addition to running her home and school work, she participates in the evangelistic work on week ends and on their annual trip to the bush country.

This program has been prepared by the women of Covenant Presbyterian Church as a part of their birthday celebration. The annual birthday offering will be received, which will be used for the erection of furlough homes for returned missionaries at the four Presbyterian Theological Seminaries.

The missionaries will present a short skit and show colored slides of the missions, natives, and animals of Africa. The public is cordially invited to attend.

2-Year Degrees Discontinued At Chicago U.

CHICAGO, May 9 —UP— The University of Chicago returned to the conventional four-year curriculum Saturday in a move to boost sagging enrollment and get its degrees recognized by other schools.

Despite threats of a sitdown strike by students of the university's college, the school abandoned in part at least a "bold venture" in education which stressed giving college degrees to bright youngsters after two years of school instead of four.

The decision marked the end of a colorful era instituted by former Chancellor Robert M. Hutchins, who stirred a tempest in educational cricles a decade ago when he inaugurated the two-year program and abolished football.

Despite the university's return to more conventional educational paths, there was no hint that football was coming back.

The "Hutchins plan" enabled students to enter the university after only two years of high school. Youngsters with the full four years of high school could receive degrees in two years or less, depending on their acumen.

But bachelor's degrees awarded by the unniversity college were not accepted by most universities, putting Chicago out of step with most of the nation's institutions of higher education.

Enrollment fell off because many parents were unwilling to send their youngsters to college after only two years of high school.

The decision to drop the "Hutchins plan" was made by the council of the university senate, the academic governing body. The new program will become effective next year.

LaSalle's Girls' Trip Rated Superior

OLLA (Special) — In the state literary rally held in Baton Rouge recently, the girls' trio from La Salle High School placed "superior." They were Glenda Canady, Helen Herrington and Bettie Ann McDuff.

Kenneth Whatley placed first in industrial arts and Bing Brewer fourth. Carol May placed fourth in home economics and Heartsol Meredith was second in place in general business.

When the royal regalia, crown and jewels of the British sovereign were recreated after the restoration, they cost about $159,900.

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 21, and in love, "against my better judgment," with a married man six years older. My happiest moments are those spent with him. Nothing is too good for me as far as he's concerned. We enjoy "good, clean fun." We go dancing, dining, riding and walking together. He is the father of three children to whom he is devoted. His wife knows about our romance, but says she won't easily give in to his request for a divorce. He wants the custody of one daughter. We see each other two or three nights a week, though we are in daily contact by telephone. Am I wrong in dreaming of a future with him? When we're together I feel so sure about our future happiness, but when we're apart I think of all the stories I've heard and begin to worry.

MILLY A.

ANSWER: The quotes in the above letter are mine. "Good, clean fun" strikes me as being the prize euphemism for reprehensible intent, and to enter into such a relationship "against one's better judgment" is decidedly an understatement. There is, of course, nothing new with your problem, Milly, except your casual attitude towards it.

You assume that breaking a home is almost an everyday occurrence, fraught, perhaps, with just a touch of unpleasantness. You're provoked because the man's wife doesn't blithely accede to her husband's request for divorce and cheerfully turn one of her children over to a couple who clearly indicate their unfitness to care for the girl. I doubt if any court would award a child to a father who has so flagrantly flouted his marriage vows.

TEMPEST IN STORE

It would be admirable if your own moral sense dictated an end to the affair, and it would also save you future heartaches. For there is no future for you with your lover. There rarely is in a case like this. The man obviously enjoys gay times, and since a family of small children keeps his wife tied down, you have been elected as the companion for his recreational jaunts. Naturally, the furtiveness that surrounds the affair gives an added glamor to the situation that both of you are enjoying. Don't you realize that a mutual fondness for good times is scarcely a sound foundation for permanent happiness? Are you so carried away by dining and dancing that they represent, to you, all there is to life? I certainly hope you wake up while you're still young enough to find a decent life partner. At 21, your "better judgment" should be sufficiently developed to guide you to the higher things of life, rather than to its back streets.

DEAR MISS DIX: What can a boy do or say when a girl calls on the telephone and gets romantic? She wants to know if I love her, and asks all sorts of intimate questions. Why don't mothers tell girls how to talk and act with boys? Some girls talk and laugh at things that would make us boys blush. Can you blame us for what we say to girls who make these ill-bred remarks?

WONDERING

ANSWER: You have a very good point on why so many girls fail to win or keep the attention of nice boys. Most girls don't mean anything by indiscreet speech; they just think it's a way to win a boy's favor. They couldn't be more wrong, as you point out so strongly. I do hope that many girls reading your letter will amend their ways and realize that ladylike behavior is much more appealing to young men.

It's extremely bad form, at any rate, for a girl to telephone a boy and indulge in long conversations, whether romantic or not. That sort of telephoning is the prerogative of the boy.

DEAR MISS DIX: In first term high I liked a boy who liked me. That is, he did until a few of my girl friends and I decided to play a joke on him. He didn't take it the way we intended, and has been angry with me ever since. Even though I apologized, it didn't do any good.

TERRY

ANSWER: Practical joking is in very poor taste, and never should be carried out unless one is absolutely sure that the object of the joke will take it in the proper spirit. Your apology should have been accepted, however, and the boy proves himself ungracious by turning it down. Better forget him, and profit by the incident.

DOROTHY DIX will reply to all readers who ask her help. Write for free leaflet D-24, "ALCOHOLISM." In all cases, be sure to enclose an addressed, stamped envelope and send request to her, c/o this newspaper.

Heavy Rainfall Is Injurious To Cotton

JONESVILLE (Special) — Approximately one-third of the cotton which had been planted in Catahoula before the recent heavy rains will have to be replanted, according to an estimate made by E. E. Johnson, farm agent, after a tour of the parish.

Johnson said that between 3,000 and 4,000 acres, at best guess, would have to be planted over. Most of the cotton acreage lost, he said, had been planted only a short time before the deluge and [illegible] not yet made a stand. Not only were seeds washed away, but in many places rows were completely leveled.

Losses in seed, Johnson estimated, would run around $2 or $3 per acre, making a maximum loss of $12,000 in seed cash to farmers over the parish, but losses in labor would run many more times that amount.

Seed are plentiful, Johnson said, and no trouble in obtaining them is anticipated. Much of the land will have to be prepared over again from scratch, once it gets dry enough. If dry and sunny weather continues, replanting should be finished in a couple of weeks and the cotton crop will not be damaged to any great extent by the delay, he said.

Rain did comparatively little damage to Catahoula corn. Most of it was up to a good stand and was not too much disturbed by the excess water, Johnson stated.

Considerable soil loss was felt in the hill areas, where freshly plowed dirt was washed away by the waters.

G. C. Womack of Manifest, cattleman, reported the loss of 34 Brahmans which were swept away by the waters.

Louisiana Tech Women's League Plans Induction

RUSTON (Special)—New officers of the Women's League of Louisiana Tech will be installed Tuesday, May 12, in ceremonies starting at 6:30 p.m. on the lawn in front of Aswell hall. They are:

Beverly Stovall, Jonesboro, Adams hall president; Patsy Twilley, Mooringsport, Aswell hall president; Carolyn Hays, Sarepta, sophomore annex president; Patsy Colvin, Dubach, drive - in representative.

The program will include a processional by the Tech service orchestra, songs by the winners of Sing week an introduction of retiring and incoming Women's League boards and recognition of honor freshmen and the outstanding sophomore girl. The latter, who will receive $20 in each semester of her junior year, is chosen on the basis of scholarship, extra-curricular activities and service to the college.

RICHLAND PARISH PROGRESS DAY—Wade O. Martin, Jr., La. Secretary of State, upper left, delivered the major address at the ceremony commemorating the dedication of and recognition of progressive steps in the history of Richland parish Saturday stating that the northeast parish would "continue to grow." The new $50,000 Richland parish health center is shown in the middle picture and was dedicated to the "public good" by Dr. T. D. Boaz, associate director, Louisiana Department of Health. The picture to the far right shows Frank S. Walshe, Jr., representative of the Department of Public Works, who dedicated a brochure on the resources and facilities in Richland Parish. Warren Hunt, Rayville attorney, presents Police Jury President W. H. Linton, Jr. a gavel made from the remains of the old courthouse. T. J. Coenen, president of the fifth district bar association, bottom center, presents an identical gavel to district Judge C. J. Ellis. Sheriff Earl Hill and his deputies are shown in the bottom right picture in the modern sheriff's office of the $500,000 courthouse. Standing are J. N. Beam, chief deputy, W. E. of the public offices, parish, state and federal agencies.

The newly dedicated Richland Parish Health center was completed in 1952 at a cost of more than $50,000 and houses all of the public health services rendered by the parish health unit in cooperation with the Louisiana Department of Health and the United States Public Health Service. Dr. T. D. Boaz, associate director, Louisiana department of health, dedicated the building to the "public good."

A brochure, "Richland Parish Resources and Facilities," was presented to the community by the parish planning and development board headed by J. B. Thompson, Jr. The report graphically outlines the resources and facilities of Richland parish and tells the colorful history of the parish and the use of its rich land. Vital information concerning parish finances, business, industry, education, recreation and agriculture have been compiled in the brochure which was published in cooperation with the Louisiana Department of Public Works. Frank L. Walshe, Jr., public works representative, dedicated the building.

Gavels were presented to district Judge C. J. Ellis and president of the Police Jury W. H. Linton, Jr. T. J. Coenen, president of the fifth district bar association, made the official presentation to Judge Ellis and Warren Hunt, well known Rayville attorney, made the award to Hinton. Each gavel was inscribed with the date of the occasion and the origin of the instruments.

Purpose of the program as asserted by Master of Ceremonies, W. D. Cotton, was to pause and take stock and assess the material growth and resources of Richland Parish.

Recognition and tribute was paid to both past and present officials and visiting guests.

H. A. Mangham, editor and publisher of the Richland Beacon, News, gave a short talk on "Richland Parish In Retrospect." Rev. E. B. Emmerick and Father R. V. Lawrence also participated on the program. Band from Rayville, Mangham and Delhi furnished concerts during the program.

The Progress Day Committee was composed of W. R. Coenen, chairman, J. B. Thompson, Jr., Frank McEacharn, George Ineichen, W. H. Linton, Jr., W. D. Cotton, R. H. Lynn, G. R. Downes, and Raymond Gravtlle.

Parish officials recognized during the formal ceremonies were Judge Ellis,District Attorney Harry N. Anders, Assistant District Attorney W. R. Coenen, Senator W. R. Boles, Representative Jodie W. Stout, Sheriff Earl E. Hill, Clerk of Court J C.. Boies, Assessor W. M. Hallack, Coroner J. C. Ellington, M. D.

Richland parish police jury: W. H. Linton, Jr., president; G. R. Downes, secretary, Frank McEacharn, N. J. Rester, Charles R. Elkins, C. W. Sorey, R. E. Hardwick, R. H. Lynn, H. G. Tillman, Carl W. Earle, and J. U. Douciere.

Parish school board members: Cecil G. Pardue, president, J. B. Thompson, Jr., superintendent, W. W. Terry, Neal McEacharn, Jr., W. H. Eddins, L. J. Downes, E. C. Calloway, I. H. Garland, D. C. Smith, R. R. Rhymes, and W. S. Stamper.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By SUE SHARMAN

Little Theatre's fifth and final production of the season "Out of the Frying Pan," enjoyed a one-night siesta while members of the cast enjoyed the goings-on of the Jaycee State Convention, and the Louisiana Purchase ball Saturday night. Cast members of "Out of the Frying Pan" who held down important roles in the production of the gay and colorful ball were Arthur McKnight, John Lacy and Roy Holloway as well as theatre director Stocker Fontelieu.

With this one night break in rehearsal, the play gets down to serious business this evening at the playhouse and for the next five nights, with full dress rehearsal scheduled for Wednesday evening. That means that opening night is only four nights away. The hilarious comedy starring the ups and downs of six stage struck kids, opens next Thursday evenng, May 14, at the Selman Field Playhouse. Reservations will be available beginning Wednesday at 2 p.m.

From your 'ole reporter's second row seat at Friday night's rehearsal (and the kids stuck to it, until the wee hours), the show looked like the laugh feast of the season and a very triumphant and fitting farewell to the 1st permanent home of the Little Theatre of Monroe. . . Maybe the guys and gals are giving it all they've got because it is also Director Fontelieu's final "Curtain Call" for four years of progressive theater in the Twin Cities.

RANDOM NOTES. . .We are already receiving offers of shrubbery donations for the new home of Little Theatre, even though little information has leaked out about the wonderful new project. . .All the casts and crews of Stocker's twenty - one plays in Monroe will honor him and Margaret with a big farewell party on Saturday night May 30, at the McGuire Country Club. Barbara Addison and Jack Ansell, Jr., head the committee to round-up all (and there's lots and lots of them) the folks who have assisted in making the past four years, outstanding Little Theatre years. We were especially intrigued with the clever tickets they have designed for the affair, complete with theatre masques, which will be available beginning Monday May 11. So your next telephone call may be that invitation to our director's going away party. All four years of the cast and crew members may get their tickets from Elizabeth Thurber, 811 N. 3rd Street, telephone 3-3403, or at the Playhouse during the seven-night run of "Out of the Frying Pan.". . .Director Fontelieu and all Little Theatre members are proud of the special invitation extended by the Civic Symphony Orchestra and it's officers, to their very first full concert this evening in Brown auditorium at 4:30 p.m. It is the newest Civic enterprise of the Twin Cities, and draws it's musical members not only from Ouachita Parish, but also from nearly all outlying communities within a 75 mile radius. The invitation reads come and see for yourself what a fine orchestra we have right here in our own home town. Congratulations Monroe Civic Symphony and the best of audiences when you make your debut that afternoon. . . And a grand and glorious Mother's Day to everybody.

1953 Commencement To Be Opened With Play

Commencement season at St. Matthew's High School opens with the senior play on the evening of May 15 in the school auditorium-gymnasium. "Life with Father" by Harold Lindsay and Russel Crouse, a 3-act comedy based on the daily family incidents of Clarence Day is the choice of class '53 this year, with Sister Patricia, D. C. in charge of direction.

Seniors carrying important roles in the production are Jimmy Fox who plays the part of Vinne Day, Vincent Marsala, who impersonates Clarence Day, Ralph Norman, who is Clarence, Jr. Jo Ann Miller, Mary Skinner, Nicky Conti, Dr. Humphreys, Betty Ann Eberts plays the part of Cora Cartwright, and the several maids are played by Miriam Biggar, Mary Ann Pitarro, Elsie Greene, and Beatrice Varino.

Matinee for the elementary school children will be held in the gymnasium on the afternoon of Wednesday, May 13.

The annual Junior - Senior prom is booked for May 26 at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club under the sponsorship of the St. Matthew's Mothers' Club. Ben Burton's orchestra will furnish the music for this occasion.

Sunday, May 24 is baccalaureate day for St. Matthew's. Services will open with Holy Mass said in St. Matthew's Church with the Reverend John C. Marsh, pastor, officiating. The speaker for this occasion has not yet been announced.

Graduates vested in cap and gown will lead the processional from the school and will take their places in the front pews of the church and assist at services in a body.

A breakfast served by the freshmen of St. Matthew's will immediately follow the mass, honoring the twenty-two seniors, who are as follows: Misses Martha Jane LaSuzza, Miriam Biggar, Betty Ann Eberts, Jimmy Fox, Elsie Greene, Maria Maggio, Jo Ann Miller, Mary Ann Pitarro, Mona Lee Ticheli, Beatrice Varino, Debbie Ann Hill, Ethel Lee Landreaux, Johnny Accordo, Nick Miller, Lucas Lisotta, Nicky Conti, A. J. Corrent, Albert Elias, Jack Hilton, Vincent Marsala, Ralph Norman and Vincent Danna.

SHREVEPORT, La., May 9—UP—Airman Lawrence Patrick Ellender, 20, stationed at Barksdale Air Force Base, was killed Saturday when his automobile struck a truck - trailer near Bossier City. The truck driver — Cliff Bernham of Haynesville — was not injured.

School Bonds In Jonesville Sold To Bank There

JONESVILLE (Special)— School bonds in the amount of $68,000 were sold to the Catahoula Bank, Jonesville, at three per cent interest at a meeting of the Catahoula parish school board this week. The bonds are for school district 12, and are for the purpose of adding to Enterprise school and making major repairs.

The only other bid submitted was by Barrow - Leary of Shreveport, which had a bid for the entire issue at four per cent. The bonds were sold on the basis of the lowest net interest cost to the school board.

A lunchroom and gym will be added to Enterprise school and C. A. McGuffee, school board member from Ward 3, has hopes that the work can be done during the summer so as not to disrupt the school program.

The $68,000 school bond issue was passed by school district 12 on March 23, when 41 votes were cast for the bonds with no votes against the issue.

During the British Civil War, the regalia, crown and jewels of the king were broken up and sold for $13,240.

U. S. Lobby Act Affects Oilmen

WASHINGTON, May 9—UP—The Supreme Court's recent agreement to rule on the validity of the Federal Lobby Registration act will ultimately affect more than 35 oil and gas industry lobbyists, a check showed Saturday.

The lobbyists — some times referred to in Congress as "pressure" or "special interest" groups —range from small-time outfits to the influential American Petroleum Institute, the petroltum industry's No. 1 watchdog.

Registered lobbyists are not to be confused with Washington representatives of trade associations such as the Independent Petroleum Association of America and the National Petroleum Association which keep tabs on what is going on in executive agencies.

These organizations, while ever watchful of what Congress does and willing congressional witnesses when they think the welfare of their members is menaced, do not come under the legal definition of lobbyist and therefore must not register.

The law was passed in 1946. It was aimed at helping Congress evaluate the arguments of all so-called special-interest groups and exposing to public scrutiny those receiving or spending money to influence the defeat or passage of legislation. The penalty for violations is a year in prison, a $5,000 fine or both. In addition, a person can not legally lobby for three years after his conviction.

Federal District Judge Alexander Holtzoff twice has held sections of the law unconstitutional because he said it denies "right of petition.

The oil, gas and related industries have never challenged the statute. They chose to "live with it" rather than fight it. But industry spokesmen are elated that it is finally coming up for a Supreme Court test.

The law requires quarterly reports. Organizations registering as lobbyists also must register lobbyist agents and how much either or both spent to influence legislation. They also must list the legislation they either favor or oppose.

Lobbyists Registered

The API's last quarterly report shows it spent $32,478 last year. Its chief registered lobbyist was API President Frank M. Porter.

Others registered as lobbyists when the present Congress convened included:

Committee for Pipeline Companies, Shreveport, La., $39,998.74. One of the committee's registered agents is Fayette B. Dow, general counsel of the National Petroleum Association.

David G. Gray, Houston, Humble Oil & Refining Co., $8,026.45.

Pacific American Tankship Association, San Francisco $2,700.

Frank W. Rogers, Washington, Western Oil and Gas Association, Los Angeles, no expenditures listed.

Texas A. G.

ergy that has given us national prosperity and progress."

The attorney general quoted a section from the notes of the commander of a German prison camp during the last war, who had made a study of the prisoners of war from various countries.

"The American is gadget-crazy," the commander wrote. "He invents and improvises. He is energetic and has a genius for work, and he is the most successful at providing himself food and physical comfort. Of the prisoners from all nations, the Americans do the most to improve the living conditions of themselves and their fellow prisoners." Shepperd went to explain that America's young men "do more than anyone else to better the lot of every human being, because they embody the most fundamental of all the principles of American democracy—a belief in the value, the dignity, the rights, and the unlimited potentialities of the individual."

People of many other countries, who have observed America's young manhood first hand, during recent years, have wondered what kind of men they were that the U. S. should be the world leader, the Texan said. "They have called the Americans generous, open-handed, and gullible; they have said that they are uncultured, self-conscious, and socially clumsy; and I have heard them called immature, naive, egotistical, and too much inclined to play the big brother to other people."

Shepperd agreed that the foreign observations were all true, and went on to explain that the nation's young men "are so immature and naive that they fight their wars, bury their dead, suffer the tortures of prison camps and the agony of separation from their loved ones without losing faith in God, the principles they fought for, and the innate goodness of human beings."

He agreed that America's young men are egotistical. "They think they have the best country in the world. They think it is the only one that could organize and equip the best army, build and launch the biggest Navy and Air Force of the last war . . . and build the world's first steamship, airplane, telegraph, telephone, electric light, phonograph and atomic bomb. But the world knows we are not the only ones who could. We are merely the only ones who did."

Shepperd explained that the big brother title given America's young men was well earned. "It seems we cannot send a GI overseas without his feeling obligated to adopt a destitute family, clothe the ragged, feed the hungry and write home to the governor of his state to arrange a scholarship for some displaced person who wants to study in America." The American soldier in Korea has made " 'GI' synonymous with 'angel'."

'Citizen Of World' Is Prison Tenant

LONDON, Sunday, May 10 (AP)—Garry Davis, self-styled "world citizen No. 1," became a tenant of a police cell today.

Last night 31-year-old American-born Davis parked himself outside Buckingham Palace with all his possessions in a 40-pound rucksack and announced he would stay there until the British extended his residence permit.

He built a cardboard hut under the coronation stands facing the palace and settled in for the night.

But before dawn a London Bobby roused him and hauled him off to the police station. Authorities said he was charged with "wandering abroad" and would be haled into court Monday.

Davis, son of American society bandleader Meyer Davis, was told by the aliens' office yesterday that he must get out of Britain.

Avoyellis Political Leader Dead At 92

MARKSVILLE, La., May 9—UP—C. Preston Couvillion, widely-known Avoyelles parish political figure and sheriff for many years, died Friday at the age of 92.

A unique man in politics, Couvillion held practically every parish office there was. At one time or another in his life he was sheriff, clerk of court, police juror, state senator and mayor of Marksville.

Couvillion was also vice president of the Union Bank here until his retirement in 1950.

Funeral services were to be held Saturday at St. Joseph Catholic Church here.

PATRIOTIC CORSETS

CHESTERFIELD, England, May 9—UP—Red, white and blue corsets have gone on sale here in honor of the coronation next month of Queen Elizabeth II.

Barber shops of the Twin Cities are to be closed all day Monday —if that shave and haircut was planned for May 11—well, you're just out of luck.

The following is a copy of a letter received this week from the U. S. Naval Hospital, Camp Lejeune, North Carolina, by Mrs. Arthur M. Kite, chairman of the Knitting Service, of the Ouachita Parish Red Cross:

"The walking cast toe socks which you sent to us are very useful and much appreciated by the patients. As you may know, many of the orthopedic patients are up and around for a long time while they are wearing casts. In many instances the cast is fairly large and the men like the toe socks both for warmth and for "looks." We thank you for your interest in our program."

Letters similar to this one are received regularly by the local chapter. Shipments of completed knitted articles are made about six times each year. The thread for all of these garments is purchased by the Monroe chapter.

This group of knitters works quietly and faithfully and accomplishes an unbelievable amount of work. Mrs. Kite has been chairman of this group for the past twelve years.

Jes' Ramblin':

"We wish to express our gratitude through your column to all our friends who have been so generous to us in contributing their services during our recent trouble. We realize how quickly worldly possessions can be taken away but to know we have so many friends makes life worth living and troubles easier to bear. Thank you one and all from the bottom of our hearts.

Frank, Beatrice, Betty and Pat Patterson.

M. H. Carroll, principal of the new Carroll High School, is anticipating the most eventful commencement that this school for colored has ever experienced in Monroe. Exercises will be held in the million dollar edifice that was opened for the first time last January. It will be adequate to seat both white and colored friends of the school, something not possible in the old building on Breard street.

Baccalaureate will be held May 17 at 2:30 p.m.; Monday, May 18 is class night and the commencement will be Wednesday, May 20 at 8 p.m. when a class of 60 will be graduated.

Immunization Against Polio Now In Sight--Boaz

It appears that some practical solution to the problem of immunization against polio will be reached, perhaps by the end of next year, Dr. T. D. Boaz, Jr., associate director of the Monroe state department of health office, told visitors and participants in the Northeast State health education workshop here Saturday.

Dr. Boaz spoke before a group of approximately 300 persons who were in attendance at the all-day event.

The group health expert told an audience of teachers, health personnel and others that perhaps the most important advance recently in the fight against poliomyelitis is the discovery of gamma globulin, a substance used in warding off attacks of the dread disease which reached the epidemic stage in many communities this past summer.

Dr. Boaz's subject was epidemiology, the study of community diseases in the epidemic stage. He pointed out that a number of schools were shut down recently in this state because of a flu epidemic, but it was not necessary to close the schools, he said.

Theme of the workshop was "Community and School Health." A number of speakers were heard and a panel discussion was held in the college auditorium in both morning and afternoon sessions.

Osborn Willis, regional sanitarian with the health department, spoke briefly on school sanitation and some of the state requirements in school health measures. Cleanliness in school rest rooms was emphasized, in addition to thorough inspections of lunchroom facilities.

Leader of the panel committee was Dean William M. Smith of Northeast State, who was assisted by Miss Overia Estrada of Boyce and Mrs. Pearl Marcom of Lake Providence, both of whom talked on methods of teaching health in the classroom and outside it.

Following lunch, workshoppers witnessed five dance nunbers by students of the modern and social dancing at Northeast State. Foxtrot and tango dances were demonstrated, along with three modern dance presentations, all under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Humphrey, instructor of health and physical education here.

Speaking on the effects of television on health, Irving Zeidman said the percentage of crime shows was actually small, and that the many programs devoted to family consumption were to be considered. He admitted that most of the criticism directed toward television and radio could be traced to crime programs, but their effect on children's health was not as bad as it is purported to be.

Louisiana Solons See Accord On Oil Lands Bills

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Two Louisiana members of Congress said today they expect the House to accept the Senate bill which would convey to coastal states the off-shore submerged lands within their historic boundaries.

Both Reps. Boggs and Willis, Louisiana Democrats, said they look for a skirmish in the House but predicted that the House will agree to the Senate bill.

Early in the session the House passed one version of the bill. The Senate this week passed another. The House has the choice of declining to accept the Senate bill as an amendment to its measure, thus sending it to conference or accepting it and sending it to President Eisenhower for his signature.

The House bill is generally unacceptable to the Louisiana delegation since it would give title to the submerged land beyond state boundaries to the federal government but would not give states any police or taxing powers over the area or any share of oil royalties.

They prefer that the House take the Senate bill and send it on its way to the President, who has indicated he will sign it.

One-Year Trial On Information Program Asked

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—A Senate foreign relations subcommittee recommended today another year's trial for State Department operation of the overseas information program, including the Voice of America.

The subcommittte, headed by Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) told President Eisenhower that even if he decides to separate overseas information functions from the department, State should retain control of educational exchange programs.

Dr. Robert L. Johnson, head of the information agency, told the committee last month the entire program should be taken out of the State Department. He said Secretary of State Dulles agreed. A similar recommendation reportedly was made to the White House also by a three-man special advisory group headed by Nelson Rockefeller.

In a letter to the President, Hickenlooper said that if the programs remain linked the committee believes they should operate within the framework of the Department of State for at least one year in order that the new management may have an opportunity for more study before making final determinations of the disposition of these programs."

Serenade Of Spring Will Be Presented

Participants on the elaborate "Serenade of Spring" program that Estelle Sanders is to present at Neville High School auditorium, Monday at 8:15 p.m. will be a number of well known musicians.

They will include Elaine Brothers, Carolyn Bagwell, Patricia Ann Rector, Pat Patterson, Ellis Bairnsfather, Rudolph Dozier, Johnny Goodwin, Jennings Wilkins, Louise Humble, Louise Nelson, Martha Williams, Jo Marie Ellett, Mimi Clark, Evy Lee Ritter, Jessie Mundo, Clyde Fulton, Jane Blanchard, Janet Cash, Ann Eubanks, Louise Hays, Irma Stevens, Shelby Southall, Betty Spurlock, Nell Spurlock, Mary Lou Bairnsfather, Elvis Stout, Patsy White, Beverly Wilson, Max Dillingham, Bill Norris, Ann Flinn.

Allen Coon, Fred Perry, Dewey Seale, Tommy Spurlock, Jack Wicks, Charles Wilder, and in a special number, "Ah, Fors E. Lue, from La Traviata," Estelle Sanders will present a charming selection from Verdi.

The costumes and scenery are to be particularly elaborate, no expense having been spared in their selection.

All the net proceeds of the program will go to Memorial Methodist Church which is endeavoring to pay off its final indebtedness. Mrs. Sanders is choir leader of this church and is deeply interested in its welfare.

Low-Cost Housing Tift Seen By Senate Panel

WASHINGTON, May 9—UP—Senate Appropriations committee leaders conceded Saturday they will have a "tough, hard fight" getting Congress to approve any low-cost public housing for the coming year.

There also was a strong possibility of a struggle over whether the Federal Housing Administration's Housing research program should be continued.

President Eisenhower asked Congress for authority to begin work in 35,000 federally-subsidized housing units in the fiscal year beginning next July 1. He also asked for $800,000 to keep the research program going.

The House turned down both programs and forbade the administration from spending a penny on either. A Senate Appropriations subcommittee, however, voted this week for the 35,000 public housing units and $600,000 for research.

Both proposals come before the full Appropriations committee, Monday.

Subcommittee Chairman Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) and Sen. Burnet R. Maybank (S.C.), ranking Democrat on the subcommittee, voiced confidence they could get the full committee and then the Senate itself to support their figures for public housing starts and research.

But both expected a fight in the committee and on the Senate floor.

They would make no predictions as to the outcome when Senate and House conferees meet to settle differences in the respective versions of the appropriations bill.

"I have a feeling the Senate will pass them—but not without a little discussion!" Saltonstall said.

Maybank, a veteran parliamentarian and floor manager, also expected extended floor debate on public housing although he did not expect a real filibuster against the program.

"I'm trying to support President Eisenhower," the South Carolina Democrat said. "He said he wanted these 35,000 housing units. "If we are going to continue to carry on all these other programs—FHA loans and loans for veterans—we should provide something for the poor people, the ones who really don't have a decent place to live in. It's going to be a tough, hard fight all the way."

Maybank praised the FHA's research program as one that "has saved a lot of money" since it went into operation four years ago. But he said the agency's officials have not properly publicized the work of this program.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), a member of the appropriations subcommittee and author of the research program, agreed the research program is "very valuable" but suffering from poor publicity.

N. E. Louisiana Shrine Club To Present Circus

Gainesville Community Circus, "the only show of its kind in the world" is coming to the Twin Cities June 19 and 20.

Arrangements have been made by the Northeast Louisiana Shrine Club which is sponsoring the appearance of the big amusement enterprise in this city, for three performances to be given on Friday, June 19, a Saturday matinee and night show.

Gainesville Community Circus is a complete three-ring exhibition of arenic artists, including acrobats, aerialists, tight wire performers, trained elephant, horses, ponies, goats, dogs and monkeys and two score clowns, but it is presented entirely by citizens of Gainesville, Tex. who in every day life are lawyers, doctors, businessmen, clerks, housewives, soda dispensers, school teachers, delivery boys and students.

The circus has won renown for the entertainment quality of its two - hour performance during which 100 feature acts are presented, had been filmed 12 times for motion picture shorts, newsreel, and television, and has been featured on several coast-to-coast network radio programs. Likewise, it has been the subject of feature articles in Saturday Evening Post, American Magazine, Readers Digest, Coronet, Magazine Digest, Nation's Business, Popular Mechanics, Popular Science and scores of others.

Despite the fact that it is a no professional show, it is, nevertheless, the third largest circus in America in number of performers participated in the program, and it is likewise the third oldest circus in this country, having been established in 1930.

The circus will be brought to the Twin Cities in its entirety, and will exhibit in the West Monroe rodeo arena.

Reserve seat tickets for any of the performances may be obtained from members of the Northeast Louisiana Shrine Club.

Laboratory At Northeast State Made Available

Specialities offered by Northeast State's summer term include a campus laboratory school which will emphasize individual instruction. This is the first time that a school of this kind has been provided by the college.

Classes will open June 8 and close August 7. The five-day week schedule will run from 9:30 a.m. to 12:15 p.m., Dean William M. Smith announced. The tuition fee is $5 for the nine-week program of study.

Enrollment is limited to 15 elementary pupils in order to carry out the plan of individual training. Application for summer study in the Campus Laboratory School should be made immediately to Mrs. Evelyn M. Otts, director of teacher training at Northeast. Persons desiring to schedule student teaching should also file application at once with Mrs. Otts.

The laboratory school is designed to offer an enriched program through the employment of expert teachers, specialists in various fields and the use of college facilities, Dean Smith said.

Emphasis will be given to filling the needs of retarded pupils and those who are especially gifted. Those who are entering or completing the second and seventh grades are eligible, to enroll for summer study.

The school will also offer opportunity to in-service teachers to observe unit and skill teaching. Instructors of classes are to be assisted by specialists in music, art and physical education.

Churches

Mothers Day Donation By Lutherans Planned

Members of Trinity Lutheran Church, Monroe, will join with the 5,000 congregations of the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod Mother's Day, to receive an offering for the church's armed services commission, Rev. Harold Reinhardt, local church pastor, announces.

The commission, which has its executive offices in Washington, D. C., ministers to the spiritual welfare of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod's 35,000 young men and women in the military.

Its program has been hailed by church and military leaders as the "most comprehensive and effective" service carried on by any church today among the military. A lead article in a widely-circulated national news magazine recently lauded the commission for its "outstanding job" to service people.

The commission's ministry begins with each individual member when he first enters the service. He is sent an initial packet containing a Lutheran identification tag, service prayer book, scriptu pocket calendar and several tracts.

The serviceman's name and military address, sent to the commission by his home pastor, is forwarded to the nearest chaplain or contact pastor of the church. One hundred and twenty-six chaplains and 400 contact pastors are cooperating in this effort. In addition, the commission, with the assistance of 142 hospital pastors, serves Lutherans confined t. Veterans Administration hospitals.

Each month an order of service with sermon and hymns, Loyalty-Christ and Country, along with a folder, Directory for Service people, listing the locations of Missouri Synod Lutheran chaplains, are mailed to the service people. Double-Time, a pocket news magazine containing pictures and items of Lutheran service interest, is mailed quarterly.

Forty-five Lutheran Service Centers —located in the United States and overseas — are being supported by the commission for the purpose of spiritual counseling and informal hospitality to service people during their off-duty hours.

This comprehensive service program is financed solely through the Mother's Day collections held in the Synod's churches throughout the United States and Canada.

TO GET PH. D. DEGREE — K. R. Grubbs, associate professor of economics at Tech, will receive this advanced degree from the University of Texas at the May 30 commencement.

Peniel Revival Will End Sunday

The revival meeting that has been in progress at the Peniel Baptist Church, Jonesboro Road, West Monroe, throughout the past week will come to a close with this evening's service.

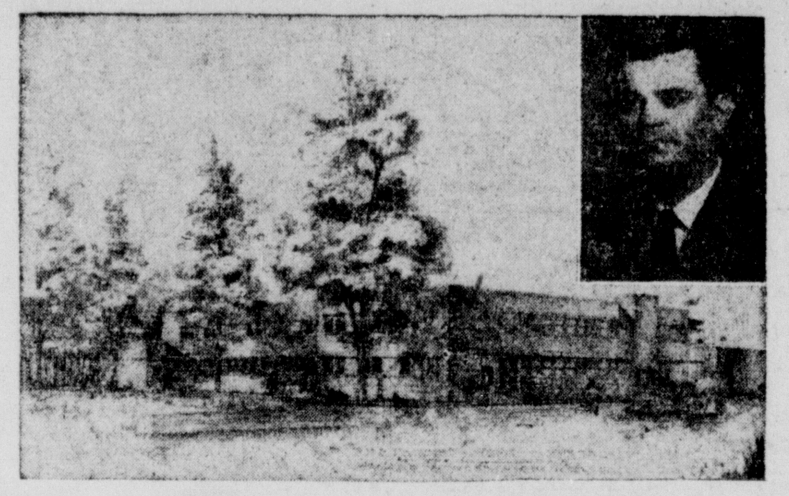
Capacity crowds have filled the church auditorium each evening and many decisions have been made for Christ and the church.

The evangelist, James W. Crumpton, pastor of the West Side Baptist Church, Natchez, Miss., will deliver the message at each service.

James W. Carraway, "the singing engineer," is in charge of the revival music and will sing a solo at each service.

The church will observe Mother's Day by having all mothers as honor guests in the morning service. Three mothers in the congregation will be given special recognition.

The Sunday School attendance goal for this morning is 200, and the Training Union attendance goal for the evening is 150. The evangelistic services are at 10:50 a.m. and 8:00 p.m.



New Wing Added To Methodist Hospital

A new wing of the Methodist Home Hospital in New Orleans, now under construction at a cost of $145,900, will be completed in December of this year, according to a recent report.

Foundation work and the structural steel frame work of the addition have been completed, and brick work is underway.

When ready for use, the two story wing will add three conference rooms, a file room, chapel, large living room, dining room and kitchen, and other facilities on the first floor. The second floor includes a living room, two bedrooms and bath for the superintendent's quarters, wrich tie into an existing kitchenette, stairwells and corridors, nine bedrooms for patients, a small laundry room and two large storage rooms.

The original building for the hospital, which is supported by the Louisiana, Mississippi and North Mississippi conferences of The Methodist Church, was completed in December, 1951, at a cost of $223,500.

Contract Awarded On State Highway

BATON ROUGE, La., May 9—UP—The State Highway Department announced Saturday it has awarded a $1,991,046 contract calling for one of the last links in the proposed four-lane route between New Orleans and Baton Rouge.

The contract was for paving two extra lanes of the Airline Highway between Sorrento and Gramercy, a highway department official said.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
224 Auburn Avenue

"Adam and Fallen Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, May 10, 1953.

The Golden Text is: "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light" (Eph. 5:14).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth" (Gen. 1:26).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science testbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The first record assigns all might and government to God, and endows man out of God's perfection and power" (p. 522).

W. S. C. S. Has Spring Meet Held In City

The regular spring conference of the Monroe District W. S. C. S. was held recently at the Monroe First Methodist Church, Monroe, and the following program was presented:

Hymn, "O Zion Haste," was followed by a devotional given by Rev. H. L. Johns, pastor host. A report of the recording secretary followed. Mrs. G. W. Dameron, member of the Board of Missions gave an inspirational address on, "Missions at Mid - Century." A hymn, "Jesus Shall Reign," was sung at this time and the next feature of the program was a progress report by the district officers of the efforts made to achieve the new goals. Mrs. M. L. DeFreese, district secretary of promotion introduced each officer of each line of work, and they in turn related the work accomplished, and the recommendations for the new year.

The noon luncheon was served in the church dining room, members of the local W. S. C. S. were the hosts. The session resumed with the singing of the hymn, "Jesus Calls Us." Mrs. A. J. Ensminger, paid tribute to the deceased members in a fitting memorial service. Miss Polly Ragland sang "The Lord's Prayer." Highlights of the W. S. C. S. annual conference were given by Mrs. W. W. Halbert. Local societies were then permitted to award life memberships to deserving members. A report of the research committee was read and the following officers were elected: vice president, Mrs. H. F. Boyd; recording secretary, Mrs. Harold Hunt; secretary of promotion, Mrs. M. L. DeFreese; secretary of missionary education, Mrs. D. F. Davis; secretary of literature and publications, Mrs. Turner Reynolds; secretary of C. S. relations and local church activities, Mrs. C. R. Brown; secretary of spiritual life, Mrs. Alvin Smith; secretary of supplies, Mrs. E. E. James. Mrs. A. H. Harper was appointed leader of Zone I. The officers were installed by Mrs. D. C. Metcalf. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Hurvie Moak, district president.

Wesleyan Guild Builds Around Mission Field

The ninth annual district meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild was held, Sunday, May 3, at the Lake Providence Methodist church with Mrs. Minza Rabun, district secretary presiding. The program was built around the theme, "Every Area A Mission Field." The group attended the morning worship service in a body, and lunch was served at the noon hour in the church dining room. During the lunch period officers of the district standing guild committee were introduced, Mrs. M. L. DeFreese, Miss Juanita Porter, Mrs. R. L. Clayton, representing the W. S. C. S. Each officer made a short talk reviewing past achievements and pledging continued support to the guild. Rev. T. M. Lancaster and wife were introduced and welcomed the visiting delegation.

At 1:45 the members assembled in the church sanctuary and the following program was presented:

1. Report of the annual W. S. G. Conference . . . Mrs. Minza Rabun.
2. Program Building . . . A skit presented by the Tallulah Guild.
3. Guild goals . . . A skit presented by the Guild of the First Methodist Church, Monroe, La.
4. Approved studies for 1953-54 . . . Reviewed by Mrs. Mildred Brown, Bastrop.
5. Display and review of the available literature for the new year . . . by Mrs. Ruth Gutherie, Bastrop.
6. The nominating committee reported that Mrs. Minza Rabun had been elected, conference secretary of the Wesleyan Service Guild, thereby creating a vacancy, which was filled by electing Mrs. Ruth Guthrie of Bastrop, district secretary of Wesleyan Service Guild.
7. Announcement was made of Guild Week End to be held at Camp Brewer beginning Friday night, July 24, 25, 26. A report of the registration revealed that 11 out of 13 guilds were represented at the district meeting.

The closing devotional was given by Mrs. R. L. Clayton, W. S. C. S. district secretary of spiritual life. The next meeting will be held at Oak Grove, La.

All friends of the church are cordially invited to attend the services today.

Bible Comment

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

The zeal with which early Christians in various places treasured the letters that St. Paul wrote to them is evident in the way in which the New Testament Epistles have been preserved for us. We even have notes concerning their transmission and the places from which they were sent.

Considering all that has been lost of that ancient world, it is little short of a miracle that we should have these letters. They were written so long ago by an unknown Jew to groups of Christians who, in that vast pagan world, must have seemed unimportant to their contemporaries.

Yet how important and powerful in their growth and influence upon the world, even upon that Roman world, these groups of Christians became! And what an immense influence the Epistles of Paul, which were originally letters of friendly Christian counsel to his fellow Christians, have had upon world history!

I have remarked upon the care and accuracy with which the Pauline Epistles have been preserved. The only doubt concerns the Epistle to the Hebrews. Not concerning the Epistle itself, but only the question whether Paul was its author.

In my copy of the King James Bible that is at hand as I write, its title reads: "The Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the Hebrews." But from early days in the church, while the Epistle was accepted as geniune, doubt was expressed regarding its authorship and one eminent leader in the early church said that only God knew who wrote it.

I am not a scholar, though I once took a prize for New Testament Greek, but I believe that it is the prevailing opinion among Biblical scholars today that the Epistle to the Hebrews was not among those that Paul wrote.

The Epistles in our New Testament are not in the order in which Paul wrote them. The earliest seem to have been I and II Thesalonians. My King James Version says they were written from Athens, but at least two Bible dictionaries say they were written from Corinth. Paul spent considerable periods of time at Ephesus and Corinth, and these cities, with Philippi and Athens, were so closely related to Paul's journeys that he might well have written from any one of them.

We are on surer ground when we consider the so - called "Epistles of the Imprisonment," Ephesians, Colossians, Philemon and Philippians, which he wrote during the two years he was a prisoner in Rome, even though in the comparative freedom of his own house (Acts 28:30). Later Epistles were also apparently written from Rome during a second imprisonment.

Christians Look To Shackled For Future Leaders

HOUSTON, May 9—UP—Christianity as known in the western world may someday look to the persecuted Christians of the Iron Curtain countries for strength, a leader in foreign missionary work said Saturday.

Dr. M. Theron Rankin, executive secretary of the Southern Baptist's Foreign Mission board, believed the seeds of Christianity planted in Asiatic countries and in Russian satellites before the Iron Curtain dropped may be the salvation of our own brand of Christianity.

He also believed that even if Communism had never been born, the world today would be undergoing a period of "great unrest."

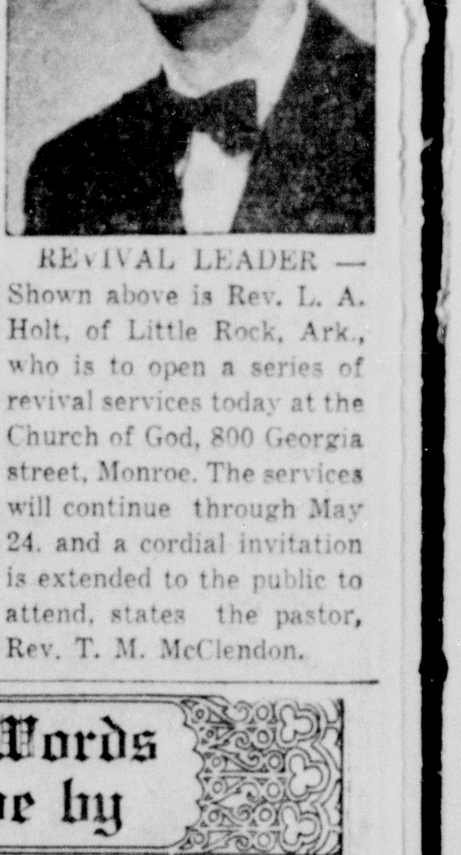
In Houston to report to the Southern Baptist Conference, Dr. Rankin said in an interview that a certain "hard core" of Christians are tenaciously clinging to their beliefs in China and other Iron Curtain countries despite Communist persecution.

"They represent one of the purist blends of christianity," he said. "The 'lukewarm' christians, such as there are in the western world, generally do not want to pay the price and fall into the Communist fold."

When the Iron Curtain is lifted, by means whatever, it will reveal a sturdy brand of Christianity that even the United States can look upon for strength and vigor, he said.

Dr. Rankin said the world is in an era of "awakening human hungers."

The body of St. Nichols (San Nicola) (the original Santa Claus), was stolen by Italian fishermen from Asia Minor in 1087 and is still in Bari, Italy.



REVIVAL LEADER — Shown above is Rev. L. A. Holt, of Little Rock, Ark., who is to open a series of revival services today at the Church of God, 800 Georgia street, Monroe. The services will continue through May 24, and a cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend, states the pastor, Rev. T. M. McClendon.

Bible Words to Live by

JOHN 13:35—"By this let all men know that you are mine, that you have love one for another."

How often we are reminded these days that we live in a divided world, poised in tension, and ready at any moment, so it seems, to break into armed conflict. In such a milieu man is apt to forget that his first duty is to love his neighbor. When we consider only those who live around us as our neighbors this is not difficult, but Christ intended that all men should be so considered. It is easy to love your friends, he told us, "but I say love your enemies, do good to those who hate you . . ."

The test of our Christian life, our worthiness to bear Christ's name and to call ourselves his disciples, is our willingness to acknowledge the sovereignty of love. The love that must unite men is not mere human sympathy or compassion but a love borne toward them for Christ's own sake. We must love them as recipients of his love and as those for whom he considered it not ignominious to offer his own life. Anything less will be ineffective and unworthy of the name Christian; but true love in Christ's name can make us one in that peace which the world cannot give.

ERNEST TUBB

Ernest Tubb Is Unique Person In Grand Ole Opry

Ernest Tubb, who brings his big Grand Ole Opry show to the Neville High School auditorium in Monroe, on Wednesday, was the object of interest in Walter Winchell's celebrated column in the Sunday, May 6th newspapers. Winchell, in outlining Ernest Tubb's "Secret of Success" ("According to Ernie, it's purely a matter of simple psychology") writes:

"Tune - Pan Alley Story: Ernie Tubb is one of the nation's top-flight hill-billy songsters. . .Any recording he makes automatically enjoys a first pressing of 200,000 platters. Terry Shand, the song-hit writer (at Riccio's breezy Cork Club), was raving about Ernest's talent and no big head stuff. . . Once, said Terrance, he was asked if he had any idea why his records were so popular. . .Tubb explained: "Well, it's psychology. Nearly every tavern has a juke-box and nearly every juke has me singin' on it. A boy walks in with his best gal - and punches down one of my records, like your song, "You Don't Have to be a Baby to Cry." He sings along with me for a few bars, then My Boy Friend says to his gal: "Hel, I kin sing better'n him - cain't I, honey?"

In addition to Ernest Tubb, the show will include Martha Carson, Autry Inman, Salty Holmes, Mattie O'Neil and the Texas Troubadours.

French Artist Life Portrayed

The private life of the average artist — contrary to popular belief —is about as interesting as that, say, of a clothing merchant or a cost accountant. The glamorous "artist's life" is, all too often, a history of hard work and the familiar struggle for security.

Fortunately, there are exceptions —a Rembrandt, a Gaugin, a Toulouse - Lautrec. The first two named have already had their unusual life stories turned into films. And now — belatedly, perhaps, in view of the exotic content of his biography — it is the turn of Henri de Toulouse - Lautrec, one of the most famous of French modern painters.

"Moulin Rouge," the new technicolor picture opening today at the Jim Theatre, is an authentic film adaptation of the life story of Lautrec, the scion of French nobility who spurned his high - born heritage for a life among the fleshpots of Paris in the Naughty Nineties.

"Moulin Rouge" is a Romulus production, directed by John Huston and released by United Artists. Jose Ferrer heads the cast in the role of Lautrec, and the supporting players include Zsa Zsa Gabor, Colette Marchand and Suzanne Flon.

The course of Lautrec's life is told, to a great degree, in his celebrated pictures. The early paintings were all of horses, and of the landscapes surrounding the ancestral Toulouse - Lautrec chateau. But, after a series of accidents stunted the artist's growth (actually, his body was of normal size, but his legs never grew) his pictures all reflect his immersion in the pleasures and follies of bohemian Paris.

The dives and bistros and parlors of the seamy side of Paris form the backgrounds of his pictures. And they are peopled not by aristocrats, but by drunks, circus performers, absinthe drinkers, the flotsam of the Paris streets, the denizens of its shifty night - life. All of these scenes — as well as the people in them — play a part in "Moulin Rouge," and such celebrated entertainers of the period as Jane Avril, Chocolat and La Goulue, are brought to life in the film.

TENDER LOVE SCENE — Colette Marchand and Jose Ferrer in a tender love scene from John Huston's Technicolor production, "Moulin Rouge," which will open today at the Jim Theatre, through United Artists release.

New Type Will Be Seen In Tech Comedy Show

RUSTON (Special) — Freshman theater players of Louisiana Tech will bring a new type of comedy to the Little Theater in Howard auditorium here Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 12, 13 and 14, by enacting Kenneth Horne's "Yes and No," a play in two acts and an epilogue. Arthur W. Stone, associate professor of speech, will direct the play.

The cast is as follows:

Mrs. Webb, played by Janet Buckner, Shreveport; the Rev. Richard Jarrow, Henry Cumpton, Rayville; Mrs. Emma Jarrow, Faye Solomon, Ruston; Sally Jarrow, Mary Alice Robison, Norphlet, Ark.; Joanna Jarrow, Carolyn Bawls, El Dorado, Ark.; the Rev. Mr. Bagshott, Davis Batt, Shreveport, and Adrian Marsh, Harvey Rollins, Shreveport.

The play is described as "an amusing portrayal of what might have happened and what did happen because."

Curtain time is 8 p.m. for each performance. Students will be admitted upon presentation of their activity books. Fifty - one cents will be the charge for others.

Marie Wilson Bouncy Blonde

Judging from her screen roles it's not surprising that Hollywood gag writers frequently use the expressions "dumb like Marie Wilson." . . . But members of the Hollywood film colony who know her well say it would be more appropriate to refer to her as "smarter than a whip."

Marie has parlayed a pair of amazingly wide blue eyes, a bewildered expression and, it must be admitted, other visible assets, into fame and fortune in movies, television, radio and on the stage.

People all over the world continue to wonder whether this bouncy blonde with the fullsome figure can possibly be as dumb as she seems. And that's a real tribute to Marie's talent. However, in Frederick Brisson's "Never Wave at a WAC" the RKO Radio comedy in which she co-stars with Rosalind Russell and Paul Douglas, she undergoes a slight character change. As a chorus cutie who joins the Women's Army Corps she is still cuddly and naive and a little slow on the up-beat, but she's certainly no wacky Wac.

One of the most popular personalities in Hollywood with her co-workers, Marie is noted for her easy-going, happy disposition. She refuses to worry and is never subject to moods or depressions. When she opens wide those big blue eyes, calls you "honey" and asks a favor, there is just no refusing her, especially since she grants plenty of favors herself.

She doesn't smoke or drink, always has her hair done before arriving at the studio and applies her own make-up. She has no pet hates or aversions. Surprisingly enough, she plays a very fast game of tennis.

She has a pet Yorkshire terrior named Hobbs, which she describes as the most human dog in the world.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

After today's game here with the Natchez Indians, the Monroe Sports will swing into the second phase of their Cotton States schedule as they meet for the first times this season Hot Springs, El Dorado, Pine Bluff, and Greenville.

So far Charley Harrington's Sports have been banging around with three clubs considered as front runners from the start—Jackson, Meridian, and Natchez. The Sports have held their own to a good degree against this trio. If they do as well against the other four, especially the Pine Bluff Judges who are a hot number right now, Monroe could quite possibly be heading the league by June 4 when the second round of play begins.

Not counting last night's date here with Natchez, the Sports enjoyed a 4-1 record against the Indians, took 3 out Sports enjoyed a 4-1 record againthe Indians, took three out of five games in their series with Jackson and was shorted only by Meridian. The Millers won three while losing two to the Sports. Meridian and Natchez are far down in the standings because they have been working against the tough Jackson and Monroe clubs as well as each other.

But a better picture can be offered after everybody has had a chance to play everybody else. We're especially waiting to see how Pine Bluff holds up against Monroe and Jackson or Meridian and Natchez. Even Hot Springs and Greenville have been looking better than we had expected, but they too have yet to face the eastern powers as well as the Sports.

We have been figuring Jackson, Monroe, Pine Bluff and Meridian for the first division all along. Just how good our guess has been will be settled in the next couple of weeks to some extent.

On the record right now Monroe has looked its worst against Meridian, a seventh place team going into last night's game. We still feel certain Meridian will finish much higher, but hope the Sports aren't setting a pattern of easing up to take a shoving around from the other clubs lower down in the standings. They need a good share of wins against the second divisioners to keep pace as a front runner.

First, the Sports engage Hot Springs in three games, beginning there tomorrow. Next comes El Dorado and Greenville for six games apiece. Pine Bluff doesn't appear on the Monroe slate until May 26, but by June 4, the Sports will have seen the Judges six times. They're the big games the way the race is going right now.

Lately you get the idea there is a whale of a lot of opposition to the junking of the two-platoon system in college football. The exponents of dual-platoon grid play are speaking harshly, but we feel those in favor are keeping quiet because they are satisfied.

But Biggie Munn at Michigan State College says the fans and sports writers are going to have a tough time keeping track of his players just the same. He's planning a new twist that will keep two-platoon ball alive for the Spartans.

The names of the players will not change, but here's Munn's two-platoon shift:

Tulane Net Team Makes Sweep Of SEC Tournament

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., May 9 (AP)—Tulane made a clean sweep of nine finals matches today to add another Southeastern Conference tennis tournament championship to its overcrowded trophy room.

Defending singles champion Ham Richardson kept unblemished his record of winning every set in two years of college competition by defeating Charles Warden of Tennessee, 6-4, 6-1.

The Tulane ace, ranked seventh nationally, lost only four games in reaching the finals.

He teamed with Henry Jungle to win the No. 1 doubles finals from Paul Young and Charles Pitts of Louisiana State in straight sets, 6-2, 7-5.

Tulane piled up 36 points, more than double those of its closest challengers, Florida and Louisiana State, with 17 each.

Other team point totals were Tennessee and Vanderbilt 14; Alabama, Mississippi State and Georgia Tech 5; Georgia 4; and Auburn and Mississippi 2. Kentucky did not compete.

RINDONE OVER LANGLOIS

BOSTON, Mass., May 9 (AP) — Straight-punching Joe Rindone of Boston registered an upset victory over French middleweight Pierre Langlois with a split verdict in their 10-round nationally televised boxing bout tonight at Boston Garden. Rindone weighed 161½ and Langlois 160.

Little Leagues Ready To Hold Player Drafts

Roy Jayne Limits Locals To 5 Hits; End Series Today

Roy Jayne, Natchez righthander, became the second hurler this season to shut out the Monroe Sports as he blanked the Harrington crew, 9 to 0, on five hits here last night. Bobby Harrison of Meridian did the trick in the third game of the campaign here April 25 on a two-hitter.

The two clubs end their series here this afternoon at 3 o'clock with Manager Wayne Tucker sending Pat Healy to the mound for Natchez, while Skipper Charley Harrington's pitching choice is Jack Gaines.

While Jayne was fashioning his shut out, Gene Sorensen made his farewell appearance with the Sports to take the loss. Sorensen, who leaves today for his home at Neptune, N. J., to report for an army call, lasted three and two thirds innings before giving up to Tom Wingard who went the rest of the way.

The Indians had two big innings, getting three runs in the first frame and four in the fourth, and tapered off with a pair of unearned runs in the ninth.

Don Allen, Cotton States batting champion last year, led Natchez's 11-hit attack with three singles. Billy Sharp was Monroe's top hitter with two.

Sorensen's wildness helped the Indians along with three of the six runs off the righthander, coming as the result of three of the four bases on balls he issued before turning the pitching over to Wingard in the fourth. He tossed in a couple of wild pitches to help runners on their way home.

The Indians scored three times in the first inning. Manager Wayne Tucker walked. Don Allen singled. Tucker made third after the catch on Manuel Moreno's fly to left center. Dan Denby walked. A passed ball followed by Bill Wyatt's single scored Allen and Denby.

Four more Redskin runs tallied in the fourth. Wyatt walked. George Escopio sacrificed. Then, with two outs, Jayne singled, scoring Wyatt. Bob Collin sent Sorensen to the showers with a double into right center. Wingard came in to serve up a single to Tucker that scored Jayne and Collins with Tucker going to second, as Ray Coss let the hit get through. Moreno singled, scoring Tucker.

SPTS — 2nd ADD LOC BB ... BH

Natchez wound up its scoring in the ninth. Tucker slapped a single into left center, and scored all the way from first when, with two out, Moreno lashed a single sharply past shortstop that got through Nels Daehn in left center. A final Indian run scored when Lou Stutts, fielding a Dan Denby bounder, threw into the dirt at first base, allowing Moreno to score on the error.

Mr. Prosecutor In 1st At Churchill Bashford Stakes

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 9 (AP)—Mr. Prosecutor ended the triumph-speedy father—Occupation — won the 52nd running of the $10,000 added Bashford Manor Stakes today at Churchill Downs.

In winning the historic race for two-year-old colts and geldings, Mr. Prosecutor tnded the triumphant string of Everett Jr.

Everett Jr., who had finished first in all five of his starts, although having had one of his victories taken away on a disqualification, forged into the lead in the stretch but couldn't hold off a late surge by Mr. Prosecutor and the leading rider of the Downs spring meeting, Johnny Adams.

Mr. Prosecutor won by a length and a-quarter over Everett Jr., the $1.40 to one favorite of the crowd. Everett Jr. was a length in front of Portray, while the second choice Larrieweil came in fourth in a field of 10.

Probably the largest crowd ever to see a racing program at Churchill Downs outside of Derby Day itself or the Friday before the Derby, saw the Bashford running. It was estimated at more than 30,000.

Mr. Prosecutor paid $13.20, $4.60 and $3.60. Everett Jr. $3.20 and Portray $7.40.

14-Year-Old Killed In Sandlot Baseball

BOSTON, May 9 (AP) — The 14-year-old centerfielder of a sandlot baseball team was killed today when he crashed into a cement wall while chasing a fly ball.

A physician said Donald Schipani, a seventh grade pupil at an East oston school, died instantly of a fractured skull.

CUBS BLANK BRAVES

MILWAUKEE, May 9 (AP) — The Chicago Cubs bunched three hits for two runs in the fifth inning to blank the Milwaukee Braves 2-0 today behind the three-hit pitching of Bob Rush. The victory broke an eight-game losing streak for the Cubs.

Miss Joanne Cops Constitution 'Cap At Suffolk Downs

BOSTON, May 9 (AP) — J. M. Grieve's Miss Joanne, one of the two fillies in the 12-horse field, put on a blistering stretch drive to defeat Mrs. J. H. Woodcock's pacesetting Epic King by a length in the $10,000 Constitution Handicap today at Suffolk Downs.

After Miss Joanne completed the mile and a sixteenth test for Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gran's Africance, showed, three lengths back of Epic King. C. H. Everitt's 8-5 favored Supreme's Bud wound up a poor fourth after showing briefly early speed.

Epic King took over at an early stage and opened up a three lengths lead, only to have Miss Joanne come up from 10th place and take command about 30 yards from the wire.

Miss Joanne returned $7.80, $4.60 and $3.80, Epic King $9.80 and $7.40 and Africance $7.00 for show.

Trusting Wins 'Cap At Tanforan Track

SAN BRUNO, Calif., May 9 (AP)—Taking command in the homestretch, the favored Trusting with Wee Willie Shoemaker aboard today won the $30,000 Tanforan Handicap by a length.

The big gelding, carrying top weight of 130 pounds, streaked over the mile and one-eighth distance in 1.50 2-5. Home Free was second and Indian Hemp—second choice in the betting—third.

American ate 17 fewer pounds of red meat in 1951 than he did in 1947.

Yankees Back In Stride To Wallop Red Sox, 6-4

BOSTON, May 9 (AP)—The New York Yankees regained their mastery over the Boston Red Sox today by unleashing a 10-hit attack against five Boston pitchers for a 6-4 victory. The most potent of the Yankee blows was Mickey Mantle's fifth homer of the season, which was blasted against a left field light tower.

INDIANS WIN IN TENTH

ST. LOUIS, May 9 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, twice tied, but not to be denied, pushed across the winning run in the 10th inning to break a 2-2 deadlock and take a 3-2 decision from the St. Louis rowns here tonight.

Longshot Players Have Field Day At Belmont Park

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP)—Owner James Cox Brady, Trainer Bobby Dotter and Jockey Jim Nichols—plus two fillies named Secret Meeting and Plumed—gave the longshot players a field day at Belmont Park this warm afternoon.

After Plumed came in to win the fourth race by a neck for a $226.80—for $2 payoff, most of the crowd of 38,080 didn't believe Brady's Secret Meeting could duplicate the feat and win the $25,700 Acorn Stakes. Dotter trains both the Brady horses.

So Secret Meeting, a three-year-old chestnut daughter of Alibhai-Burgoo Maid, by Burgoo King, scampered home in the one-mile headliner at 18-1 odds. It just about completely upset the afternoon for the form players for Secret Meeting paid $39.10, $16.10 and $9.50 for $2 across the board.

Secret Meeting took charge in the final eighth of a mile to beat the Cain Hoy stable's Wings O'Morn by a length with the Brookmeade stable's Pricium third, another three lengths away. C. T. Chenery's Queen's Moon, was fourth.

For a time it appeared as if Jockey Henry Moreno, who rode the Cain Hoy stable's Dark Star to an upset victory in the Kentucky Derby a week ago, would have another large afternoon.

Plumed, which came with a rush to barely win the fourth race from Flower Queen, paid $68.20 to place and $22.90 to show.

Neville Nine Wins Class A Baseball Rally Title

Barham, Swanson Hurl No-Hitters To Spark Tigers

RUSTON, La., May 9 (Special)—The Neville High School Tigers, with Gene Barham tossing a no-hitter at the Jonesboro - Hodge nine, won the North Louisiana Class A baseball rally tonight, 9-1.

Art Swanson, with a 2-0 no-hit blanking of St. John's of Shreveport in the semi-finals, hurled the first of two no-hitters for the Neville baseballers in as many games today.

Playing the Jonesboro-Hodge Tigers in the rally final, Barham tossed Neville's second no-hitter, striking out 13. Jonesboro-Hodge's lone run came in the seventh on an error at third base.

Leading the Neville nine's 9-hit attack were Jackie Neal, with two for four, including a double; Billy Hardy, with two doubles in trips and Fred Frickie, with two for three, including a double.

Holly Ridge copped the Class B crown, scoring a 9-2 victory over Bernice High, with a seven-run splurge in the third inning; while Dubach High School won Class C honors, by clipping Mer Rouge, 13-4.

Semi-finals scores: Neville 2, St. John's 0; Jonesboro - Hodge 5, Farmerville 4 (Class A); Bernice 5, Chatham 4; Holly Ridge 1, Simsboro 0 (Class B); Dubach 10, Lisbon 2; Mer Rouge 3, Marion 2 (Class C).

Tribe Busy Rebuilding Its Football Machine

A complete team rebuilding process is in store for Northeast State gridiron officials as far as the forthcoming football season is concerned. These were the words of Head Football Coach James L. Malone. As the Indians resumed spring practice with a large contingent of freshman and sophomore players banging heads on the local college field.

"We lost practically the whole term of last year, either through graduation or loss of eligibility time," Malone said. "We will badly miss such outstanding players as Pat Marnell and Harold Corkran, both tackles, who recently signed to play professional football with the New York Giants. We are also badly in need of an extra quarterback or two like Lloyd Ray, who is also no longer with us."

Coach Malone pointed out that the team will be composed of mostly sophomores and freshmen in both the line and in the backfield. Some of the aspirants on the local college gridiron this spring are former high school stars, however, making the picture somewhat brighter, he said.

Workouts continued this week in the spring practice, which is being started a second time this year. A fire in the north end of the Northeast stadium interrupted the various exercises for more than six weeks while workmen could repair dressing rooms and some of the damaged grid equipment could be cleaned for use during the next two weeks.

Concentration has been on running of various plays and working on the new-but-old one platoon system, which now makes it difficult for the former offensive - only player to operate, since he is required to play both offensive and defensive under the new system. It's the same with the man who was a defensive player only—he has to learn offensive techniques now.

When asked about how the new change in rules (the N.C.A.A. abolishment of the two-platoon system), Malone replied that it really didn't make to much difference as far as Northeast is concerned.

While most of the practice this week was designed to loosen up stiff muscles and to develop stamina through calisthentics, directed by Northeast Trainer "Bully" Willis, some body contact was made, however, in the form of pair tackling drills.

Among the hard hitters in the line were two big tackles, Francis (Red) Yocum and Sherrod McKoin. Looking good on punt runbacks and general running ability were Halfbacks Tommy Leos and Walter Reed. Some long spiralling punts were being sent into the air by Maurice (Red) Nix, another Indian halfback.

Some 30 to 40 aspirants were working out with the team this spring.

Miss Hicks Has 2 Under Par To Lead 1st Round

SACRAMENTO, Calif., May 9 (AP)—Betty Hicks, Long Beach, Calif., pro, stroked a two-under-par 36 today to lead early starters in the opening round of the $3,500 Barbara Romack Invitational Women's Tournament.

A stiff breeze whipped the sparsely - treed Bing Maloney course but otherwise the weather was perfect as virtually all the top women golfers in the Nation teed off.

Tied at 38 were Marlene Bauer, Sarsota, Fla.; Marilynn Smith, Wichita, Kas.; Louise Suggs, Atlanta, Ga.; and Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S. C.

Barbara Romack, the Sacramento lass in whose honor the tournament was named, tied three other amateurs at 40.

Navy's Crew Takes Adams Cup Regatta

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 9 (AP)—Navy remained undefeated in rowing today, beating Harvard and Pennsylvania in the Adams Cup Regatta.

The Middie varsity negotiated the 1¾ mile course on the Severn river in eight minutes 44.3 seconds. Harvard trailed by only three seconds. Pennsylvania was clocked in nine minutes 5.3 seconds.

Navy also won the junior varsity race over the same course in eight minutes 48.8 seconds. Harvard was second in 8:56.8, Pennsylvania in 9:21.6.

Harvard's freshmen Shell won the opening event in a time of eight minutes 59 seconds flat. Navy was second in 9:06.8 and Pennsylvania last in 9:13.6.

Maroons Shade 'Bama In Track Event, 66 To 65

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., May 9 (AP)—Wayne Goodson, the little Alabama hurdler, handed Mississippi State's Jerry Simmons his first defeat of the season in the low hurdles today as State eged 'Bama, 66-65, in a dual track meet.

Goodson beat Simmons, the Southeastern Conference 220-yard low hurdles champion, in the good time of 24.1. But Simmons' second place was enough to ice the meet for State. Alabama went on to win the mile relay, the final event.

Simmons earlier had taken the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.9, with Goodson placing second.

Lanky Elmo Branch, picked up 13 State points by winning the high jump, tying Bill Worthington of Alabama for first in the pole vault, and placing second in the broad jump and third in the high hurdles.

Gusty Winds Hold Golf Scores Down In Ardmore Golf

ARDMORE, Okla., May 9 (AP)—Gusty winds turned the third round of the $26,300 Ardmore Open Golf Tournament into a high-scoring fiasco today but Earl Stewart Jr., Dallas, Tex., managed to increase his lead with a 3-over-par 73 for a 208 still three under for the 54 holes.

This was a creditable effort over the rugged 6,483 - yard Dornick Hills Country Club course as some of the Nation's finest players succumbed to the elements and toughness of this hilly par 70 layout.

Stewart went into the day's firing wih a 135 on opening rounds of 67-68 and was a shot in front of Ed (Porky) Oliver, Palm Springs, Calif. Oliver, too, had his troubles and could manage only a 76 which gave him the runner up spot at 12, four shots in arrears.

Jerry Barber, the little fellow from Lacanada, Calif., still was in the running for the top prize of $6,900 offered by the Waco Turners. He was in third place with a 213 on rounds of 69-69-75.

Freddie Haas Jr., New Orleans, who learned his golf at Dermott, Ark., where his father was a professional, was the standout performer in this windswept third round. He came in early with a 1-under-par 69 and was surprised to learn that it stood up.

Haas had opening rounds of 76-73 but his good comeback pulled him into a four-way tie for 12th place at 218.

Scoring:

Earl Stewart Jr., Dallas, Tex., 67-68-73—208.

Royal Vale Cops Dixie Handicap At Pimlico Saturday

BALTIMORE, May 9 (AP)—Mrs. E. Du Pont Weir's Royal Vale sped to victory in the $25,000-added Dixie Handicap at Pimlico today, paying his backers $7.60, $3.80 and $2.60.

In second place was C. V. Whitney's Cold Command ahead of Crafty Admiral, 1952 champion in the thoroughbred handicap division who was piloted by Eddie Arcaro.

Cold Command paid $5.20 and $3.00, and Crafty Admiral paid $2.20 to show.

The race was a repeat performance of last week's Gallant Fox Handicap at Jamaica in which Crafty Admiral, a Charfran Stable entry, finished behind Royal Vale and Cold Command, the No. one and two horses in that feature also.

Time for the mile and an eighth contest was 1:51 4-5.

He Should Have 'Stood In Bed'

ARDMORE, Okla., May 9 (AP)—Ever hear of a golf ball landing on the side of a rock wall?

It happened to Dick Mayer, young St. Petersburg, Fla., pro, in today's third round of the Ardmore Open Golf Tournament.

Mayer hit his second shot on the 533-yard "cliff hole" near the top of the cliff. Usually the ball bounces back from the rock wall into the fairway.

Mayer's didn't. Somehow it stuck in a cactus bush about six feet from the top. Mayer tried several stances but almost fell off the cliff—a drop of some 45 feet. He got it out on his second try and got a six on the par five hole.

Baseball Clowns Show Girl Star In Contest Here

Baseball fans who visit Legion Memorial Stadium in Monroe to watch the Indianapolis Clowns cross bats with the fabulous Kansas City Monarchs at 8 p. m. Tuesday in a Negro American League contest will have to look twice at the Clowns' second sacker. Off-hand they won't be able to believe their eyes, because they'll be watching a girl hold down the keystone bag.

The Indianapolis club is bringing to Monroe the first girl ever to play in the NAL. Toni Stone, of Oakland, Cal., by way of St. Paul, Minn., is playing sensational ball for the Funmakers. She has made some plays the male players don't make. Her batting average is right at .300, and she is every inch a team player who asks no favors. No chance is too tough for Toni to take a stab at it. Her sound and sensational play has won her plaudits of baseball fans from coast to coast.

Toni was signed by Syd Pollock, owner and general manager of the Clowns for a tidy sum. Her salary is $12,000 this season. Many big leaguers receive only $5,000.

The 22-year-old female sensation has played baseball since she was 10 years old. From 1948 through 1950 she played in spectacular style for the male New Orleans Creoles where she was rated an athletic marvel.

The Clowns, in addition to playing great ball and featuring the woman infielder, afford the fans oodles of fun with their funny antics. Prior to the start of the game, a comedy - diamond show will be presented, featuring the inimitable King Tut, baseball's top clown. For the fans who like rhythm with their baseball, Boogie Woogie Paul, the "Spike Jones" one-man band will perform. To complete the entertainment, the Clowns will stage their famous "Shadowball exhibition" which finds the players taking infield practice without the use of a baseball.

'Little Mo', Doris Hart To Meet In Rome Net Finals

ROME, May 9 (AP)— Maureen Connolly and Doris Hart forged an All-America women's singles final todqy in the Rome International Tennis Tournament but the United States was blacked out completely as the men's division reached the round of four.

Miss Connolly, the U. S. net queen from San Diego, Calif., who is heavily favored to take the title, swept into the finals on a 6-1, 6-4 triumph over Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode, Alameda, Calif.

She was joined later by Miss Hart, the longtime internationalist from Coral Gables, Fla., who won over Shirley Fry, Akron, Ohio, 1-6, 6-4, 6-4.

It was a dark day for America in the men's division, however, as both Budge Patty, Los Angeles, and Bernard Bartzen, San Angelo, Tex., went down in their quarter-final tests.

Patty bowed to 18-year-old Ken Rosewall, the 18-year-old phenom from Australia, 8-6, 6-3, 6-2. Bartzen lost to Jaroslav Drobny, the former Czech now playing out of Egypt, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1, 6-1.

Drobny, rated as the world's premier amateur player now that Australia's Frank Sedgman has turned professional, will play Rosewall in the semi-finals.

The other round of four joust will send Italy's Fausto Gardini, the gallery favorite, against the winner of the uncompleted match between Lewis Hoad of Australia and Sweden's Sven Davidsson.

Miss Connolly and Miss Hart also gained the finals of the women's doubles but in separate brackets. The U. S. champion paired with Julie Sampson, San Marino, Calif., to defeat Mrs. Knode and Nell Hopman, Australia, 6-2, 7-5.

Miss Hart and Miss Fry eliminated Nelly Adamson, France, and Silvana Lazzarino, Italy, 6-3, 9-7.

Miss Connolly, paired with Mervyn Rose, Australia, also moved into the quarter finals of the mixed doubles by default. Miss Sampson and Rosewall lost, however, falling before Miss Adamson and Enrique Morea, Argentina, 6-2, 6-1. The French-Argentine combination then eliminated Miss Hart and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia in the semi-finals, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1.

SEC Expects Only One Track Record To Fall

BIRMINGHAM, May 9 (AP)—Only one Southeastern Conference track and field record appears in danger in the annual meet next weekend at Legion Field.

That's the 6-foot, 7-inch high jump mark set by Elmo Branch of Mississippi State in 1952. J. (Papa) Hall of Florida is expected to better that leap this year.

Florida is highly favored to take its first team title in the 20-year history of the SEC. The Gators finished an edge behind Alabama at 38½-36½ last year.

Since then, Florida has shown improvement while Alabama lost too many big pointmakers to be rated a contender.

An unofficial survey by SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore's office shows five Gators with the best marks in the conference in their specialties.

Should they come through as expected, that would mean a solid 52 points, and Coach Percy Beard has enough team strength to be able to count on various runnerup points.

Louisiana State, winner of 14 team titles in the past, has three men favored to win individual titles, as does Auburn.

Alabama is rated tops in one individual event, in addition to its crack mile relay team. Tennessee and Tulane are best in the other two events.

Here are the favorites according to Commissioner Moore's survey of best times and distances turned in this year:

880-yard run: Frank Albertson, Tennessee, 1:58.6.

Mile: Hainon Miller, Tulane, 4:21.2.

Broad jump: Archie Vickers, Florida, 23.3.

Pole vault: Earle Poucher, Florida, 13, 11½.

Discus: Ralph McLeoud, L. S. U. 150, 9.

Javelin: Ken Busing, Florida, 192, 8 .

Mile relay: Alabama, 3:21.

Albertson set a new SEC half mile mark of 1:52.8 in taking his specialty.

Don Johnson, who'll also run in the 220 this year, won the quarter mile in 48.8 last May.

The Tide relay unit had a winning time of 3:18.6 in 1952.

Qualifying in the annual track event begins Friday at 2:30 p. m. Track trials that day are scheduled in the 440, 100, high hurdles, 880, 220 and low hurdles. Field trials are set in the shot, discus, javelin and broad jump.

Jim Dillion, Auburn, won the Hutchins Trophy as top individual performer last year. He will not compete this year due to a football-injured knee. He plans to resume discus, shot and javelin throwing next year.

Another Jockey Injured In Race Spill Yesterday

Shirey was riding Hazel Gold, a longshot. The seven - year - old's shoulders were cut badly.

The favored Bir Ackeim and Win Fin went down first. Their riders, Freddy Kratz and Norman Hart, were only shaken up, but they cancelled their mounts for the rest of the afternoon.

Our Peggy, a 5-1 shot, won the second race, leading all the way. Paired with Temple Bar, 3-1 winner in the opener, Our Peggy completed a daily double of $47.60.

Walcott 3-1 Underdog In Rematch With Marciano

H-Weight Bout Scheduled Friday At Chicago Arena

BY JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, May 9 (AP)—Unbeaten Rocky Marciano, the shoemaker's son with the sledge - hammer punch, defends his heavyweight title for the first time against the man he blastingly dethroned, Jersey Joe Walcott, at the Chicago Stadium Friday night.

The 15-round match, postponed from April 10 because of injury to Marciano's nose, will be telecast nationally, with the Chicago and Milwaukee areas cut out to help push the gate towards a potential $637,000 gross. Another $250,000 will come from TV rights.

The bout will be broadcast locally as well as nationally.

It appears certain the former record indoor gate of $422,918, also set at the stadium, will be broken. The record was set July 18, 1947, when Rocky Graziano knocked out Tony Zale in the sixth round to regain the world middleweight title.

Just about half of the 20,000 seats in the stadium, which the sponsoring International Boxing Club describes the world's largest indoor arena, have been tagged as $50 "ringside." Other seats are scaled from $30 down to $5.

Walcott, the man who turned back the clock in boxing, currently is a 3 to 1 underdog in his quest to become the first man ever to recapture the game's premiere championships.

The 39-year-old Camden, N. J., pappy of six children was giving 28 - year - old Marciano a good whacking through 12 rounds of one of the most thrilling heavyweight bouts in years at Philadelphia last Sept. 23.

But suddenly the sturdy-legged Italian from Brockton, Mass., rocketed a paralyzing right to the jaw which sagged Walcott into oblivion against the ropes in 43 seconds of the 13th round.

Ever since February, the two principals have been preparing industriously for their re-match, excepting the early April respite when two small blood vessels in Marciano's nose were ruptured and the bout was postponed five weeks.

The nose has been pronounced completely healed, but Marciano —publicly, at least — never has tested it in sparring sessions, instead wearing an ungainly headgear with large horns extending over his beak.

This will be the 44th professional fight without defeat for Marciano, who has scored 38 knockouts and he hasn't been held to a decision since he won a 10-rounder from one Red Applegate at Providence April 30, 1951.

After that fight, Marciano quickly moved into the big time, flattening Rex Layne, Freddie Beshore, ex-champion Joe Louis, Lee Savold, Gino Buonvino, Bernie Reynolds and Harry Matthews before his title chance came against Walcott.

His Philadelphia scorcher against Walcott was a throw-back to the pre-radio and television days of the brutal Dempsey-Firpo classic.

But canny Walcott, a master boxer, may not choose to stand up to the mauling, brawling Marciano this time. Jersey Joe knocked Marciano down with a left hook in the first round and nearly caved in his side with another whistling left in the 11th. But Rocky kept coming.

Some say Walcott spent his wad in the 12th round and the Marciano camp at Holland, Mich., contends that as early as the 10th round, Jersey Joe began shuffling backwards after wading in disdainfully before that.

Inks Grid Contract With Baltimore 11

BALTIMORE, May 9 (AP)—Bill Athey, 215-pound defensive guard from Baylor University, has sent in a signed contract, the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League announced today.

Athey was rated a top performer in the Southwest Conference last season. He was the Colts seventh draft choice and 39th player to sign.

SLI's Doran President Of Gulf States Circuit

RUSTON, La., May 9 (AP) —The Gulf States Conference re-elected Brig. Gen. Charles C. Doran of Southwestern Louisiana Institute today to serve his second term as president of the seven-member college athletic conference.

Also elected were Harry Turpin, Northwestern State, vice president; and R. J. Cambre, secretary-treasurer. New members elected to the executive committee for one year terms were Joe Aillet, Louisiana Tech, and Cliff Johnson, McNeese State.

The conference awarded trophies to champions in football, basketball, tennis and golf. Identical football trophies went to SLI, Tech and Southeastern Louisiana, who finished in a three-way tie.

Coach Raymond Didier of SLI received the conference's football "Coach of the Year" award. Tech won the basketball trophy, McNeese the tennis and Tech golf.

Committees on the various sports reported to the conference on routine business, largely standardization of equipment and facilities.

The conference also approved the action of its executive committee which ejected Centenary for eligibility violations and accepted the resignation of Spring Hill, both at a winter meeting. Spring Hill resigned effective at the close of last basketball season because of a new conference rule requiring all schools to field football teams.

Jockey's Arm Broken In Garden State Fall

CAMDEN, N. J., May 9 (AP) — Jockey Sammy Boulmetis suffered a broken left arm that will sideline him for some time when his mount, Jame's Beauty, stumbled and fell in the first race today at Garden State Park.

Boulmetis was contending for the lead when the accident happened at the turn. As the horse fell, Boulmetis was thrown into the path of the onrushing pack.

He was given first aid at the track dispensary and then taken to Cooper Hospital. Up to the accident, he was third-ranking rider in victories for the current Garden State meeting.

Bill Boat Races At Sicily Island Sunday, May 24

SICILY ISLAND, La., May 9—(Special) Boat racing will be featured on Lake Louie, near here, Sunday, May 24, as the Sicily Island Rotary Club presents its event for inboards, outboards, and utility stock boats with the sanction of the American Power Boat Association.

The races begin at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and continue through 5:30.

The schedule of events has been announced as follows:

5:10—Inboard free-for-all, hydroplanes.

Two heats of the 266 cubic-inch inboard hydroplanes will also be run if four or more boats start. The record for this class is 122.879 miles per hour.

The gate to Lake Louie will be closed at 5 a.m. May 24, and all persons entered will be charged boat racing entrance fees of $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Fishermen leaving the lake before 10 a.m. will have their money refunded, but they will be charged as they enter the gate.

A. B. Chisum is chairman of the racing program. C. E. Snright, Sr. will be official timer. B. K. Miller will be pit manager. Edgar Garrison and W. B. Taliaferro will serve as engineers. Other officials will be furnished by the APBA.

It is estimated that added U. S. population by 1975 will require 20 million more hogs, 10 million more cattle, and 3.5 more sheep and lambs.

Extend Opening For Softball Leagues Of City

Softball leagues of Monroe will be a week later starting their schedules this season, according to Jack Hesketh, Monroe recreation director, who said all clubs desired the extra week of practice before beginning play.

The City and Church Leagues are still open for additional teams, but the entry deadline is next Saturday at noon.

Entries are also being taken for the Midget League for boys 13 years old and under, the Junior League for boys 15 and under, and the Senior League for boys 18 and under. These three leagues are to begin play the week of May 25, and all teams must be entered not later than May 23.

Baby Blimp, Girl Wrestlers Show On Kallio's Card

A double main event, featuring women wrestlers and an appearance of the "Baby Blimp," will head the mat program at Gus Kallio's Arena here Tuesday night.

Barbara Baker, a winner on women's cards here the last couple of weeks, will return for a meeting with Frances Minor, a newcomer to the southern circuit, who will be making her first date at Kallio's Arena.

Baby Blimp, a 325-pound tussler from Tennessee's Great Smoky Mountains, has been paired for a match with Joe Corbett, San Francisco.

The newest Blimp, according to Kallio, is a faster moving battler with more wrestling style than the huger "Human Blimp" who has been starred before on Kallio cards.

"The Baby Blimp is touring the country, meeting all comers," Kallio said, "and I feel he will prove a good show here."

Jackson's Maroney Top Batter In Cotton Loop

By J. P. FRIEND

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., May 9 (Special)—A former GI with overseas service has taken over the batting leadership of the Cotton States League for the second week.

Jack Maroney, Jackson second baseman, climbed into the driver's seat by hitting safely in 11 of his first 12 games, during which he amassed 21 hits in 47 times at bat for .447. He also has the most triples, four.

The Senator rookie had a 10-game consecutive skein working until he stuck his head in the horse collar during the first game of the twin bill with Monroe Tuesday night, when the week's records closed. But he got back into the groove with a single and double in the nightcap.

Hal Martin, Hot Springs outfielder, who has been the talk of the circuit most of the young season, picked up 37 points with a 27-13 plate chart for the seven games, and is clicking right at the heels of the pace setter with .444. The Bather slugger has the most hits, 24, and runs, 21, leads in home runs, seven, most total bases, 49, and tht most runs batted in, 21, which should cause more anguish in the Greenville camp. Martin originally signed to lead the Bucks but tossed in the towel before the season started and inked a contract with Hot Springs.

Ray Rogers, Monroe catcher and the campaign's first batting leader, was able to collect only three singles in 12 trips to the plate that deflated his average from .526 to 419, and third place rating.

In fourth position is Pine Bluff's kelstoner, Jack Landis, with .405, a drop of 95 decimals. Marland (Duke) Doolittle, Jackson manager, broke out with base hit rash to hoist his record 27 points to .373 and land in fifth place.

Ken Robinett, another reason for Pine Bluff's lofty perch in the standings, heads the second division of hitters with .367, a gain of 16. An infield Judge mate, Merrill Smith, is not far off the pace at .362, followed by Bill Mullineaux, Meridian first baseman, who went from .292 to .359 in four games; Dick Monkman, Jackson third baseman, who has reached the dozen mark in straight games batted in, picking up 36 points in process to .357, the same figure sported by Hot Springs' John Trucks.

Others with outstanding mace marks include: Wayne Tucker, Natchez pilot, .346; Vern Shetler, Hot Springs leader, .333; Pel Austin, El Dorado .333; Bobby Scott, El Dorado, .333; George Ruzina, Natchez, .333, and Don Russell, El Dorado, .333. Louie Schaufele, Jackson, former University of Arkansas punting star, leads in doubles, 7, while batting .326.

Marv (Hoppy) Hatcher, Monroe returnee, author of a no-hitter and within one hit of another in '52, shares the pitching top rung with a rookie, John Paul Jones, of Jackson, each with three wins and no defeats. Five others have 2-0 records: Frank Callahan, Bill Hobbs and Glenn Van Poyen, all of Pine Bluff, Al Ronay, Hot Springs newcomer, and Milt Ardrey, El Dorado. Hobbs and Ardrey hurled shut-outs, along with Roy Jaynes, Natchez, and Bobby Harrison, Meridian, who also has racked up a trio of wins, but has suffered a singlt defeat, his first start. All four have been complete games. Bobby is the strikeout king with 36 in as many innings. Tom Pollett, Greenville; Hugh Blanton, Monroe, and Nels Campver, Hot Springs, boast 2-1. Hal Renn, Jackson, has broken even in four decisions, to complete the list of two-game winners.

Monroe holds a monopoly on the club records. The Sports have a batting record of .286, less than a point ahead of Hot Springs in second place. Messers Charles Harrington 1 Co., have a seven point spread over Meridian in fielding at .967.

Cardinals Promote Farm Club Official

ST. LOUIS, May 9 (AP)—August A. Busch, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, today announced the promotion of A. L. Banister, Cardinal farm club president, as coordinator of the club's real estate holdings.

Banister, president of the Columbus, O., Red Birds, will supervise maintenance of the parent club's minor league parks and the $400,000 rehabilitation program now under way at Busch Stadium, the Cardinals' home park.

Bernice Prepares For Big 8 Loop's 6-Club Campaign

BERNICE, May 9 Special) — First game of the year for the Bernice Big Eight League team will be an exhibition contest at Homer Monday night. This will be followed by another exhibition with Farmerville here Thursday.

The regular season will open for Bernice at Homer May 26 and the first home game will be against Bastrop May 28.

Home games will be played on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday night. There will be only six teams in the league this year. They are Bernice, Ruston, Minden, Farmerville, Homer and Bastrop. However, the league is expected to be back to full strength with eight teams next season.

After three weeks of workouts, the Bernice roster is still incomplete, but the following players have been signed:

Infield — Billy Till, Bernice; Jimmy Parker, Pine Bluff, Ark.; Simon Pearson, Bernice; Jelly Norris, Dubach; Tyrus Pendergrass, Dubach; Dendy Elliott, Bernice.

Seventeen home games will be played this season and season tickets are on sale by the Lions club at $9 for adults and $3.50 for students. Single game tickets will be 60 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

BRAVES OPTION OUTFIELDER

MILWAUKEE, May 9 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves today sent outfielder Luis Marquez to their Toledo farm club in the American Association on a 24-hour recall basis. Marquez, a Puerto Rican, hit .345 for the Milwaukee Brewers in the Association last season.

Wolves come down from the mountains of Italy in winter to kill sheep and some have been reported in the suburbs of Rome.

Jena Firm Gets School Contract For Gas Supply

JONESVILLE (Special) — The Catahoula Parish School board, after considerable discussion over the three bids submitted, awarded Andrews and Tarver of Jena a contract to supply butane gas to parish schools at 9.7 cents per gallong.

General Gas of Ferriday made a bid of 13 cents per gallon, plus tax, with a one cent discount if paid by the 10th of the following month. A. R. Blossman of Natchez, represented in Jonesville by Ben Bradford, bid 10 cents per gallon.

An alternate bid of 11 cents per gallon was submitted by General Gas with the provision that the school board should supply a storage tank located at Harrisonburg from which the trucks could be filled.

All of the schools in the parish except Block and Sicily Island are now using butane, which is being furnished by different companies at the rate of 12 cents per gallon. The school board advertised for bids on the job because the members felt that better and cheaper service could be obtained if they were under contract with just one company.

Horseshoe Lake Has Oil Field As New Outlook

JONESVILLE, (Special) — Billups Petroleum Company of Greenwood, Miss., has discovered a new oil field with its B. D. King et al, No. 1 near Horseshoe lake in Concordia parish.

The discovery well was brought in this week from 14 feet of sand between 5,310 and 5,324 feet in depth. It is located about a quarter of a mile east of the Stacy highway and about ¾ mile north of Horseshoe lake. Tubing pressure was reported as 750 pounds salt water, according to Dr. B. D. King of Harrisonburg.

Drilling was done for Billups by Brown & Vassar on a farm-out assignment of 80 acres from the Carter Oil company, owner of the King lease. H. L. Hunt, with a nearby lease, and Carter each pledged dry hole money for the test. The deal was worked up by Gulmon and Johns, Natchez geologists.

Although in the Wilcox formation, the sand discovered by the King well is reportedly a different one from those producing in the nearby Lismore Landing and Ross Bayou fields. The oil is expected to be about 45 gravity, Dr. King and there was no indication of any said.

Production Tests Assures Excellent Discovery Well

FERRIDAY (Special) — Billups Brothers, Greenwood, Miss., and New Orleans, La., and Dalton Brown, Natchez, Miss., were assured of an excellent discovery well Monday as a result of production tests on the B. D. King et al well No. 1, Concordia Parish wildcat.

An eight hour test indicated the well to be flowing 130 barrels of 39 gravity oil per day through a 7-64 inch choke with 725 inch tubing pressure.

The No. 1 King well is located on a farm out from the Carter Oil Company, secured by Gulmon and Johns Petroleum Engineers and geologists of Natchez, Miss. Mr. Gulmon assigned the acreage less an override to Billups Brothers Vasser and Brown. The wildcat discovery is in the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of Section 1, Township 6 North, Range 7, east of Concordia Parish, La., and is three quarters of a mile northeast of Cocodrie Lake Horseshoe Lake. Nearest producing is two and a half mile to the southwest. The producing sand opens a new horizon in the area, and will probably be called the King Sand.

Schlumberger electrical survey logged fourteen feet of oil sand last week from 5310 to 5324, no water level. Production casing was set last Friday and perforated early Monday from 5310 to 5315 with six shots per foot. Drill stem test followed with packer set at 5284 feet ⅜ inch choke was used on the testing tool. An immediate good blow was recorded with the 1000 foot water cushion reaching the surface in thirteen minutes. Oil reached the surface in 35 minutes and flowed to the pits for eight hours at the rate of 130 barrels per day. Gravity was recorded as 39 degrees, and flowing tubing pressure as 725 pounds throughout the test. No water was produced.

Seven GIs Hurt In Bus Mishap

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 9—UP—Five buses carrying 200 soldiers on the way home from an atomic test at Frenchman Flat collided 15 miles north of here Saturday when they pulled over to permit passage of the Army's two atomic cannons.

Seven persons were hospitalized. The other passengers and drivers were described as "only shaken up."

The accident occurred on U.S. 95 when the bus convoy met a northbound convoy hauling the atomic cannons to the Atomic Energy Commission proving ground.

Each bus carried approximately 40 GIs, who were on their way here to board planes and trains for the trip to their home bases after taking part in Friday's atomic test.

Mothers throughout the nation receive their best love today in the form of token remembrances from daughters and sons. Mother's Day has become a favorite family occasion in America, having received official recognition from Congress in May, 1914. In observance of a much-deserved honor, we dedicate our page to mothers of the Twin Cities.

Review Club Holds Open Meeting At Country Club

On Friday the Bayou DeSiard Country Club was the scene of the annual open meeting of the Review Club. In the foyer decorated with gay May baskets of mixed spring flowers, the hostesses, Mrs. Sam Smith, Mrs. A. T. Givens, Mrs. John Noel, and Mrs. Jamar Adcock greeted the guests.

Mrs. W. L. Mitchell, Jr., president of the Review Club, welcomed guests and announced the program for the afternoon. In this sesquicentenial year of the Louisiana Purchase when all things Louisianian are approached with renewed interest the program was most appropriately concerned with a phase in the cultural development of our state — that of the golden age of the New Orleans theatre.

In keeping with the spirit of the program and reminding listeners of the time when New Orleans was the operatic center of the United States, Miss Gertrude Sandrock accompanied by Mrs. Eloise Stanhope sang two operatic arias — "Voi Chi Sapete" and "Diche, Theure Halle."

Mrs. Mitchell then presented another artist who knows and loves both New Orleans and the theatre, Mr. Stocker Fontelieu, the director of the Monroe Little Theatre. Mr. Fontelieu reviewed John S. Kendall's "The Golden Age of the New Orleans Theatre."

Mr. Fontelieu gave a very colorful and entertaining description of the old New Orleans theatres, accounts of the persons who performed in these theatres and of those who contributed to the growth and development of the drama in New Orleans.

Following the review, guests enjoyed conversational hour. Mrs. John P. Noel, the new president of the Review Club presided over the punch and other members passed confections.

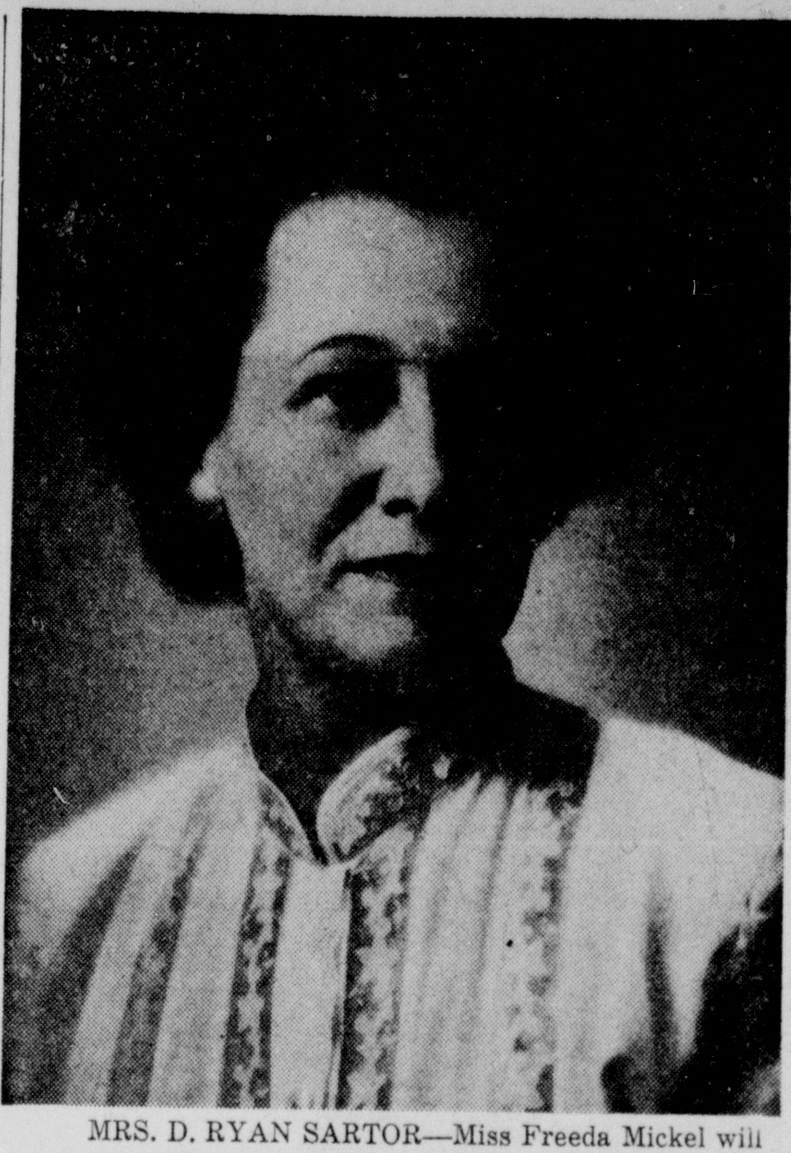
Mrs. Sartor Will Show Sketches Friday Night

Mrs. Sartor and her water color sketches will be introduced to lovers of art in the home of Miss Freeda Mickel on Friday evening, May 15th — from seven until nine. Mrs. Sartor makes her home in Alto, and has many friends throughout this section of Louisiana who will be interested in this excellent display of her art. She was born in Clinton, La., educated at Clinton High School and Silliman College and graduated, with honors, from Northwestern College at Natchitoches, La., majoring in music and art. After finishing at Northwestern, she was a member of the faculty in the arts department, afterwards teaching school in Richland and LaFourche parishes. Mrs. Sartor is the mother of two children — Dr. Diane Sartor Goggans of Fort Worth, Tex. and D. Ryan Sartor. Jr., a law student at Tulane University.

One does not view Mrs. Sartor's sketches without realizing that she has spent many days studying plantation life and the habits and interests of the Negro mammy. In fact, many of her sketches depict the "interesting moments" of one particular mammy whose days have been spent on the Sartor plantation. The folklore of these interesting people is artistically illustrated in these water color sketches . . . "the wash bench" "Toting home the wash," etc. Mrs. Sartor has many bird sketches from Audubon and Menaboin, besides many originals sketched from her observations and studies. In her water color sketches on flowers, Mrs. Sartor again shows her artistic ability in sketching iris, camellias, hibiscus, tulips and many other blossoms.



MRS. D. RYAN SARTOR—Miss Freeda Mickel will introduce Mrs. Sartor to lovers of art in her home on Friday evening from seven until nine o'clock.

Magnolia Study Club Meets With Mrs. Fuller

The Magnolia Study Club met with Mrs. Robert Fuller last week. Mrs. Joe. F. Smith was co-hostess. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Fred Tucker, president. The pledge of allegiance to the flag was given and the club collect read in unison.

Mrs. Myrna Rickerson gave an interesting devotional, "Am I My Brothers Keeper." After the business meeting was over Mrs. C. C. Lucky, acting as program chairman, introduced Miss Julia Wossman who gave a most interesting talk on the United Nations Charter. She said: The charter of the U. N. written in San Francisco in 1945 obligated all member nations to cooperate in constructing a prosperous world economy and in establishing the human rights of all people. The original members, the states that participated in the U. N. conference at San Francisco and signed the agreement, were 51 states of the 68 independent states of the world. Representing ⅞ of the world's population. Membership is open to all peace loving states willing and able to accept obligations contained in the charter.

After the meeting adjourned, Mrs. Dean Selig entertained the members with several piano selections. Ronny Fuller, the young son of the hostess also played his favorite selections.

Mrs. Fuller and Mrs. Smith served delicious refreshments to Mrs. Alene Banister, Mrs. Milton Ford, Mrs. Ed Hislop, Jr., Mrs. Tom Leos, Mrs. C. C. Lucky, Mrs. R. P. McKay, Mrs. Frank Reitzell, Mrs. Fred Tucker, Mrs. Myrna Rickerson, Mrs. R. N. Dozier, Mrs. Ralph Miller. Mrs. Dean Selig and Miss Julia Wossman.

An automatic clothes dryer will fluff pillows up well. A five to 10-minute tumble on high heat does the trick.

Madison Parish Teachers Honor Mr. James R. Linton

TALLULAH—Over a hundred teachers of Madison parish and their guests assembled at a banquet Thursday night to honor their beloved and revered superintendent, James R. Linton, who will retire at the end of the session after 41 years of continuous service. The banquet was held in the spacious ballroom of the Community Club, which had been elaborately decorated with a profusion of spring flowers. The four long tables with white covers held tall white candles in crystal holders placed in groups of three, interspersed with bouquets of colorful blossoms, while sprays of white deutzia extended the entire length of the center of each table.

The place cards were miniature replicas of old - fashioned school slates with red cord borders on which the names were inscribed with white ink. At each place was a ridiculous party hat made to resemble the traditional dunce cap, the honor guest's hat designated as that of the wise old owl.

Mrs. Helen Y. Yerger, president of the Madison Parish Education Association, presided and following the blessing by Rev. J. H. Hamilton, offered a toast to Mr. Linton.

At the conclusion of the delectable repast, Mrs. Harold J. Smith, chairman of the program committee, presented the following numbers: saxophone solos "The Lord's Prayer" and "Ave Maria" by Quincy Hargis; piano solo, medley of well - known songs, by Miss M. Jean Burkhalter; solo on French horn "In the Garden" by Miss Joan Bandy and medley of Scottish tunes; a vocal trio by Miss Beryl DeLoach, Mrs. Devonne Payne, and Mrs. R. G. Waugh, "Juanita" and "Some Folks Do" by Stephen Foster; reading "Boy to the Schoolmaster" by E. J. Wheeler, by Mrs. Louis Buckner; piano duet by Mrs. Harold Smith and Mrs. W. B. Adams, "Body and Soul" and "Doll Dance." The entire assembly then joined in singing old - time familiar songs.

Mrs. A. M. Eisely, elementary supervisor, who has worked with Mr. Linton for a number of years, gave a short talk in a humorous vein and presented the honor guest with a souvenir booklet made in the form of a double slate, the cover bearing a caricature of Mr. Linton in front of a country school weilding a big stick. The booklet contained a drawing of the first school in which Mr. Linton taught when he came to Madison Parish in 1910 and a list of all the teachers who have taught in the parish during his tenure of office. There were also pages for autographs of the guests.

M. A. Phillips, superintendent - elect, then gave a short sketch of Mr. Linton's life and made the presentation of the gift of a handsome desk from the teachers of the parish. Mr. Linton expressed deep appreciation for the honor and the gift and requested cooperation with his successor.

June Wedding Is Set For Miss Barron

FARMERVILLE — Mr. and Mrs. William Edwin Barron of Friendship announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Marjorie, to James H. Bradley, son of Mrs. Annie Mae Bradley, of Ruston.

The wedding will be solemnized at the Friendship Baptist Church on June 6 at 5:00 p.m. Rev. Carlus Rockett will read the wedding vows.

Tensas Garden Club Has Big Flower Show

ST. JOSEPH — The Tensas Garden Club staged its annual flower show on Thursday from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m., at the St. Joseph Community House.

The theme "Lakeside Vistas" was artistically carried out throughout the whole show. Arrangements of floral displays depicted the beauty and relaxation to be found along the bow-shaped banks of Lake Bruen.

Mrs. Oliver Berry was awarded the tri-color ribbons for her distinctive exhibit in the arrangement division; her arrangement represented "Sunset" — a table for a barbecue and accessories. In the section B arrangements, the Tri-color ribbons were awarded to Mrs. George Bagley on her interpretation of "Skiing on Bruen." Miss Marion Curry was awarded the tri-color ribbons for tall bearded iris. A fourth winner of the tri-color ribbons was in the junior division and went to Lynn Parks for her exhibit on "Wild Life."

Sweepstakes honor — for the most blue ribbons — resulted in a tie and shared by Mrs. Oliver Berry and Mrs. Jos. Whitaker.

Judges for the show were Mrs. J. M. Pirkle, Mrs. R. L. Vining, and Mrs. E. R. Hayes. all from Ruston, La. More than 200 guests registered in the guest book, with visitors from Newellton, Waterproof and from Mississippi.

WIN HONORS — Outstanding music students of Mrs. E. Everett Lawson who won national and international honors in the National Guild of Piano Teachers annual spring auditions. Geraldine Weir won International Certificate and High School Diploma with a 15-piece memorization program. Nine-year-old Ouida Diane McGee won National honors with ten-piece memorized program, and Janice Strong attained International Certificate with 15-piece memorized repertoire.

Three Outstanding Music Pupils Win Honors Here

Three outstanding music students of Mrs. E. Everett Lawson won top ratings in the recent National Guild of Piano Teachers annual spring Piano Playing Auditions held here last week. Ouida Diane McGee, Janice Strong and Geraldine Weir, all members of the National Fraternity of Student Musicians, received High and Highest ratings granted by the Guild.

Ouida Diane McGee, nine-year-old entrant who offered a repertoire of ten memorized compositions, won National honors and a percentage grade of 96 percent. Janice Strong, an advanced student active in numerous prominent musical organizations, won International honors with a 15-piece memorization program. She achieved a percentage grade of 99 plus. Geraldine Weir also rated a percentage grade of 99 plus, and international honors with a 15-piece memorized repertoire of advanced compositions. In addition, she was a High School Diploma winner, which is issued by the Guild to students who are High School Seniors. An exacting program is required and a high percentage score must be achieved by High School Diploma entrants.

All three students, prominent in school, church and club activities are outstanding in their year round application to their musical studies. Entering the Guild Auditions each year and attaining the high goals set by the Guild, added comments by the judges are: "highly gifted, of high ability, and exceptionally talented . . . splendidly prepared. Should go far."

Geraldine Weir, a member of the 1953 senior class of Ouachita Parish High School, is pianist for McGuire Methodist Church, and was an accompanist for Ouachita Parish High School Choir and the Ensemble last year. This year she is a member of the Ensemble; and was chosen to go to Pelican Girls State. She holds membership in the Rainbow Girls, Y-Teens, and Delta Kappa Pe.

Girl Scout News

This is the time of year for fly-ups for afternoons and Saturdays at camp, for overnights at Pine Wood and at other selected spots, for plans for summer activities. Things happen fast this time of year when everybody is trying to get outdoors.

First, we think you like to hear about the pioneer camp which 10 girls of Troop 14 held for two nights recently. With the cooperation of a friend of Scouting the girls were able to use a hillside near a lake, where they had complete privacy and plenty of shade.

Mrs. Robert Easterling and Mrs. Richard Pierce, who accompanied the girls, report that the girls set up camp ship shape, with sleeping, kitchen and dining areas well defined. The girls all slept as snug as could be in their sleeping bags and under mosquito nets.

For cooking they tried one trick we haven't heard of in Scouting circles lately. That is, beanhole cooking. No, you don't, as one girl thought, throw beans in a hole and build a fire over them. These girls didn't cook beans, anyway, so maybe we should call it a ham hole.

Anyway, they dug a hole, lined it with bricks and built a fire in it. When the fire burned to coals, they raked out the coals, placed a dutch oven with ham, sliced potatoes and onion, in the hole, shoveled the hot coals on top, and put the dirt over the coals. That meant no danger of fire spreading, or of girls stepping on hot coals. Yes, they wired the lid on the iron pot, so no dirt would get in.

When the girls dug up the dutch oven for their evening meal, they found the food delicious. Afterward, being good campers, they buried garbage in the hole, put the dirt back in and finally covered the spot with the leaves which they had raked away to start with.

They seem to be getting to be old hands at reflector cooking, so we are not surprised to hear that their cobbler turned out well.

Six members of Troop 14 are working on photography instead of pioneering. We'll have to find out just what they are doing. The ten pioneers who had such a wonderful week - end are: Brigette Cymbol, Betty Hemphill, Jackie Masur, Ann McDonald, Carol Miller, Peggy Pierce, King Trousdale, Sally Ryan, Jo Ann Usrey, and Susan Wilson.

As a prepartion for wider experiences in the out of door field, Troop 7 recently had an enjoyable cookout in Mrs. Fairchild's yard. Growing girls are always interested in food, and somehow it tastes better when they cook it themselves, and out of doors, too.

Troop 7 also went on a visit to the telephone office as a part of their work in the Community Life Field. The girls were interested in the works, but especially the device that gives us the time when we call 6121.

The Girl Planning Board in its last regular meeting of the year decided that they would like to have an overnight at Pinewood on May 27 as their concluding activity. The group to plan details will meet at the office after school on May 20, and all permission blanks must be in the office on or before May 25. A check with the office reveals that some eager beavers already have their turned in.

Just what did the Girl Scouts do before they had Pine Wood? You know the answer; they just didn't have all the camping program that they now enjoy.

When buying lingerie, check on workmanship of shoulder straps and other details. Inquire whether trimmings, such as lace, are in the same fabric as the body of the garment. If the latter is nylon, the garment lasts much longer when all trimmings are nylon.

Civic Orchestra Gives Concert This Afternoon

The program to be presented by the Symphony Orchestra in concert this afternoon at 4:30 p.m., at Brown auditorium, Northeast Louisiana State College, will be as follows:

"Komm Susser Tod" (Come, Sweet Death) — J. S. Bach. Composed by Bach about 1736, this poignant melody which is sacred in character, is enhanced in this modern symphonic transcription by Leopold Stokowski.

"Lohengrin" — Prelude to Act III—Wagner. This exciting music, familiar to all concert-goers, never fails to excite admiration and enthusiasm for the powerful effectiveness of Wagner's writing. This orchestral prelude serves to introduce the festive atmosphere of the third act of the opera.

"Academic Festival Overture"—Brahms. Written in 1880, in appreciation of a doctor's degree conferred on Brahms by the University of Breslau in 1879, this overture is based on several well known German student songs. Though resembling a medley after the fashion of the writing of von Suppe, the music is for the most part in typical Bhahms style.

"Waltzes from Der Rosenkavalier" — Strauss. The waltzes from Richard Strauss's opera have been so popular and are such ingratiating music, that numerous orchestral settings have been made, this one by Roy Douglas.

"Symphony No. 7 in C Major"—Schubert. Considered by many authorities to be Schubert's greatest work, the C major symphony is a masterpiece of musical form and structure. Despite its almost excessive length, the appealing themes and their varied treatment serve to maintain interest throughout.

There Is A Need For Gray Ladies

To approximately 185 persons in Monroe's five homes for the aged, a visit each week from the Gray Ladies represents a bright spot in an otherwise uneventful existence.

Who are the Gray Ladies? They are Red Cross Volunteers who give their service once a week to one of the five homes in Monroe, doing something to add to their personal comfort and happiness. They write letters, walk the blind, do personal shopping, provide transportation for guests to visit their doctor or hospital, or help them do their own personal shopping, provide magazines and church literature according to their faith, read to those unable to read, take ambulatory guests for rides, plan entertainment for them such as bingo parties, movies, and birthdays are always remembered with cakes, etc. In these and many others, the Gray Ladies bring sunshine to these homes.

We are in need of additional Gray Ladies and on Wednesday, May 13th and Thursday, May 14th, at 9:00 o'clock at the Red Cross rooms, classes will be conducted for women interested in Gray Lady service. If you are interested in becoming a Gray Lady call the Red Cross office, 3-5141 and make your application. You will be greatly rewarded for the time given to this work, as you feel you have given a little cheer and comfort to someone who otherwise would not have had this pleasure.

Methodist Church Setting For Vows Of Patricia Gore

Sunday, April 26, was the wedding day of Miss Patricia May Gore and Rapp Wallace Crook, III, whose nuptials were solemnized at the Lake Providence First Methodist Church at 4 p.m. The Rev. Thomas Major Lancaster, officiated at the ritualistic double ring ceremony. Miss Gore is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kensie Gore of Lake Providence, and Mr. Crook is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rapp Wallace Crook, Jr., of Yazoo City, Miss.

Vows were spoken in front of an altar decorated in baskets of white gladiola and fern interspersing wrought iron, ivy ertwined, graduated candelabra. The twin chancel rails were also veiled in ivy and repeated in the windows of the church.

Candles were lighted by Hayes Bardwell and Wilson Henick, both of Yazoo City, Miss., who, with Fred Turner, III, Cleveland, Miss., and Clinton E. Wallace, New Orleans, showed the guests to their places. As they did so, Mrs. Herman Schwartz played incidental music on the organ and later accompanied Miss Tommie Sue Proctor, vocalist, who sang "I Love You Truly," and "Through the Years."

The bride's attendants were Miss Inez Denton, Jackson, Miss., maid of honor, and Miss Allein Harkey, Mrs. Leonard Kennedy, Mrs. William M. Knobles, all of Lake Providence, and Miss Elizabeth Head, Carruthersville, Mo., the bridesmaids. All were dressed in pale blue nylon tulle over taffeta and carried old fashioned bouquets of rose pink asters mixed with matching shades of maline.

Mr. Rapp Wallace Crook, Jr., Yazoo City, Miss., served his son as best man.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her lovely wedding gown was of white Chantilly lace over slipper satin. Over the fitted bodice was worn a bolero with Peter Pan collar. The tapering, wrist length sleeves, were fitted at the wrist with self covered buttons. Fronting the bouffant skirt was an inset of ruffled nylon tulle, framed by the deep scallops of the lace skirt. Her veil was of the halo type in snow white illusion and fell mistily about her shoulders and down to her fingertips from a dress matching lace calot, edged in Italian ruffled tulle. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids.

Reception

Immediately after the wedding a reception was held at the Legion home on Bayou Tensas. Mrs. C. R. Evans greeted the guests at the door. Mrs. Sim S. Folk, Tallulah, La., invited the guests to register in the guest book. Mrs. Arnold Rosensweig and Mrs. Catherine H. Richards extended the courtesies of the home.

Mrs. S. A. Holt, Oak Grove, La., sliced and served the brides' cake, assisted by Mrs. Eugene Benoist of Natchez, Miss., Miss Katherine Pittman and Miss Virginia Hider, both of Lake Providence. At a separate table Mrs. Lyle Cormack, Little Rock, Ark., served the punch.

For the wedding trip to the Ozarks the bride changed to a navy blue wool gabardine suit, with navy accessories, and shoulder corsage of orchids from her bridal bouquet.

From Yazoo City, Miss., there were Mr. and Mrs. Rapp Wallace Crook, Jr., Mrs. L. E. Lester, Bob Lester, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hendricks, Mrs. Pauline Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Henicks, Miss Love Henicks, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Dwaine Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Anderson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Young Westl from Tallulah, Mr. and Mrs. Jim S. Folk, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Fowler; from Ferriday, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Gore; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene N. Benoist, Natchez, Miss., Mrs. E. V. Denton, Coffeeville, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gore, Jr., Clarksdale, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Harris, Mrs. Harvey E. Moore, W. E. Walton, all of Arkadelphia, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Wyat, Jonesboro; Mrs. H. O. Strohecker, Columbus, S. C., and Charles Burnham, Jackson, Miss.

Versatile Trousseau In Cotton

NEW YORK (NEA)— The trousseau in cotton is one that is lovely to look at, cool to wear and simple to launder. It can be frothy with lace and ruffles, simple and tailored or an expert combination of both.

This year's bridal gowns are distinguished by masses of sheer foam. This foam includes cotton, taking in the permanent-finish transparent organdies.

Cotton can be very formal. Even some of the organdies have trains, lavish embroidery or a hint of sequin dust hidden in flower trim or along ruffles.

Soft batiste from Switzerland makes gowns and peignoirs that are silky to the touch, frilly with lace ruffles, baby ribbons and insertion.

And cotton also takes care of the bride's going-away costume. Here, it appears trim and tailored and is cut into sheaths, pin-neat ensembles and travel suits. Its use extends to separates, playclothes, swimsuits, hats, bags and gloves.

Generally, there's indication of a return to the floor-length bridal gown. But youthful brides continue to cherish the waltz-length.

New summer bridal gowns often have trains, these to be removed when the wedding's over if the bride wants to wear her gown again. When worn, veils are often elbow length, very full and sheer.

There are four tests to make when deciding on the suitability of a soap or detergent: 1. It should dissolve instantly in water of whatever temperature you have selected. 2. It should never form a floating scum or sticky mass in water. 3. It should be strong enough to clean, but not strong enough to injure fabrics or skin. 4. You should not need to use more than 1½ cups per wash load.

La. Purchase Commemorated At Waterproof High School

On Thursday, April 30, 1953, the 150th anniversary of the Louisiana Purchase was observed in the Waterproof High School auditorium and under the direction of Mrs. L. O. Peters a splendid program was presented by the eight grade social science classes of the Newellton, St. Joseph and Waterproof Schools.

The state was appropiately decorated with magnolia blossoms and flags of the U. S. and Louisiana, together with drawings of the La. State Seal. The Louisiana flag and a map showing the territory purchased in 1803. These sketches were by Bobby Enterkin, Louis Jones and George Taylor of the 8th Grade of W. H. S.

After the invocation by Reverend Whitman Brett of the Loamland Baptist Church a short welcome address was given by Carol Robertson, following which Glynn Mallory acted as Master of Ceremonies.

The Exploration Period was exemplified in splendid papers on Columbus and DeSoto by Betty Clyde Ratcliff and Helen Hester Burnside of Newellton High School.

An original poem, "Louisiana is Sold", was read by Maury Pearson. In this she gave a very interesting account of DeSoto, of the explorers who followed him and of the sale of Louisiana to the U. S. by Napolean.

A young playwright, Sanford Wood wrote and directed a very clever 2-act skit, "The Purchase of La.". Act 1 showed the bargaining for the purchase and Act 11 the signing of the document for the entire Louisiana Territory. The cast included Jim Kitchen as Robert Livingston; Charles Beasley as James Monroe; Wayne Spruill as Francois Barbe Marbocs; LaVerne Thompson, the maid; James Wood, the hostler; David Bruno, Napoleon; Tommy Martly, Talleyrand.

A song "Down in Louisiana", written by Reverend Knox Poole and directed by the Waterproof group assisted in the chorus by all present from the other schools.

Statehood was the title of a short skit by W. H. S. in which the part of Julien Poydras was played by Mickey Mitchell; Etienne DeBore by Lanius Durbin; Emeline. The colored maid by Blanche Fletcher; and the messenger, Bobby Enterkin.

"Those We Honor" was a number introduced by Mary Jeannette Miller. They were briefly identified; LaSalle, by Elsie Andrews; Bienville By Catherine Seal; St. Denis by Lilly Trevillion ; Miro and Carondelet by Clydell Kennon; Etienne De Bore by Pauline Silman; W. C. C. Claiborne by Vera Trevillion; Dick Taylor Bobby Enterkin; Margaret Haughery by Lilly Trevillion; John James Audubon by Louis Jones; Huey Long by Betty Jean Goodfellow; and sheriff E. D. Coleman by Mary Jeannette Miller.

After a 15 minute intermission, Norma George from the stage asked for two volunteers from each school to join her as she gave a quiz entirely unrehearsed on questions taken from Louisiana History and Louisiana Resources. Responding to the call were Helen Hester Burnside and Ruby Walker of Newellton Glynn Mallory and Louis Jones of Waterproof, Joyce Melville and Sanford Wood of St. Joseph. Glynn Mallory won the award given for this contest.

In making a report on the natural resources of Louisiana Wilson Eads and Donald Green of Newellton chose Forests and Wild Life for their reports.

Another original poem was read by Marie Goodwin of St. Joseph. Following this was a short panel discussion on the Louisiana State Constitution, its good points, its errors, its duplication of materials and its contradictions as taken from "Readings and Material in Louisiana Government". Participating in this were Carol Robertson, Glynn Mallory, Joe Truman James, Mary Jeannette Miller, Lanice Durbin and Audrey Munson of Waterproof.

Then came a description of the Louisiana State Capitol by Anita Walker.

The program closed with the singing of the National Anthem by the entire assembly under the direction of Mrs. L. T. Collins. The benediction was said by Reverend Whitman Brett.

A delicious lunch was served in the school cafeteria by Mrs. Dave Goodfellow.

To remove grass stains from white cottons or linenes, rub heavy suds on stains with soft brush. Wash in hot suds. If stain remains, use chlorine bleach. Rinse well.

QUEEN OF MAY COURT — Barbara Ann Peters, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Peters, will reign as Queen of St. Paschal's Third Annual May Court. May Court Festivities will take place May 17 in the School gym on Wilson & Ninth Streets. Miss Peters will be escorted by Dick Soignier, the King of the May Court. Miss Peters, chosen Queen by a majority vote, was also voted most popular girl at St. Paschal's.

YWCA Activities

On Wednesday morning the Y-ves! Club met at the YWCA with Mrs. Bill Hochsteler presiding. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Carl Landers and Mrs. H. S. Trammell. Miss Jauanita Porter was the guest for the club program which was on "corsage making". Members and guests present were: Mrs. Ruby Trammell, Mrs. Mildred O'Brien, Mrs. Jean Dinkle, Mrs. LaVaughn Wegger, Mrs. Julie Gimler, Mrs. Sky Lenard, Mrs. Lillian Smith, Mrs. Cay Williams, Mrs. Mary Eason, Mrs. Lucille Potter, Mrs. Dot Perkins and her guest: Mrs. Jean Collier; Mrs. Frances Hochstetler, Mrs. Marian Acree, Mrs. Edna Bishop, Mrs. Margaret Johnson, Mrs. Kathleen Landers, Mrs. Dorothy Reinhardt, Mrs. Rena Troelyzsch, Mrs. Doris Spight, Mrs. B. L. Mulhern, and Miss Porter.

On Wednesday afternoon the Really Y's Club of Y-Teens entertained their mothers with a "special club meeting and program" in their honor. Ruby Dean, president of the club, presided at the meeting and welcomed the mothers. Gerry Lester accompanied at the piano the groups' singing the Y-Teen Song. Pat Worley gave the devotional. Sue Storey read a poem, "Mother Understands." Bonnie DeFee explained to the mothers the meaning of Y-Teens and what they do. Jeannette McDonald played a piano solo. Each girl introduced her mother. Miss Sharp discussed with the group the plans for the club party on Friday night. After the business refreshments were served by Martha Sugden, Frances Goza, and June Knight acting as hostesses. Mothers who were present were: Mrs. T. M. Fant and her guest, Mrs. Etta Babin; Mrs. Minnie DeFee; Mrs. J. W. Sugden; Mrs. Ruby Dean, Mrs. C. M. McQuinn; Mrs. George Knight, Mrs. Cecilia Coulter; Mrs. R. J. Goza; Mrs. A. R. Duke; and Mrs. W. J. McDonald.

The Business and Professional Girls' Club met on Thursday evening. Mr. Leon Hammonds entertained the club members with the beautiful pictures of the trip which he took to the Y's Men's International Convention in Banff, Canada. Miss Sharp gave the devotional for the meeting. Marion Simmons, chairman of the Arkansas-Monroe, Louisiana B. and P. Conference discussed the summer conference for employed girls, the Conference Bulletin, the time and place for the Week End Planning Conference. Plans for the next club meeting which will be Mother-Daughter Banquet were discussed. Annabelle Dozier was welcomed as a guest of the club.

The YWCA Board of Directors met on Thursday morning with Mrs. B. L. Mulhern, president, presiding. The board was privileged to have as their guest minister for the devotional, Reverend A. Waldrep Johnson, pastor of the Jackson Street Church of Christ. Reverend Johnson used verses from the fifth chapter of Galatians as the basis for his meditation and stressed the importance of the meditation being guiding principles for each day of living and for all days. Mrs. H. G. Thompson gave the financial report. Miss Jaunita Porter and Mrs. Hundley reported on the residence work and finances. A report on the "Open House", and the Statewide YWCA Conference was given to the board members. Since the last YWCA Board Meeting, there have been five new members to join and fourteen members to renew their membership. Several YWCA programs and projects were presented and discussed.

Reception Is Given For New Pastor Here

The social room of the College Place Baptist Church was the scene of a lovely reception last Sunday honoring the new pastor, Rev. T. Earl Ogg and Mrs. Ogg.

More than four hundred guests called during the appointed hours of 2:30 and 5 o'clock. In the receiving line with the pastor and his wife were Mr. Ogg's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. P. D. Walker. Rev. Walker is the pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in Lancaster, S. C.

Handsome arrangements of orchid stock and pink sweet peas centered the serving table. Green candles were also used on the table.

Students Win Honors In National Piano Auditions

Fern Lee Kirk, Sara Lou Hudson, Penny Prophit and Coralie Head, talented and accomplished piano students of Miss Clara Freiberg, have recently earned the "Highest" rating recognition in the National Piano Playing Auditions, sponsored and arranged annually by the National Guild of Piano Teachers in the United States. Dr. Helen Moore, Professor of Music at Rollins College in Winter Park, Florida, served as judge for the local auditions held in the recital room of Northeast State College April 27, 28, and 29. Dr. Moore praised the young musicians for "their exceptional ability" and their understanding of the classics. All entrants in these auditions are judged among many other points on their execution, interpretation, phrasing and tonal effects in the ten selections played from memory.

Coralie Heard is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. Jesse S. Heard of West Monroe. She is a student in the sixth grade of Millsaps Grammar School an is completing her fifth year of piano study, two of which were with Mrs. Raymond Spence and three with Miss Freiberg. She serves as accompanish for her school and Sunday School department.

Penny Prophit attends Neville High School, where she is a student in the eighth grade. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alston Prophit. She has studied piano for six years, all with Miss Freiberg as her instructor. She is accompanist for the Junior High Glee Center.

Sara Lou Hudson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hudson, is completing her eighth year of piano work with Miss Freiberg. She is a sophomore at Neville High School, and has been accompanist for Glee Club, solo, and band.

Fern Lee Kirk is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Kird. She is a Senior at Ouachita Parish High School, where she serves as accompanist for the Ouachita Choir. She has been a pupil of Miss Freiberg for the past eleven years and has won the praise of local audiences as well as having received many national awards. Fern Lee has worked toward the earning of a High School diploma in Music and will receive this highly-coveted symbol from the National Piano Guild on the night of the recital.

In addition to the winning of the National Piano Playing certificates of merit, Coralie, Penny and Sara Lou won first places in the International Recording Festival which they were privileged to enter as a result of their record earned in the 1952 auditions, only those receiving superior grades being eligible. They recorded locally the following numbers, Coralie Heard-Rondo C Major by Beethover and Tarantella by McDowell; Penny Prophit, Prelude in D Minor by Bach, Prelude in C Minor by Rachmaninoff and Romance by Sibelius; Sara Lou Hudson-Two-Part Inventon by Bach and Rondo (Capriccioso) by Mendelssohn. The recording was done by courtesy of Mr. Zeidmann, of KNOE.

At the annual recital of Miss Freiberg's students on May 18 in the auditorium of Northeast State College these four girls will be presented the gold pins and certificates which they earned in the auditions and the gold medallions which are awarded first place winnern in the recording festival.

Give Child Own Grooming Aids

If your little girl wavers between the extremes of an unkempt appearance and raids on your dressing table, one solution might be to make her a gift of her very own toiletries.

When she asks you to lend her a lipstick or perfume because she's going to a party, this might be a good time to bring out her own toiletry set. Or, instead of lecturing her for looking particularly untidy some day, bring out the gift and let it tell its own story.

There are toiletry sets made for the age groups between about nine and 13. One such set contains toilet water, dusting powder, bubble bath, hand lotion, a terry-cloth soap mitt, and lipstick.

The lipstick is the type that's orange in the tube and blushes a delicate rose on the lips. The scents are light and delicate. The packaging is intended to appeal to a child. Bottle tops are plastic daisies that can be removed to serve as hair ornaments which hold perfume.

A girl in this age group might be encouraged in her grooming if she had a dainty, small-size dressing table in her bedroom.

What do YOU want out of life?

NURSING offers them all . . . and, even more important, a deep emotional reward—the knowledge that you are helping to make the world a kinder one to be born in, a healthier one to live in.

As a Student Nurse you will receive a fine professional education—one which you may combine with college if you wish. After graduation you will find immediate employment at an excellent starting salary—in a hospital, health service, industry, or caring for private patients. Opportunities for advancement as an instructor, a supervisor, or as a specialist in a clinical field, are becoming available more rapidly than there are qualified nurses to fill these posts. Later, when you marry, your professional education will help make you a better wife and mother, a better member of your community.

Your professional skill will remain with you always. You may marry, raise your family, and return at any time to your profession, to an assured income, and the satisfaction that comes from serving humanity in the finest sense.

Roamin' In The Rural

The 22 Home Demonstration Clubs of Ouachita Parish joined with the home demonstration women of the nation in celebrating National Home Demonstration Week by having community gatherings, family group meetings, luncheons, teas and garden tours. Each club stressed the achievements of its club members in showing the values they were receiving.

Home Demonstration's work first aim is a better rural home but what happens in the world at large has a definite bearing on better living for rural families. We believe in the Chinese proverb:

"If there is righteousness in the heart
There will be beauty in the character,
If there is beauty of character,
There will be harmony in the home.
If there is harmony in the home,
There will be order in the nation.
If there is order in the nation,
There will be peace in the world."

Clothing Workshops

Cadeville completed its workshop. Those taking part in the work were Mrs. James A. Sturdivant, Mrs. Paul North, Mrs. Cleburn White, Mrs. M. C. Street, Mrs. D. A. Shell, and Mrs. W. E. French and Mrs. Odie L. Sturdivant. Others visiting with the group and observing were Mrs. Lee H. Welder and Mrs. J. H. Henry. Mrs. James Sturdivant's home was used for this workshop. Other workshops will be held in September and October. Those interested in a tailoring or simple sewing workshop are urged to enroll six or more interested women and get in touch with the agent. Its not too early to get plans made for this work.

Using Our Outdoors For Living

Everyone enjoys a picnic and the best place to have this is in your own back yard. It doesn't require lots of preparation, money or equipment, just interest. You can build you a small bar-be-cue pit by simply stacking the bricks on three sides, then put some type of metal rack across it. Dad and mother as well as the boys and girls will enjoy this outing. Try bar-be-cuing a few chickens, even hamburgers are good. These family occasions improve the art of living, one of the arts so terribly neglected in many rural homes.

Try this recipe for your dessert. Its easy to make, can be prepared ahead of time. It is both attractive and good. It is called "Flower Garden Cake" and was served at a picnic by a club member.

6 egg yolks
¾ cup sugar
¾ cup lemon juice
1½ teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 tablespoon plain gelatin dissolved in ¼ cup cold water
6 egg whites with an additional ¾ cup of sugar

Cook egg yolk, sugar, lemon juice and lemon peel in double boiler until it coats the spoon. Dissolve. Add gelatin which has been dissolved in the ¼ cup cold water—add to this cooked egg lemon mixture. Then fold this into white of eggs which have been beaten and sugar added. Take a small angel food and break it up into small pieces. Grease mold with wesson oil. Put a layer of pieces of angel food then cover with mixture. Continue until all cake and mixture is used — chill — unmold, slice and serve.

Council Meeting

May 16th is regular council meeting date. Besides the regular work of the council, Miss Irene McQueen, L. S. U. food and nutrition specialist will give a demonstration "Let's have a party." Club members are invited to see this demonstration. Presidents of clubs having won the silver coffee service for best club award will assist Miss McQueen.

See you next Sunday.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. Ben Leslie Kirk of Rayville announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Adelene, to Isaac Emory Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Tanner Phillips, also of Rayville. The wedding will be solemnized at the Grace Baptist Church on Friday, June 12, at 6 o'clock in the evening. Friends and relatives are invited through this medium.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cowan of Monroe today announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Betty Cowan, to Jack Dean Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Phillips of West Monroe. The wedding will be an event of June 5.

Ladies-In-Waiting Are Important In Coronation

LONDON—Queen Elizabeth will stand framed in the spotlight of history at her coronation next June 2 as a slim—and lovely—young woman mainly surrounded by a glittering company of men.

But standing comfortingly at her side as the peers and bishops move solemnly through the complicated coronation ritual will be a tall and dignified duchess, stately in her robes of scarlet and ermine.

And, grouped to one side of the throne, will be five of the 27-year-old queen's closest women friends and confidantes, their white satin court dresses and diamond tiaras gleaming and shimmering freshly among the masculine scarlet and purple.

These six — all of them either wives or daughters of peers—form the aristocratic collection of royal companions known as ladies of the household. Heading them is Mary, Duchess of Devonshire, whom Queen Elizabeth last winter appointed mistress of the robes — a post first instituted 250 years ago by Queen Anne for her favorite, Sarah, Duchess of Marlborough.

Junior to her are two ladies of the bedchamber — the Countess of Leicester and the Countess of Euston — and three women of the bedchamber.

These three — Lady Margaret Hay, Lady Alice Egerton and Lady Rose Baring — are the working girls in this royal setup. The mistress of the robes and the two ladies of the bedchamber have little to do now except attend the queen at official courts and state functions. Once, their job was to look after the royal wardrobe and help dress the queen.

Queen Elizabeth has not gathered round her a sextette of glamorous socialites. Like her father and grandfather she believes in taking her royal duties seriously and expects the members of her entourage to do the same.

The only unmarried member of the group is the 30-year-old Lady Alice Egerton, who pronounces her name "Edgerton." The other five have families to look after and rarely find the time to do the rounds of London's night spots.

The Duchess of Devonshire, for instance, lives quietly with her 18-year-old daughter in a little house overlooking the River Thames at Chelsea, London's Greenwich Village. But until her husband, the 10th duke, died three years ago, she was mistress of Chatsworth House, one of the most palatial of Britain's stately homes.

Although the Duchess comes from one of Britain's most powerful political families—her brother, Lord Salisbury is conservative leader in the House of Lords and her grandfather was three times Prime Minister in Queen Victoria's reign — her job as mistress of the robes is not a political appointment. She is the personal choice of the Queen.

In olden days the government of the day always put its own appointee in a post close to the throne. But Queen Victoria stopped the practice in 1839, two years after her accession.

Both the Countess of Leicester and the Countess of Euston — the two ladies of the bedchamber — live quietly in the country with their husbands and families and only come to town when the Queen needs them for some court function.

The three women of the bedchamber have the tough jobs to do in the royal household — but all three chorus "we love it."

Each, in turn, does a three-week tour of duty. They live in a small suite of rooms at Buckingham Palace and follow the Queen around to theaters, exhibitions and official functions. It's a job that calls for tact, quick thinking and long hours.

They must be able to laugh in the right places at the royal jokes, talk intelligently on any subject the Queen chooses, write all the royal personal letters—the Queen herself writes only to a small circle of relatives and friends—and be ready with the cash if the Queen sees something in a shop she likes. Traditionally, British monarchs never touch money themselves.

The job also might include swapping nylons in the privacy of a car when the royal pair gets snagged. Such accidents have happened.

One thing is impressed on them right from the start: Never must they steal the royal limelight. They must always be near in case the Queen wants them, but never near enough to hog the royal photographs. For that reason, they must be careful what they wear—not the latest Paris fashions nor the latest startling colors that might outshine those worn by the Queen. They generally wear rather conservative pastel shades and quiet styles in hats.

Another thing they learn at the start—families should be kept out of the way whenever they are on duty.

This doesn't bother Lady Alice Egerton, the only unmarried member of the trio. Lady Alice, the pretty 30-year-old sister of the Earl of Ellesmere who shares Queen Elizabeth's love for music and horse racing, lives in a small London apartment with her mother. She was appointed in 1949 to succeed her elder sister Lady Margaret Colville, who resigned when she married John Colville, Prime Minister Winston Churchill's joint principal private secretary.

Lady Baring, who was appointed last February, is a 41-year-old war widow and daughter of the Earl of Antrim. She lives just outside London with her two sons aged 19 and 18 and her 15-year-old daughter.

Lady Margaret Hay, 35-year-old sister of the Marquess of Hertford, was appointed to the royal household in 1947. A placid brunette who rarely smiles, she was married in 1948 to Alan Hay, private secretary to the Duchess of Kent, and lives in a small London apartment. She has a four-year-old son.

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: My daughter, who has been married for 17 years, has two lovely daughters and a wonderful husband. Suddenly she doesn't want her husband. She left him twice. Each time he took her back. She has a good job and the boys and men have flattered her so that it has turned her head. Her husband doesn't want her to work. She now wants a divorce, the children, furniture and money. What will the poor man have left after 17 years of married life? He has always been a good father and has bought her everything a workingman could afford.

What can I do to save their marriage? If she won't cook, wash and clean for her family what will she do when she has sole care of the children?—Unhappy Mother.

You can tell your daughter's husband to refuse to give his wife a divorce; perhaps she'll wake up eventually and thank him for his refusal. You can also tell him to see a lawyer or legal aid and to protect himself so that she has no grounds for divorce or for thinking she can gain custody of the children. If your daughter is not living up to her end of the marriage bargain (keeping house, washing, cooking, etc.), what makes her think she can walk away with all the marital assets?

Actually, she is a fool. The men and boys might flatter her now, but if she were divorced they would run a mile for fear she was looking for a second husband. More important, her children will be the real ones to suffer from a broken home and a mother who is acting like a lovesick teen-ager.

Dear Ann Landers: I am deeply in love with a 23-year-old girl; I am 25. We want to marry but because her father was killed in an auto accident five months ago her mother has asked us to wait at least a year as she is sick with grief. What do you think I should do about this?—Bill B.

You are both young enough to wait another seven months; that would make it a year from the father's death and should give the mother time to make adjustment.

Dear Mrs. Landers: I have a 13-year-old daughter who seems to be very much in love with a 14-year-old boy. They have exchanged expensive Christmas gifts and have been in love for two years. She goes around half alive waiting for him to visit her. Recently when he got mad at her she bawled every night until they made up. Is this normal? Is it possible that she is really in love?—Mrs. A. C. H.

Of course, your daughter is in love, but that kind of love is questionable and whether it will last is doubtful. She is a little young for such a deep attachment but since each teen-ager is at a different state of development, she may be emotionally older than her chronological years. No; it is not usual (let us not use the term "normal" here, however), for her age and not desirable but any attempt you might make to break it up would be harmful. Chances are one or both will take up with another partner. You must, however, be quite on guard with these two.

Dear Mrs. Landers: I am 35 good-looking, hold a good position and have a nice bank account. I did not marry because for a long time I was responsible for the support of a mother and three sisters. I have fallen in love with a 23-year-old girl who enjoys my company but is holding a torch for a former suitor who is now married. Her family tells her she is a fool not to marry me. Do you think I should keep on dating her or drop her?—John L. P .

Faint heart ne'er won fair lady, John. Keep right on dating her until she agrees with her family. Give her a whirl. Maybe you are being too staid and she needs sweeping off her feet.

Inez—You are making a mountain out of a molehill and forcing your husband to regard both the woman and the situation seriously. Better keep on "kidding "him and realize in your heart that he is faithful.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper.)

Young Couple Weds In June

Mr. and Mrs. U. W. Pickens, Sr. of this city, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Margaret, to Donald Lewis Gannaway, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Gannaway of Sterlington. The wedding will take place June 6 at two o'clock at the First Baptist Church of Monroe.

RECEPTION AT RECTORY — Receiving guests at the reception given on Tuesday evening are Reverend and Mrs. Allin, Mrs. Haywood and Rev. Haywood, Mr. Murray Hudson, Mrs. Hudson and Mrs. and Mr. Underwood Fourmy have just arrived. Little Martha Allin is assisting in serving.

Remove fresh paint from a garment by placing stain side down on a pad. This prevents the stain from going deep into the fabric as the cleaning is done. Apply soap jelly to the stain, being careful not to spread it. Continue rubbing in soap jelly until suds are white. Add some turpentine to the suds if necessary.

Quilted mattress pads may appear to have shrunk after they've been in the automatic dryer. One night's use, however, will restore them to original measurements.

Barbara Clower Will Be Bride

Mr. and Mrs. John Prentiss Clower of St. Joseph, La., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Barbara to Donald Edwin Byrne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin John Byrne of Natchez, Miss.

The bride-elect is a graduate of the Joseph Moore Davidson High School in St. Joseph, La., and of Louisiana State University, where she was a member of Beta Sigma Omicron, social sorority.

Mr. Byrne is a graduate of St. Bernard College High School in Cullman, Ala., and is attending Louisiana State University. The wedding will be solemnized on Sunday, May 31, at four o'clock in the afternoon at Christ the King Catholic chapel on the campus of the Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge.

New Season Promises Glorious, Carefree Vacation Time For All

Broaden your horizons this summer. Never was the opportunity better for making your vacation the most carefree, the most stimulating holiday you have ever experienced.

There is no place anyone would want to go on this continent or overseas that is now beyond one's reach.

There has never been so much to enjoy close at hand, which means that you can actually make the whole summer long a sun filled health building experience.

Even time itself can be stretched today to prolong the pleasures of any vacation trip. Swift, safe airplanes span space with the speed of birds to cut hours and days off travel time. Vastly improved and extended super highway systems eliminate many of the traffic delays of yore. In both instances you get to where you are going, quicker.

Stopovers To See Sights

And more fun and sightseeing can be crammed into whatever time you have available no matter how limited that time may be.

There are scenic beauties to be viewed from the windows of modern, streamlined, diesel powered trains as they glide cross country. Our network of economical intercity bus lines move into and through our great national parks. Both modes of travel offer the convenience of stopovers at points of special interest.

The flood tide of interest in foreign travel, in cruises to glamorous islands off our coast, in conducted tours to Europe is met by a wonderful assortment of packaged tours tailored to individual hopes and free from worry about a single detail, and are amazingly low priced in many instances.

More Families Travelling

Travel on the ocean is a wonderful interlude of luxurious living and a vacation in its own right, for the sleek ships used provide all manner of sport, entertainment, the best of food and the companionship of like minded people one enjoys meeting.

More families, now aware of the expansion and improvement in hotel and motel accommodations for the tourists, will pack the kids in the car and embark to "see more of the country," which can be immensely broadening for parents as well as educational for the children. And all can have carefree fun within the vacation time budget along the way.

Some will chart courses toward shrines of history. Others will seek out the scenic splendors of the land which have been so well preserved in our national parks. Still others will head for Washington, the national capitol, or New York, the nation's biggest metropolis.

Roughing It This Year

The more efficiently managed resorts, ranging from the magnificent to the modest, and all boasting a wide variety of diversions, reach a new peak of popularity this year. You'll find them at the seashore and in the mountains with delightful cabins available for families in many instances. You'll find them along inland streams, along inland lakes.

Roughing it will command the attention of another big segment of our vacation going folk this year, especially the sportsmen and sportswomen who want to get back to nature by camping out near a stream, or a lake where there's good fishing. Every state in the nation affords some such "get away from it all" opportunity.

Whatever the individual choice may be with respect to the vacation trip you are thinking about for this year, time and facilities are working in your favor. And once you've settled on where you'll go and what you want to do and see and how you want to work it out, give a thought to the rest of the summer right here at home.

Remember there are at least twelve wonderful week ends and two major holidays during the glorious summer season. The days are longer and working hours are shorter.

All this time too, can be dedicated to fun, relaxation, sports, adventure or what have you, for within the confines of the old home town, within a few hours of motoring time — or if you really want to go a bit further — within a few hours of flying time, you can make a stimulating adventure of every summer week end.

Check such things as these: How about the backyard? Is it fitted out for serving happy picnic or barbecue meals out in the open when you get home from work? How about the family car? Is it in tip top condition for whisking away to some nearby fishing spot for the week end? Do you know the nicest spots around town to go for an evening of dancing?

Broaden Your Horizons

Broaden your horizons for this summer, by exploring every avenue at home and abroad for making the most of the year's best season. It just takes a little figuring out.

And once you've made out your general plan, there's a host of experts to help you make all your dreams come true.

Leisure Time Wear Offers Varied Fare

A windbreaker is almost a must in the male's summer wardrobe just loafing. He may prefer the "leisure coat" type. And as for beachwear, dependent on where he goes, the minimum is two swim suits, and a beach robe or jacket that can take it, and beach sandals.

Make The Most Of Longer Days, Gay Week Ends

It may sound like eating your cake and having it too, but the fact is that the traditional summer time vacation can be stretched by those who put their minds to it, to last the whole summer long.

Wave the magic wand of imagination and resourcefulness over the wealth of opportunities confronting everyone, everywhere, all of the time, and the wish can come true easily. Distant places need be no factor. The base of operations is the old home town.

The opportunities will be found in a combination of facilities easily available to all plus an appreciation of how to make the most out of time.

There are longer hours of sunlit freedom from the routine of life every day of this season. There are a dozen or more week ends of two and three days of duration spanning the summer.

The former make possible a full round of golf, or a family picnic supper in a nearby park, a long evening's drive to some favorite roadside eating place; garden parties in air conditioned auditoriums if you want to go inside.

Vacation in Miniature

Every week end can be a capsulized version of a regular vacation if one plans it that way. Lakes and rivers and beaches are not so far away that they cannot be reached quickly over modern highways in a matter of hours for two full days of sports, fishing or just lazing about.

Make it a week end of "roughing it" by trying out one of the nearby state parks where camping sites, frenquently equipped with fire places and sometimes even modern plumbing, are to be found.

Try the re-discovered pleasure of the ancient art of "shun-piking" which our thrifty forebearers used to employ to detour around toll bridges. Today it means getting off the main highways or a plunge into seldom visited nearby rural areas for leisurely enjoyment of bucolic scenery.

Take a new look at the old home town which has been taken altogether too much for granted in the rush and rumble of daily living. Check the new dine and dance places which, chances are, you'll find as glamorous as the heavily touted place far away. Dance intimately in air conditioned leisure. Make it a party occasion.

For the Children

And take a look at home itself and especially the backyard which has a potential for summer time fun you may never have dreamed of, plus the advantage of no rules except those you make yourself.

Install an outdoor fireplace, if you haven't one already, for evening cookery over which the man of the house will enjoy presiding, meaning a party occasion for mother. Summer furniture, some colored lights and a small radio tuned low can help make it the most popular place in town for friends and family.

Equipped with playthings for the children the backyard becomes their safe daytime haven.

Making vacation time last all summer long is a dream that anyone can convert into a reality with imagination and resourcefulness.

Hotels In Iceland

Icelanders are supplementing their hotels by converting high schools for travelers during the summer months. Chief advantage of the schools, is that they have swimming pools heated by hot springs and turkish baths.

Neither Time Nor Budget Prevents European Trip

Neither time nor budget need present any barrier to vacationing in Europe.

Though only the traditional two weeks may be available there is now modern air transport to whisk one overseas so swiftly a full ten days are left to savor foreign lands.

And for the hard and especially the younger folk, there are conducted study tours that may be financed for a pittance.

The Conference of Tour Operators, specialists in packaging carefree trips to almost anywhere— that are available through most travel agents — brief some of the more interesting possibilities as follows:

A quickie in two weeks by air, including land travel by motor coach and second class trains, housing in hotels without private bath, allowing ten days on land with itineraries covering three to four countries; cost approximately $600.

Four to six weeks by steamer, tourist or cabin class, first class travel by rail and motor - coach covering most of Western Europe's high spots, good but not deluxe hotels with private baths; cost approximately $1,000 to $1,700.

Six to eight weeks by steamer, cabin class, covering most of Europe's high spots by first class rail and motor coach, good but not deluxe hotels cost approximately $1,750 to $2,000.

More time can be saved abroad, as much as twelve days otherwise devoted to travel, by going airtourist at an additional expenditure of $100 to $200.

Art Shows In France

Art lovers will see many of the world's great masterpieces outside of Paris and the Louvre. There are works by Leonardo da Vince in Bayonne, by Rembrandt in Epinal and by Daumier in Rheims. A summer show of Picasso occurs in Lyon, of Cezanne in Aix-en-Provence and of el Greco in Bordeaux.

Drive At Easy Pace And Stop To See Things

How Far, How Fast Of No Importance

The idea of "resting after a vacation" has become so generally accepted that many Americans appear to be losing the art of enjoying themselves on a holiday away from home.

There's really no percentage in trying to see how far and how fast you can travel, as if in a racing competition; or in spending the first day becoming glisteringly sun burned, and the rest of the days hidden away from the light applying lotions.

Actually it takes more work to have a disappointing vacation than a memorable one. Anyone returning home all worn out has probably burned out too much energy trying to pack too many miles and too many activities into a limited period of time.

In this machine age when travel facilities, and especially the automobile, open more avenues to leisurely vacationing, the traveler can be "footloose and fancy free," free," which means that mileage per day need be no factor at all.

Drive at an easy pace—not only for safer, more comfortable, more pleasurable progress, but also to see something of the country.

There are worthwhile sights along every highway. States are spending millions to develop recreational, historic and scenic areas. There is adventure and discovery at the side of every road.

Stop for instance, at Goldendale, Wash., to see Stonehenge, a replica of the village on the Plains of Salsibury, England, built a thousand years ago. . .or at Sturbridge, Mass., on the other side of the nation, where a complete New England village of 150 years ago has been restored.

Or if you want to see the 20th Century in action, visit factories, glass works, automobile plants, mines, pottery works; and even such places as Oak Ridge, Tenn., where you can rub shoulders with tomorrow as scientists work behind locked doors probing more secrets of the atom.

The big point to remember is that a leisurely trip is a more pleasant trip. When you are travelling down highway's holiday, relax — that's what vacation is for.

Home Plays Part In Making Vacation Last All Summer

House, Yard, Both Figure In Planning

Re-examination of the home and its facilities for comfort, effortless living and fun, can go a long way toward making vacation time pleasure last the whole summer long.

This suggests the wisdom of a thoughtful check of the house and the ground too, as weather stimulates the urge to spend more time out of doors.

What goes on in the house and what facilities there are in the backyard can play a most important part in making it possible for every member of the family to take fuller advantage of every added hour of sunlight during summer, and also every one of the season's many week ends.

Is the refrigerator functioning properly to keep fresh perishable foods safetly for the imprompt picnics and the easy to serve outdoor suppers? Maybe it's time to have it replaced. Checks of other "electrical servants" in the home can help assure mother an easier, freer summer. And don't forget a fan for her in the kitchen.

Relief From Humidity

Air conditioning for bedrooms to assure comfortable nights when the weather goes sticky, and other rooms during the daytime when mother and children and dad too, will seek relief from blistering suns, may be achieved on a room unit basis or for the whole house.

Is there a shower in the basement where quickies may be taken without running through the house. Might be well to install one. And mother would certainly enjoy having summer rugs on the floors which help to cool off the place and make it easier to clean.

It's the outdoors where dad can shine in person by planning a fireplace for evening steak roasts. Perhaps he can make comfortable benches and tables if he is inclined to "do things yourself." Summer furniture for outdoors and the sun porch to be found in stores will help turn the trick.

A string of subdued colored lights for the backyard would make it a festive place of evenings. Add a portable radio and record player, and you have a private little summer resort of your own.

It's Hobby Time

Vacation time being dedicated to relaxing and doing the things one wants to do also is hobby time. Does the man of the house like to work with tools. This is his chance. Is he a photographer? Then let him install and enjoy a basement darkroom.

Games that children and adults alike can enjoy are legion for installation in the backyard. Even a miniature swimming pool of comparatively inexpensive plastic materials now is available.

Fit the home for summer fun and vacation can be made to last all season.

RAPIDLY BECOMING A FAVORITE summertime sport is roadside picnicking for the family of an evening or as the high point of a Sunday drive. Almost every state now provides facilities such as those pictured above at scenic spots where tourist, too, may pause for lunch and to view nature's grandeurs.

Washington Should Be Must In Vacation Plans

Most assuredly if there are children in the family (and even if there aren't a trip to the nation's capital at Washington, D. C., richly merits a place, sooner or later, on the vacation schedule.

Where else, within an area of comparable size, can one gain such a clear perspective on our country's past, present and future! Where else within the compass of a few days' time, can you see so much, learn so much, experience such a rekindling of pride in America's traditions and institutions.

If you prefer the "sooner" to the "later," it may well be that 1953 will become memorable in your family's history as "the year we went to Washington."

See Congress In Session

If you're like most people, your biggest thrill will come at the moment when you get your very first look at the Capitol building. You have seen its impressive dome so often pictured that it has become to you the very symbol of the United States. And it is somehow uniquely spine - tingling to see a revered symbol come suddenly to life in all its majestic reality.

If Congress is convening at the time of your visit, you can attend sessions of both Houses and see the laws of your country in the making. Your own Congressmen will welcome your visit to their nearby offices, and be pleased to extend to you all the courtesies of the city.

Just across the street from the Capitol are the stately Supreme Court building and the huge Congressional Library with its magnificent interior vistas; both so rewarding to visit.

At the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue stands the White House, proud possession of you and more than 150 million other "landlords" —the citizens of the United States. More impressive than ever since its recent restoration and refurnishing, some of its splendid rooms are open to the public.

See Money Made

At the Printing and Engraving Bureau, you'll see "money made" on a truly eye - popping scale; hug bundles of greenbacks handled as casually as so many bales of cotton, yet every single accounted for with meticulous precision.

A visit to the FBI building will prove a fascinating revelation of scientific methods of "crime-busting" topped off by an exhibition of G-Man marksmanship.

No visit to Washington is complete without a reverent visit to the Memorials to Lincoln and Jefferson, those inspiring shrines to the memories of great and dearly beloved Americans.

Tours Tailored To Vacation Travel Offered By Bus Lines

The economy of bus travel has always been a major attraction for those who want to go places and see things. But now that modern highway coach systems offer such luxuries as air conditioning, reclining seats, tinted glass windows, and best of all pre - planned tours, their popularity is soaring.

Some people who have cars of their own turn to busses for long leisurely vacation time trips in order to avoid the strain of driving without sacrifcng any part of the route they want to travel.

Pre-planned bus line tours reach into almost every spot in the country that attracts vacationers. Whether it is New England, Williamsburg, the Smokies, New Orleans or the National Parks, itineraries are available. And if it is Mexico you want to see, Greyhound has a tour that links up with lines in that colorful country to the south.

Unlike the traditional conception of "pre - planned" or "pre-packaged" tours, except in rare instances, those taken by bus are not "conducted tours" of large parties which must leave on designated dates and follow closely regimented schedules. They can start from almost any city in the country any day of the week, and they can be tailored in almost every detail to the desires of the individual, family or groupl

Vacationers travel on regular bus schedules but usually on the finer "through" or "express" runs which have a minimum number of stops and shorter running time.

Pre-planned trips by bus include round trip transportation, hotel reservations and local sightseeing tours along the chosen route or at the destination. Ordinarily meals are not included except at such points as National Parks where there is no choice.

Once the tourist decides where he wants to go and by what route, he purchases a "tour book" which contains coupons covering every segment of his journey, for each night's hotel accommodations and for every secheduled sightseeing tour. The coupons are arranged in proper sequence and the book includes a printed or typed time schedule as a helpful guide.

New Summer Fabrics Make Vacation Time Easy For Travelers

Travel coolly in cotton! It shines bright as the sun or looks for all the worldlike tweed or worsted and shows little or no concern for wrinkles.

Swin smoothly in taffetized cotton that sheds water like a duck, is practically dry before it hits land.

Dance beautifully in organdy that has a will against wilting, refuses to crumple.

Summer vacationers never had it so easy! Miracle fabrics are doing a neat job keeping you well groomed as you go work-free after arrival. Enhanced by the addition of such magic yarns as nylon, Orlon, Dacron and Dynel, summer's old pets cotton, linen, silt turn up with new tub-happy faces that swish through suds and in many instances never need know the touch of an iron.

OF THE WIND WITH SPINNAKER MULING, this 19-foot Lightning class sloop is one of the most popular of small sailing craft. Smart, fast, easy to handle, it can race or accommodate six comfortably for a lazy day's sail.

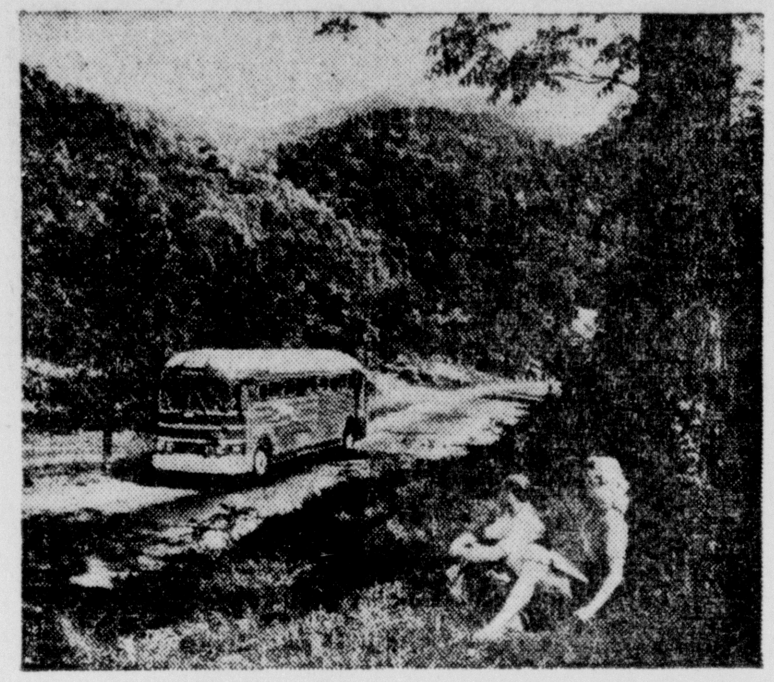
Vacation Time Means Fishing Trips For More Americans



GREAT SMOKY MOUNTAINS NATIONAL PARK, now reported to be leading all others in tourist attendance, affords views of the highest mountain range in the east such as shown above. The great park is reached and explored best by private car or by bus.

Americans Find Favorite Cousins In Australia

Sydney, largest city in Australia, is a good center of operations for a holiday "down under." Dominated by the Sydney bridge, the city is the hurrying, bustling terminus of Pan American's 29 hour flight via the Fijis and Hawaii from San Francisco.

A "favorite cousin" relationship exists between the United States and Australia. The lyrical reports of American soldiers who visited Australia during the war and the steady trickle of these same soldiers who have returned to make their homes "down under" are part of the evidence.

Spain Is Still Bargain Corner Of West Europe

MADRID—The American dollar in Spain is still pure rubber. Although 90,000 Americans, the largest number in history, descended on Spain last year, the Spanish government has managed to keep the lid on prices for tourists and again this summer Spain will be the bargain corner of Europe.

Travelers in the summer of 1952 need spend only $5 a day for hotel, meals, sightseeing and tips. If top flight luxury hotel are included the tariff won't top $10 a day. As one American visitor put it after an early spring trip: "I found it cheaper to live like a king in Spain than to sit around at home."

Many travelers include the whole Iberian penisular, getting off at Lisbon for a few days in Portugal, then continuing on to Madrid. From there, representative parts of Spain can be visited on the way to Barcelona. A pause here, with perhaps a side trip to the peaceful Spanish Balearic Islands in the Mediterranean. Then the Clipper completes the triangle with a flight direct to New York.

Expanding Hotel Facilities

Since last summer Spain has added 35 new hotels, several streamlined Fiat diesel trains, a fleet of deluxe buses and a network of super highways. Madrid alone will have 2,000 more hotel rooms by early summer. In the country the Spanish government is extending its string of inns, called paradores (converted castles) and albergues (much like our motels). Rooms in these roadside hostelries cost $3 a day single and $5.50 double.

Spain also boasts bargain basement prices for main floor merchandise in leather, clothing, pottery, wrought iron, glassware, jewelry and embroidery. A handsewn leather suitcase goes for $25, made-to-order shoes for $8, choice dry sherry at 60 cents a bottle. A tailor-made men's suit, comparable in quality to a London Saville Row tweed, is priced at $30.

Madrid Provides Cross Section

Madrid, the capital, provides a good cross section of Spanish life. Its great cathedrals, priceless relics and art treasures in the Prado Museum reflect a glorious past. Madrid is also famous for its restaurants, where a full course meal including suckling pig and crepes suzette with wine, brings a check of only $3.50.

Less than two hours from Madrid by air are El Escorial, burial place of the Spanish kings, Toledo, home of El Greco and famous for the Toledo steel products; Avila, with its perfect 11th century walls and towers; and Segovia, where the palace of Queen Isabella and King Ferdinand and the Roman aquaducts remain in a fine state of preservation.

Many tourists prefer to take trips to these cities by the bus service which offers tours to all parts of Spain, including transportation, sightseeing, first class hotels, guides and even tips, for an average of $13 a day.

Where, When Is All They Need To Know

To America's ever-growing army of anglers, "vacation time" is apt to be just another way of saying "fishing trip." For the true disciple of Izaak Walton, the question of "what to do" on a vacation seldom, if ever, arises. He knows he's going fishing.

There remain only the questions of when and where he's going to go and what he's going to take along in the way of tackle, gear and togs.

As to the "where" and "when," that depends, of course, on the kind of fishing he enjoys most. America offers, in bountiful array, most every kind of fishing that any angler might fancy.

Thrills Of Surf

He can pursue the flashing sail fish in the warm waters off the southern coast or skillfully stalk the wily trout in some tumbling mountain stream.

He can enjoy the thrills of surf fishing from a sandy beach or seek the pike or pickerel in placid waters of fresh water lake or pond.

He can match his skill with the fighting salmon in Oregon's stearms or pit his craft against the fighting tuna and marlin in the sky - blue waters off Montauk, L. I.

Yes, America is all things to all fishermen! Off - shore fishing is enjoyed along both coasts and in the Gulf of Mexico. Splendid trout streams course through practically every state, while fresh water lakes sparkle their invitation to anglers within an easy drive of almost any spot one might pinpoint, blindfolded, on the map.

Of course, certain areas are favored for particular kinds of fish. Many say that pike and pickerel are best caught in the lakes, behong numbering, in Minnesota and Wisconsin. Famed round the world are the channel bass taken at Chincoteague, Va.

The doughty muskellunge gives worthy battle to fisherman on the Great Lakes, the St. Lawrence and other northern rivers; and weakfish at Peconic Bay, Long Island; albacore off Catalina Island; amber jack at Pass-A-Grille, Fla., whitefish in the Great Lakes.

It all adds up to this. The American angler is indeed a fortunate soul — he can write his own ticket!

Check Your Tackle

Having decided where and when he's going, the next item on the angler's schedule is a good long look at his tackle.

"Is it up to date?" he asks himself. New rods, new reels, new type of line and many new lures are making their appearance almost daily.

The angler knows that only by frequent trips to the tackle store can he really keep abreast of developments. He determines to stop in soon with a view to rounding out his tackle with "what's new" and "what's good."

He will find plenty of news in spinning tackle this year. Never, since it came into favor some 10 years ago have so many new and improved items bowed in. Along with the many new products introduced by American manufacturers, is a host of interesting new developments from European makers.

Equipped Bather Has 2 Swim Suits

Whether the male goes to the mountains, to the seashore or just touring, his vacation time wardrobe is incomplete without not just one but at least two bathing trunks. The rule is never to wear a wet pair. The chances are, wherever he goes, a dry pair will always come in handy.

And if it is to the seashore or a lake region rest or hotel, or a cruise toward which he's heading, then beachwear, which means more than just a pair of trunks, is a must.

Beachwear includes robes, jackets and sandals as well as trunks; robes for promenading from hotel or cabana or stateroom to beach or pool; jackets for years when the breezes grow cool; sandals to protect from burning sands.

Terry cloth robes that double as beach shirts and towels are available. Jackets that resist the wetness, protest from the wind and have roomy pockets for cigarets, sunglasses or what have you, are smartly designed, and will serve other than beachwear uses.

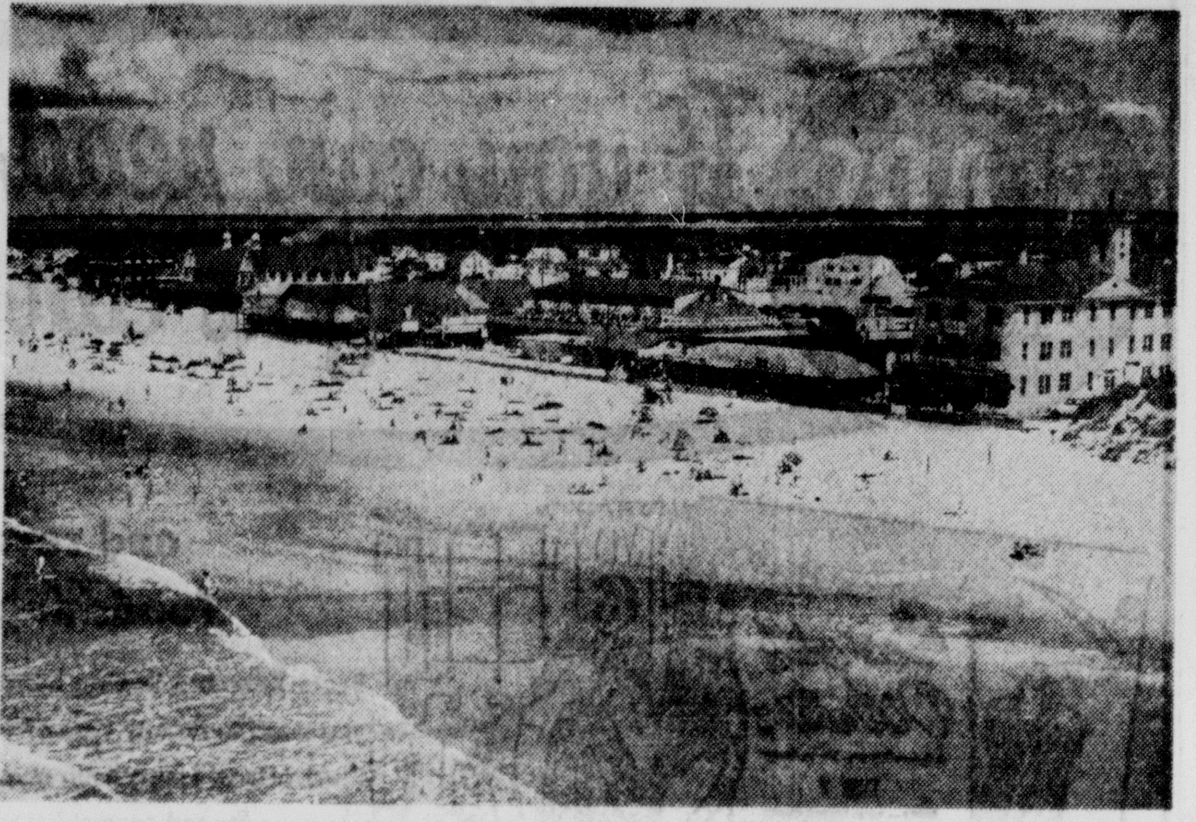
Advise Flat Trunks Best When Children Go To Summer Camps

Parents who send children off to camp should use care to select luggage in keeping with the facilities offered by the camp. The child's own sensitiveness to what is right and wrong also should be take into consideration for other critical youngsters can be thoughtlessly cruel.

A sizable, flat packing trunk, with or without removable tray will serve and is universally approved by youngsters both for transporting and storage. Day to day clothing.

Encourages Students

Madrid University's summer branch at Santander on the Atlantic coast offers a one month course for English - speaking students including Spanish language, literature, art, history and folk culture for a little less than $8. Classes begin August 1. Rooms and meals for students average $1 a day.



NORTH CAROLINA BEACH SCENE—Sand, sun and salt water, plus good accommodations, lure thousands of vacationists to North Carolina beaches each summer. This is a scene at Atlantic Beach.

Miami Beach Built Solely For Pleasure

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Summer, vacation time for most Americans, finds Miami Beach offering the lowest hotel and apartment rates of the year in this seaside city designed and built solely for the enjoyment of holidays.

Rooms in even the most elaborate resort hotels are scaled downward in price now to the point they cost no more than an average room in a first class hostel in any northern city. This means that, for $8 to $12 a day, the vacationer here may enjoy the finest in accommodates with swimming pool, beach and cabana colony at his door. In modern but more modest buildings rates are as low as $20 a week, double, with the ocean no more than a block or two away.

Many thousands of visitors again this summer will take advantage not only of the savings to be effected on holidays here, but also the budgeted rates offered in packaged tours to Miami Beach by both air and surface transportation companies.

Once at Miami Beach the vacationer finds his choice of things to do almost unlimited. A mild climate that never reaches the extremes of heat felt in many areas far to the north invites outdoor recreation that ranges from lounging at beach or cabana to golf or deep-sea fishing.

Two 18 - hole golf courses are operated by the city and are within the city limits. Both have complete facilities and are open to visitors upon payment of a modest greens fee. Seven oceanfront parks that include some two miles of sandy beach bring a swim within a few blocks of any point within Miami Beach.

Extensive recreation programs for both youngsters and adults are part of the city's year - 'round operations. Included in this set-up is the Community Center where afternoon and nightly entertainment is held that ranges from classes in arts and crafts to concerts and dances. Tennis courts, shuffleboard and the means for playing other games may be found in the off-ocean parks.

Miami Beach waters are world-famous for fishing and at least one trip is recommended for visitors who would like to combine an outing on the ocean with some excellent sport. Sailfish, dolphin, bonito and marlin are taken in the Gulf Stream, a matter of minutes in a chartered cruiser from Miami Beach docks. Tackle is provided with the sports fishing craft, which are manned by a crew of two and will accommodate parties of six to eight.

Fly, casting and spinning fishermen use bay and inlet waters with their quarry ranging from 10-pound tarpon to smaller species such as the bonefish, permit, snook and jack crevalle. Small boats equipped with inboard or outboard motors may be rented for bay trips.

Evening diversion, while of the usual dining, dancing and night club type, is made unusually attractive by the sub - tropic surroundings and the sparkle of the moonlit sea from patios and terraces along the shore.

Sightseeing includes cruises through Biscayne bay and along the inland waterways of Miami Beach as well as trips to such interesting places as the Everglades National Park and various botanical gardens and aviaries on the mainland. The Fairchild Tropical Garden has one of the largest collections of palms in the United States.

Angler Should Check Tackle

For early season trout fishing, the angler will lay in a plentiful supply of nymph flies, which are available in a dozen different types. As the season goes along, flies that imitate half-grown and fully developed insects are indicated.

For best trout fishing, a rod about eight feet six inches long is recommended. Weight should runabout five and a quarter ounces. Heavy, stiff rods fill the bill for lake trout, together with copper line and lures that will troll deep for the big fellows that hug bottom.

Big baits and strong hooks, heavy casting lines and heavy test line are indicated for muskies and the bigger fighting fish.

With a view to rounding out his gear, the angler will want to take a look-see at the wide array of accessories to be found at his tackle store: magnetic fly boxes, duck creels, aluminum nets, skinning knives, tackle boxes, reel seats, minnow buckets, worm pails and the like.

He'll check over his fishing "wardrobe" carefully, too, in order to make sure that he's all set with what he'll need in the way of shirts, waders, trousers, fishing vests, boots and the like.

COVER THAT ARM

Bare More Skin In Play Clothes

Lovable sun-sets that take on skirts and shirts in a jiffy are the fun things you'll need from Banff to Bali, on catboat or yacht, and at home for active or inactive sunning at seaside or pool-side.

Everything in a playful mood is geared to the freedom-loving spirit of the American woman. Designs are plotted for quick and easy changes that can switch character readily, from coverage when necessary to uncoverage for cool, sun-drinking exposure.

Shorts, "little - boy - tight," in lenghs to suit your tasts, are very short or sleekly tapered to the calf. Blouses are brief and bra-type. Jackets are on the "loose" serving up plenty of excitement in their newness as well as smart contrast to the slim pants they accompany.

Never before has there been such fabric and color variety in play-happy clothes. Cottons hold the strongest positions playing up smartly to decorated denims in beloved faded blue and a galaxy of new bright shades. Linens in their new guise and showing up on tennis courts and golf courses in a gay panorama of sky-tinted hues.

All this while, terry is absorbing robes, shirts and shorts in stark white, pleasant pastels and sun-hot red.

Wise and woolly are the little-to-big sweaters that play comfortably over just about everything when a cool breeze stirs the placid warmth. Stripes and polka dots are traveling all over the lots together and striking a match are the good old standbys of prints and solids.

Coronation Festivities All Summer

The British Isles — more festive, more replete with pomp and pageangry, more congenial than ever — in this Coronation year are natural highspots for traveling in 1953.

Far from ending the color and celebration, June 2nd's Coronation will, in effect, touch off a season of rollicking festivity in England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Iceland.

Ample opportunities to see the Queen await the post - Coronation tourist. Public appearances at St. Paul's, Covent Garden, and the Antique Dealers' Fair are just a few events in the royal couple's summer itinerary.

The Queen's official birthday, on June 11th, brings the stirring spectacle of "Trooping the Colour," before Buckingham Palace where she appears on horseback.

On June 15th she will review the fleet which takes place only in a Coronation year. On the same day, for the first time in its 1,000-year history, Westminster Abbey will stage a play specially written for the occasion.

And while London celebrates with cosmopolitan splendor, the smaller cities and hamlets through out England will be making merry in less formal ceremonies.

More than 2,000 communities are planning even now their Village Green dancing, public barbecues, costumed parades, torchlight processions, enactments of scenes great in English history, archery competitions and street decorations.

A country - wide return to the hearty, happy days of the first Queen Elizabeth in the 16th Century will be marked by villagers donning elaborate Elizabethen costumes, presenting 400 - year - old Morris dances and by Inns preparing Elizabethen dishes such as barbecued ox, roast peacock and serving the ancient drinks, sack and mean.

In Stratford-on-Avon, home town of Shakespeare, who lived during the reign of Elizabeth I, a festival of the Bard's plays will be held.

Scotland will mark this Coronation year with national revels, beginning formally on June 23 when the royal couple arrive in Edinburgh for a week-long Scottish reception including wild bagpipe music and flashing tartans.

The Queen's visit to the State of Northern Irleand on July 2 and 3 and to Wales on July 9 and 10 will set off celebrations on those isles, comparable to the others, but with emphasis on the countries' individual customs.

TIRE PRESSURE

Long, fast driving over hot sun-baked highways builds up pressure in automobile tires, making them hot. Give them a chance to cool off.

Kit Boats Furnish Fun Afloat

Kit boats, which come as pre-cut parts with detailed plans for the easy assembly by anyone handy with tools, have captured the imagination of the public as they open the way for more people to have their own craft for less than half of what it could be delivered for by the professional builder.

Ranging in size from tiny six-foot play boats for youngsters to 19-foot sailing sloops and even a comfortable 31 - foot inboard cruiser, these "packaged boats" can be built in backyard, cellar or garage.

An outstandingly popular model selling for just under $40 is an eight - foot pram than can be rowed or powered with a light outboard. Ideal for children as well as grown ups, this little feller can be put together in just about 15 hours with such simple tools as a hammer, a screwdriver and a plane.

One firm making this craft reports 35,000 have been sold across the country.

High on the popularity list as the answer to up to date low - cost cruising for families with moderate budgets, is the outboard cruiser. Proportionately no harder to build than the eight-foot prams, they are a sturdy plywood hull construction and come with a snappy flying bridge.

Ranging in size from 16 to 23 feet long, they can provide ample sleeping accommodations for two with complete galley and toilet facilities. They make an ideal boat for a man and wife with two small children, at half the cost of the finish product.

Newest and most original of the pre-fabricated, ready to assemble kit boats is a 16-foot sailing catamaran. This twin hulled craft is a descendent of the Plynesian outrigger canoe and is claimed to be faster than any other sailing boat of similar size.

No matter how strong the wind, the builders claims it is a great rarity when both hulls are not in the water giving the craft tremendous stability.

More than 50,000 people retire each night in Pullman accommodations on trains.

Bahamas Resorts Present Charm Of Old World

NASSAU, Bahamas — The Out Islands of the Bahamas, stretching through 70,000 square miles of the Atlantic, are being dotted with resorts for visitors who want something really different in vacationing.

They offer vacationers everything from wild boar hunting and big - game angling to a quietude as peaceful as their island scenes.

Ranging over two vast coral shelves off the Florida coast, the 700 islands of the Bahamas chain extend 760 miles in a wide arc from within 50 miles of Florida to within 75 miles of Cuba.

Bahamian waters vary from depths of only a few inches on flats to three - mile - deep pits and two-mile chasms where the Atlantic bites through the shelves. Skittering over the flats and swimming deep through the shades of blue and green are hundreds of species of fish and 19 of the world's top 24 gamesters.

The Bahamas Out Islands and their capital, Nassau, were the setting for some of the most romantic pages of New World history ranging from Columbus's landfall through the heyday of Caribbean piracy to blockade running for the South during the Civil War and rum - running during prohibition.

But the some 40,000 Out Islanders now lead quiet lives devoted to farming, ship building, salt mining, fishing, tending small herds of cows and goats and ther newest enterprise — tourism.

Modern resorts in miniature, clinging still to their Old World way of doing things, have sprung up on Eleuthera, Andros and Bimini. Eleuthera, 60 miles east of Nassau, has vacation facilities at Harbour Island, Governor's Harbour and Rock Sound. Camp Bang Bang on Andros and the settlement at Bimini are perched amid two of the best fishing grounds in the Bahamas.

As the charm and varied diversions of Out Island living are discovered yearly by more thousands of visitors, more vacation facilities spring up and expand to meet the influx, making Nassau the hub of an ever - growing galaxy of island resorts.

NEWLYWEDS — Married recently at the Memorial Presbyterian Church in West Monroe were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Morgan. She is the former Helen Crosby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Crosby of Bastrop.

Helen Crosby, Albert Morgan Exchange Vows

A twilight wedding of charming simplicity was that of Miss Helen Crosby of this city, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Crosby of Bastrop, and Albert R. Morgan, Jr., also of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Morgan, Sr. of Nady, Ark. The marriage was solemnized on the evening of April 18 at 5:00 in the Memorial Presbyterian Church in West Monroe. The Rev. Dr. Hugh E. Bradshaw, pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian Church officiated, assisted by Dr. O. M. Anderson of Bastrop.

Three large baskets of white gladioli interspersed with greenery provided a background for the ceremony, with seven-branch candelabra illuminating the sacred scene. Pre-nuptial organ music was rendered by Hugh L. Bradshaw, son of the officiating minister, and Mrs. Billie Logan sang "Because" and "Always."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in an ankle length lace gown, with a rolled collar and tiny buttons descending to the bodice. Her veil was finger tip length, and she carried orchids on a white Bible, with satin streamers cascading to the hem of her full skirt.

Mr. Henry H. Young was the groom's best man, and ushers were Howard Crosby, brother of the bride, and Charles Stovall.

Both Mrs. Crosby and Mrs. Morgan, mothers of the bride and groom, were gowned in navy with corsages of baby orchids.

Immediately following the wedding ceremony a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church, which was decorated with flowers of the season. The reception table was overlaid with an exquisite lace cloth centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. The confection, on a mirror base, was topped with a miniature bride and groom, and wedding bells were arranged at the base. Miss Bess Sharp served the cake, and members of the Y. W. C. A., where Miss Crosby resided, assisted in serving punch and mints. Miss Betty Smith presided at the bride's book.

Mrs. Morgan received her education in the Bastrop schools, and attended Northeast Louisiana State College. Mr. Morgan received his education in DeWitt, Ark. Both Mr. and Mrs. Morgan are employed by Louisiana Power and Light Company in West Monroe.

After a short wedding trip to Denver, Colo. and vicinity, the couple will make their home at 116 Hudson Lane in Monroe.

Delta Rho Delta Hear Review On "Faraway Places"

Delta Rho Delta members met for their April lecture in the Cameo Room, Virginia Hotel, on the 20th. A book review, the program which is pleasantly anticipated each season, was presented by Mrs. E. P. Cudd. To emphasize her theme, "Faraway Places," she used as her reference books two of Agnew Newton Keith's "White Man Returns" and "Land Below the Wind;" and Santha Rama Rau's "East of Home."

Those present to enjoy the exciting review were: Miss Nancy Johnson, Miss Billie Blazier, Miss Marna Hyman, Mrs. Cascille Golson, Mrs. Marie Wilhite, Miss Inez Roberson, Mrs. Bertha Patterson, Miss Elizabeth Goff, Mrs. Lena Wallace, Mrs. Mamie Fields, Miss Barbara Hancock, Miss Elizabeth Stringer, Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, Mrs. Ida Metcalf, Miss Josephine Anzalone, Mrs. Mary Russell, Miss Rose Anderson, Miss Ann Thompson, Miss Ann Mickel, Miss Jo Wilder, Miss Mary Louise Farr.

St. Francis Alumna Has Homecoming

The reception refreshment committee for the party is comprised of Mrs. Alyce Davis, Mrs. Frieda Cannon and Miss Mary Trichel.

Sister Brigida will be in charge of the arrangements and will be assisted by Mrs. Cathrine Messina, Mrs. W. Breard, Mrs. Dessie DuRen, Mrs. T. Breard and Mrs. Edna Shaugnessy.

The party will be followed by a banquet at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club at 7:30 p.m. Miss Sibyl Renaud is chairman. She is being assisted by Mrs. Ralph Talbert, Mrs. Ivin Wolff, Mrs. Frieda Cannon and Miss Sarah Scalia.

The St. Francis Sanitarium school colors of purple and gold will be used in the decorations. Song will be sung by the group with Mrs. Ledia Pardue at the piano.

Mrs. Faye Hale will preside over the guest book.

Floral arrangements for the banquet will be in charge of Mrs. Scott Hamilton, Mrs. John Theus and Mrs. S. E. Huey.

White Glove Season Ahead

There's one secret common to all well-dressed women — immaculate gloves.

If your gloves, hat, shoes and handbag are bandbox fresh, your hair neat, your makeup flawless, you can get by with the simplest kind of dress and still look like a million, say experts who study such matters.

In summer an ample supply of washable white gloves is a must for good grooming—and this year white fabric gloves are putting on new fashion airs. There are shorties for wear with casual dresses, long ones for dressier wear, hand-sewn ones, embroidered ones and even hand-painted ones.

The latter, made in Paris for the American market, feature a full line of styles with gay little flowers hand-painted on the fabric. Most popular motif is the rose. Small single roses are scattered over the back of a brief glove with a pointed cuff, English tea roses form a garland at the wrist of an elbow-length glove, and another mid-arm glove has stylized rosebuds. If you prefer, you may have forget-me-nots or minute horses' heads on your hands.

Simplify Steps In Dressing

Do you know how much time you need for dressing in the morning and undressing at night?

Why not look at the clock the moment you begin your dressing and grooming activities and make a note of it? Then forget the clock. Continue in your usual way and check the time when you're finished.

You may be horrified at the time you've spent or you may congratulate yourself on your efficiency. If you feel you've spent more time than is necessary and desirable, why not think out what you can do to cut corners and dovetail activities?

You might keep clean bath towels, soaps, dusting powder and other bathing requisites in the bathroom. If you make up there, why not have a convenient arrangement in the bathroom for yourself? Such arrangements are always entirely personal — one can only suggest that you save yourself steps by having your equipment in as convenient a place as possible.

Eliminate clutter which tends to accumulate in a girl's grooming space. This clutter confuses your mind and wastes your time.

CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY — Mr. and Mrs. George G. Johnson celebrated their 41st wedding anniversary in the home of their daughter, Mrs. C. T. Coats and Mr. Coats recently. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have resided in Monroe and West Monroe for the past thirty-three years.

Young Couple United With Impressive Home Ceremony

Miss Ruth Elaine Hearne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Hearne of this city, became the bride of James Earl Bramble, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Bramble of Hope Mills, N. C., on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of her parents, in the presence of relatives and a few close friends.

High standards of white gladioli and white daisies were placed on each side of the arch. Other spring flowers were placed at vantage points throughout the living room and dining room.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Pat Riggs sang "Through The Years," accompanied by Miss Loyce Kilpatrick of Jonesboro, a cousin of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a dress of aqua silk shantung. Her becoming small hat was of navy velvet with navy straw trim. Her accessories were also of navy.

The brides' table was covered with a handsome crocheted table cloth. At one end was the wedding cake embossed with white rosebuds and topped by a miniature bride and groom. The punch bowl was at the other end of the table.

Miss Beverly Sue Hearne, cousin of the bride, served the wedding cake while Miss Georgia Massee and Mrs. Dorothy Ann Theodos presided over the punch bowl.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. T. A. Edwards of Chatham, grandmother of the bride, L. E. Burton of Baton Rouge, Mrs. J. G. Kilpatrick and her daughter, Loyce Kilpatrick of Jonesboro, James H. Amerson, Albert Lewis Ramsey and Mrs. Donald Hayem all of Shreveport.

After a wedding trip to the east coast, the couple will make their home in Shreveport where the groom is serving with the air force at Barksdale Field.

Parties

Mrs. James Earl Bramble, the former Ruth Elaine Hearne, was entertained at a number of parties prior to her marriage.

Miss June Girod and Miss Rosie Joiner honored Miss Hearne with a miscellaneous surprise shower in the Girod's home on Grammont.

Another party honoring the bride was a tea shower in the home of Mrs. Lester Hearne and her daughter, Sue, on McGuire Avenue.

Beautiful spring flowers were placed at vantage points throughout the reception rooms. The table was overlaid with a lace cloth. Mrs. W. G. Miller and Miss June Girod served coffee and tea from the silver service while Mrs. G. W. Douglas and Mrs. M. B. Hearne assisted in the courtesies.

More than fifty guests called between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock.

Martha Cier Brown, John David King Wed In Spokane

FERRIDAY—A wedding of interest throughout this section of Northeast Louisiana and Southwest Mississippi was that of Miss Martha Cier Brown to John David King, Jr., of Ferriday, which was solemnized April 20 at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. R. V. Miller in Spokane, Wash., with Dr. Richard Young, pastor of the Methodist church officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Commander and Mrs. Robert J. Brown of Tampa, Fla., and New Orleans, La., and Mr. King is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John David King, Sr., of Ferriday.

Her cousin, Mrs. R. V. Miller was matron of honor and Lieut. A. R. Johnson served the groom as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple departed for Pasco, Wash., where Pvt. King is stationed with the anti-aircraft division of the U. S. Army.

The bride is a graduate of McMain High School in New Orleans, and attended Louisiana State University. She is a member of Delta Zeta Sorority.

Private King is a graduate of the Ferriday High School and of Louisiana State University, where he was a member of Theta Xi, social fraternity, Samural, honorary fraternity, and Delta Theta Epsilon, business fraternity.

Garden News

FOR ANY LAWNMOWER — A new power lawn mower attachment that effectively clears lawns and gardens of mosquitoes, flies and other insect pests is now available. The thermal gun attaches simply to any 4-cycle mower without interfering with the normal mowing operation. Guns are also made to fit tractors and cultivators.

normal size plants you usually have on hand. More water and a little more feeding and spraying may be necessary if you are not to wind up with a group of long leggy stems with no foliage. It would be better to pinch back your plants several times and keep them as low and stocky as you can. The tips, if you make them two or three or more inches long, will root easily in sand or in one of the other rooting mediums, and the plants made from cuttings up till the end of May will flower this fall. Dahlia lovers usually make cuttings of their best plants at this time, too, and the plants raised from cuttings bloom well before the season is over.

Do not let the sudden spring drouths catch you with no mulch on your garden. If there are newly planted shrubs and trees on the place, rake up some leaves or just anything you can find and spread around the roots of the freshly transplanted things. Do not be afraid to spread leaves a foot deep over the soil as far as two or three feet out from the trunks of trees or shrubs. The leaves do not have to be decayed one bit to hold the moisture in the soil, keep the sun from heating the soil and the water from evaporating. Leaves will keep the soil temperature down and help roots to get started. If you dislike the looks of these large piles of leaves around the feet of your trees and shrubs, just sprinkle a little soil over the leaves, and they will disappear from sight. Nature very prudently covers her soil in the woods. You cannot do better! That cultivated look that people used to like to look at is out of style, now. We know that soil is not to be left uncovered and raw for the rains to wash away and the sun to beat upon. It is the garden mulched down that is the most natural looking garden. Hold the weeds down, keep the temperature down, bring the moisture up with a mulch.

Royal Paulonia and Catalpas

When those handsome trees with the great upright masses of purple flowers and with tremendous leaves on the young trees bloom in the middle of the Spring every year, your columnist finds himself in the middle of a gardeners' controversy, for some people have been calling the Royal Paulonia a "catalpa" all their lives. This handsome quick growing tree is not a catalpa at all but an oriental tree from China. The beautiful purple flowers, the buds and the seed pods which look like green hickory nuts until they finally turn black in winter are all featured in Chinese at which has to do with the emperors. For this reason, it is called the "Royal" Paulonia. The French introduced it to France, and then the famous French botanist who came to Charleston, South Carolina in search of timber trees for the French Navy is said to have introduced it there. At any rate, it has spread across the Southern States as a weed tree, from the sea to the mountains to such a great extent that, although it is one of the most beautiful flowering trees in the world, we Southerners do not appreciate it. In England, where the trees will not flower, tree lovers and gardeners grow it for the giant leaves along. In the South here, the flowers come out just as the wisteria is passing and carry on the same note of lavender up in the trees. When seen bare against the sky, it is difficult to see the violet flowers of a paulonia. They need to be seen against some sort of background of dark foliage or against a building. Where one can look down onto them in a valley, they are at their best.

There are two native catalpas in out country. They bloom much later than the Royal paulonia and have white blossoms with yellow and purple markings in them, and the flowers are followed by long "catalpa beens" or "cigars", as children like to call them when they smoke them. To fisherman, these are "fishing worm trees" whose sole purpose is to supply large green "worms". Wherever much fishing goes on, you will find "fishing worm trees". Catalpas do well in cities because they will put up with the bad air and heat.

The Home Shift With

Mildred Swift

We can't do anything about the weather but we can surely talk about all this rain we're having. The soil specialists say we need the moisture to make up for last year's drouth — but we could use it in smaller doses, couldn't we?

That's the title of the Monroe Garden Club Spring Flower Show, May 12. There will be flower arrangements and horticulture exhibits. Graduation corsages and bouquets will be featured. The public is cordially invited to attend. The place is the Parish House, 405 Glenmar, Monroe. Time 2:30 to 5:30. Those who attended last year, remember this show as one of the most outstanding ever staged in north Louisiana. We're looking forward to seeing many of our out-of-town friends, as well as those in Ouachita Parish.

Spring and Summer Food Outlook

Food shoppers are finding more beef on the market than a year ago —and at lower prices. A record early potato crop is ready for market. Some increase in lamb and mutton supplies is expected to accompany the sharp increase in beef and veal. Pork supplies will decrease as a result of the smaller pig crop. The outlook calls for large supplies of frozen fruit juices but smaller stocks of frozen fruits than in 1952. Retail food prices are expected to remain fairly stable.

A Washable ABC Book

Mrs. Arthur West just completed an ABC book for my grandson. It is most attractive and is washable. She embroidered all the first words children learn, as well as a picture of the word. The child can chew, pull or throw the book with no damage as the leaves are made of Indian Head. It is such a practical idea I wanted to pass it on to you. I'll be glad to show you my copy as I haven't mailed it to the grandson yet. Mrs. West put lots of time and work in the making of the book, and believe me the results show it.

Garden Ramblins'

Be sure to go by and see Dr. Wolf's Easter lilies in bloom at 1514 Park Avenue. This is one way of using them in the shrubbery beds. Mrs. Wolf tells me they used bone meal and 5-10-5.

A neighbor of Mrs. Meyers called about the unusual beauty of a red rose on a trellis. I didn't get by to see this, but if you're on the South side go by. The address is 1105 South Third, Monroe.

Mr. Swanson and his boys at Louisiana Training Institute (4601 South Grand) have worked miracles on their grounds. They planted white and pink Flora Bundas in masses at both entrances. I'm sure Mr. Swanson will be glad for you to drive on around the driveway, because every building has attractive plantings. I know the boys feel more at home in all this beauty, and what better training could you give a boy than gardening?

With all this rain, check your plants to see if your mulch is too heavy. I know I lost some dogwoods because the straw held too much moisture causing the roots to rot.

Last year I told you about buying some Pink Formosa azaleas, and was pleased to find there was a pink. At the time my plants had not bloomed. I'm a little disappointed. They're not quite as purple as the old formosa but they are not a true pink. Maybe I was expecting a Fisher pink.

Colors in Evergreens

While we have very little bloom in the garden is the time to study the greens in our evergreens. Different shades give interest. I was looking at a bed this morning with dark green lirope border, light green maiden hair fern just back of this, a little darker green Siberina Iris back of the fern and a hedge of Abelia for screen planting. Gray greens make interesting contrasts, too. It was lovely and these shades are something to think about when planning your planting.

Don't forget the periwinkle (Vinca Rosea) when planting for summer bloom. You can get the seed in white or lavender. The nurseries will soon have plants, too. This is a plant that will flower from June 'til frost with no attention. Don't mix your colors. Plant all white or all lavender. They give a mass of color when there's little blooming in the yard.

The petunias and verbenia have grown out of bounds because of so much rain. Trim them back, give them a little liquid fertilizer and soon you'll have blooms again. About a half cup of 5-10-5 to a gallon of water will be a good drink for them.

Mildred Swift

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

Q—We plan to fertilize our shade trees. What is the recommended amount?

A—A general rule is to use three pounds of a 5-10-5, 4-12-4 or 6-10-4 fertilizer for each inch of trunk diameter, measured waist high. Be sure to get it deep into the soil, 15 inches or deeper.

Q—Our daughter is to be married in June. What flowers can be depended upon to be in bloom?

A—Among the perennials that should be in bloom are columbine, Canterbury bell, Shasta daisy, delphinium, geum, day lilies, iris, peonies, Oriental poppy, lilies in variety, roses and garden pinks.

Q—Last summer's crop of potatoes were badly infected with scab. What can be done to eliminate this disease?

A—Scab can be licked by a generous application of sulfur and a two-year crop rotation. A single application will last up to four years. Potatoes can't be grown the first season after the treatment, and some other crops, such as corn, should be planted.

Q—Is it possible for the home gardener to propagate rhododendrons from cuttings?

Delta Air Lines Enjoys Best Month

ATLANTA (Special)—April was the heaviest month in the history of Delta Air Lines in number of passengers carried, according to an announcement made today by Laigh C. Parker, vice president, traffic and sales, of Delta-C—S.

During April, preceding the merger of Delta and Chicago & Southern on May 1, total Delta passengers exceeded 100 thousand for the first time in any single month. Parker said the airline carried 104,109 passengers and operated with an average of 70.64 per cent of its airplane seats occupied.

Choudrant High Plans Exercises

CHOUDRANT (Special) — Delia Ann Holstead will graduate with top honors at the Choudrant High School commencement May 20 and Mary Ann Whitman will graduate with second honors. Both have attended school for four years and have been active in school affairs.

The baccalaureate exercises will be held in the school auditorium May 17 at 11 a.m. Rev. M. L. Davis will deliver the sermon.

Trees Make News

City Ways Bring Hunger To Many Country Trees

Trees feed through their roots. Nature takes care of their food needs in the woodlands, where soil is loose, rich and full of nourishment. Leaves and other decaying matter provide a constant supply of organic nutrients.

But more and more city dwellers are moving to the country, bringing their urban habits with them. Their new homes boast clipped lawns, concrete walks and drives, all of which cut off natural nourishment to tree roots on the property.

The average home owner often forgets that trees get hungry, just like dogs, cats and other household pets. And a tree can't go out and forage for itself.

Even persons who are quick to protect their trees against insects, by regular spraying, frequently neglect to invite their arboreal friends to dinner. They tend to think only of the tree section above ground, ignoring the vital root system which they can not see.

Under such conditions, the underfed tree develops stunted twig growth, while leaves become smaller, more sparse and of poor color. With lowered vitality such a tree is no longer well able to survive drouth and other troubles that more robust trees can easily withstand.

A popular method of feeding is to drill holes about 18 inches deep over an area equivalent to the branch spread and fill them with peat moss and fertilizer with a high nitrogen content. The extra vitamins will do wonders for growing vigor.

Unpruned Trees Contribute To Crime, Accidents

Large, unpruned street trees too commonly contribute an assist to traffic accidents and even to the peril of pedestrians who must use streets and sidewalks at night.

Darkness breeds lawlessness of many kinds. Bright, well - lit streets are a deterrent. But heavy new tree foliage in the late spring or early summer often screens off the light from street lamps, creating dim shadowlands where prowlers can lurk unseen.

Leafy, low - hanging branches also obstruct the driver's view of overhead traffic signals, sometime cutting them off completely. And top - heavy trees are a danger during summer storms to pedestrians as well as motorists from the standpoint of falling branches.

These are just a few reasons why it pays to have street trees pruned regularly, advises C. O. Brittain, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co. Besides removing safety hazards, proper pruning provides a beauty treatment for the tree and the street in which it stands.

Kent, O., known as the tree city, has a full - time shade tree commission to keep its trees healthy and well - groomed. They're pruned to a minimum distance of 15 feet above streets and 10 feet above sidewalks. Other communities, such as Akron, Springfield and Wooster, O., are following the Kent example. And every city has at least one reliable tree man who will be glad to advise on best pruning methods.

Southern Gardener

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

The warm winter we have just had some interesting effects on plants and gardens. All of the winter flowering plants like flowering quince camellias, jasmin, Christmas roses, lenten roses and the like bloomed out their full season without once being destroyed by the usual "cold snaps." At the beginning of May, now, we are still seeing the effects of this ideal winter. The summer flowering bulbs like crinums started to grow several weeks early and are now well along with their leaves. Some of the early summer perennials will certainly bloom before the end of May from the looks of the buds already forming on veronicas. Petunias which were not killed by the winter are in bloom—have been for several weeks. The mild winter weather allowed the foliage of red spider-lilies and sternbergias to mature early. These bulbs can be dug just as soon as the leaves have died completely. The cooler spring weather is a fine time to get them dug, and just enough of the dead foliage will be visible to help you to find them. They are difficult to find in summer, and the hot weather is an awful deterrant to digging bulbs which everybody seems to think just ought to be dug in the Fall anyway. Of course, you will not need to take up sternbergias and red spider-lilies if they are not overcrowded and have not stopped flowering.

Some gardeners want to know what the effect will be on the fall flowers like chrysanthemums and asters. The answer is that they will simply be larger plants, but they will not flower a day earlier because both chrysanthemums and asters are "short day plants" which refuse to form flower buds until the daylight hours shorten to suit them. Then they will set about blooming. Of course, there are some very early chrysanthemums which florists grow that bloom even in summer, but we are referring to the ordinary varieties grown in gardens. There will be a "catch" in this business of the larger plants. You will have to carry these large plants with their extra foliage and stems through the summer drouth, and they will be more of a burden than the

Gardening This Week

Continue making succession plantings of gladiola well into May for late flowering effects in the cutting garden for the house.

Slugs and cutworms are best controlled by poison bait, placed in areas where they are doing the most destruction. Slugs love moist, shady spots; cutworms are less choosy. Put out fresh bait after rain, which leeches the poison from the bran or whatever is the base.

Keep plenty of peat moss handy, and use it lavishly where necessary to protect plants and roots against the drying hot sun. Use it, if economically possible, on the garden beds, too, as a mulch to keep weeds down, and later dig in to improve the soil texture.

Keep on hand seed packets, even when empty, and consult them—plus a good garden guide—before transplanting. This will save you the annoyance and distress of transplanting seedlings too close together.

Even though you think you remember what you did so well last year, keep referring to your garden bookshelf before tackling any specific job. It will refresh your recollection and so teach you more all the time.

Thin early planted seedlings before they have a chance to start crowding each other and competing for food and space.

Prune lilacs of dead flower sprays after they have finished blooming, and give the bushes a top-dressing of balanced fertilizer, very lightly and gently worked into the soil.

Dress Shields Save Damage

For the girl who hasn't found an antiperspirant to meet her requirements, dress shields are an answer to the clothing - protection problem.

With dress shields, you'll need to use a simple underarm deodorant — a baking soda solution and-or a deodorant dusting powder. Or use a very mild cream or lotion deodorant that neutralizes odor and does not mask it with a strong scent.

When buying dress shields, it's important to get the size and shape to go with your dress or blouse sleeve. Keep in mind the types of sleeves in your clothes and have at least one dress shield to go with each.

Dress shields come in cotton, silk or rayon which covers a layer of rubber, plastic or moisture-repellent fabric. The package usually pictures the shape of the shield and the type of sleeve it is intended for.

If you don't want to bother sewing your shields in every time you use them, have a supply of tiny "gold" safety pins to secure them in place. Be sure to pin the binding which finishes the edge of the shield and not the rubber or plastic, and pin the shield to the seams of the dress or blouse.

You can have shields in black, white or navy. Wash them often in warm sudsy water but do not iron them — fingerpress them into shape.

Solid Cologne Is Cooling In Summer Heat

With summer on its way, career girls are thinking of how to keep cooler in the office.

One of the biggest helps is a solid stick cologne that you might keep in your desk drawer. Choose the scent that you enjoy rather than buy one merely because it is said to be currently chic. Try it before you buy it. If the sales girl can't let you stroke a sample on your wrist, then go somewhere else to buy.

After stroking, wait a minute and then smell it. It should blend into your skin before you can truly test it. That is what makes perfume the most personal of cosmetics — your own body chemistry combines with the perfume oils to make a unique fragrance that expresses you or doesn't. If you feel it expresses you, it's your scent.

If other people congratulate you on your taste, you can be doubly sure you've chosen well.

On sizzling days in the office, cool off with your stick cologne on the back of your neck, on your forehead and the inside of your arms. The cooling sensation plus the scent will refresh you. At lunch hour, why not take off your stockings and shoes and refresh your feet with the solid cologne?

To make perfume linger longer on your skin use a liquid skin sachet. Because of the sachet base it will be longer lasting.

Keep Clothes Brush Handy

Teen - agers, don't you dislike it when you must be close to someone's shoulder in a crowded place and find yourself inches from those evidences of sloppy grooming — dandruff and lose hairs?

Persons who are guilty of those grooming faults aren't usually aware of them. So they should stand as a warning to all of us to beward of these things in ourselves.

Whenever you comb and brush your hair, automatically pick up your clothes brush and thoroughly go over your shoulders and arms. If you bend your body and head well forward as you brush, the hairs and scales will go on the floor instead of on your clothes.

It's a good idea to brush your hair last thing at night and first thing in the morning, brushing first in the opposite direction from that in which the hairs lie. You'll be wearing your nightgown and can avoid the problem of hair and dandruff on your dresses.

When you comb and brush your hair during the day with your pocket - size comb and brush, get out your miniature whisk - broom or clothes brush and clean up your shoulders.

An important preventive measure is to keep your combs and brushes, including those in your handbag, scrupulosuly clean. Many girls own two hair brushes, in addition to the miniature one, so they'll always have one clean and dry.

When you have finished brushing your hair, why not wash the brush immediately? It may save time and annoyance later.

Rushees Are Entertained

Members of Delta Beta Sigma sorority chose First Methodist Church of Monroe, on Sunday, May 3, as the one they would attend as a group and they invited a number of rushees to attend as their guests. After church, rushees were honored with a luncheon at the Rendezvous. Following this, a conversational hour was held at the home of Miss Gaye Olcott. Members, pledges and rushees attending all these events were: Lela Bess Kite, Elizabeth Leigh, Ann Flinn, Lynn Merriman, Shirley McDonald, Jan Demmary, Sally Kennedy, Gaye Olcott, Annabeth Lewis, Flora Kitchenham, Barbara Ann Gaar, Slyvia Masur, Mary Pat Welch, Dawson Ann Forman, Connie Pickering, Camille Smith, Nancy Ledbetter, Jeanne Heinberg, Marianna Altick, Dixie Johnson, Gail Roark, Mary Lou Trawick, Carolyn Futrell, Janice Strong, Kay McCue, Genny Butz, Carolyn Boyce, Diana Cutler, Jesse Mundo, Sally Oliver, Ashley Hamilton, Ann Jarrell, Barbara Byrd, Jonnie Avery- Jimmie Lou Irving, Jerry Lester and Gloria Dowdy.

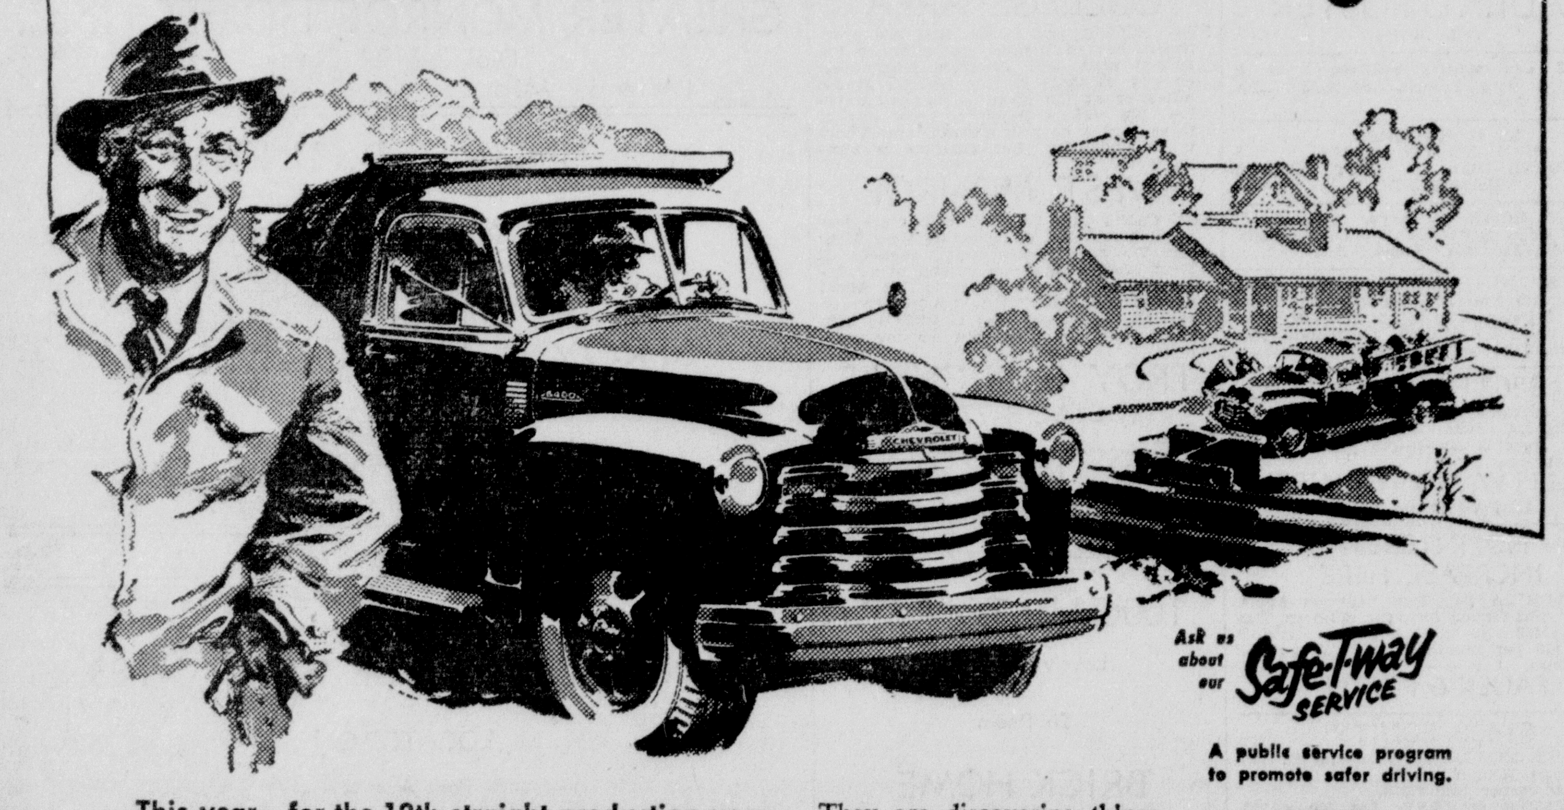
Chevrolet trucks must be the best buy!



Ask us about our Safe-T-way SERVICE
A public service program to promote safer driving.

This year—for the 12th straight production year—truck users are buying more Chevrolet trucks than any other make. That couldn't be true unless Chevrolet trucks offered more of what you want.

Already, 1953's official sales figures tell a remarkable story of clear-cut and decisive preference for Chevrolet trucks. But, this is not surprising, for truck users everywhere are discovering how far ahead of all others Chevrolet trucks really are.

They are discovering things like the tremendous new power in advanced Loadmaster engines in heavy-duty models . . . the remarkable gasoline economy . . . the extra ruggedness and strength of heavier, more rigid frame construction.

And, in addition to all these advantages, the Chevrolet line lists for less than any other trucks of comparable size and capacity. So, before you buy any truck, stop in and see us.

BLONDIE
by CHIC YOUNG
WE SHOULDN'T HAVE BOWLED THAT LAST GAME-- IT'S AFTER MIDNIGHT
OUR WIVES WILL BE ON THE WARPATH FOR SURE
DAGWOOD--MY WIFE'S NOT HOME--SHE'S LEFT ME
BLONDIE'S GONE, TOO--WHAT CAN WE DO?
OUR WIVES HAVE LEFT US! OUR HAPPY HOMES ARE NO MORE
DON'T GET PANICKY-- WE'LL WRITE OUT A LIST OF PROMISES AND SEND IT TO THEM WHEREVER THEY ARE FIRST, WE'LL PROMISE THEM NEVER TO COME HOME LATE AGAIN-- EVER
NEXT, WE'LL PROMISE NEVER TO STREW OUR CLOTHES AROUND THE HOUSE OR THROW ASHES ON THE FLOOR
WE'LL PROMISE TO SHAVE EVERY MORNING AND TO KEEP THE LAWN MOWED
AND WE'LL ALWAYS DRY THE DISHES AND WIPE OUR MUDDY FEET
LET'S PROMISE THEM EACH A NEW FUR COAT-- THAT'LL CLINCH IT
YEH-- AND NEW HATS AND A DRESS APIECE
DO YOU REALIZE WE'VE MADE OVER FIFTY PROMISES? LIFE IS GOING TO BE TERRIBLY GRIM FOR US
IT'S GOING TO BE HORRIBLE, HERB, BUT WE'LL HAVE TO DO IT IF WE WANT OUR WIVES BACK
I DIDN'T REALIZE THAT SECOND FEATURE PICTURE WOULDN'T BE OVER UNTIL ONE OCLOCK
OUR HUSBANDS ARE GOING TO BE FURIOUS WHEN WE COME IN AT THIS HOUR
WE'RE VERY SORRY--WE ADMIT WE WERE WRONG
WE BEG YOUR FORGIVENESS
THEY'VE JUST BEEN TO THE MOVIES
THIS IS AN OUTRAGE, COMING IN AT THIS HOUR
YOU SHOULD BE ASHAMED!
WHAT ARE THESE PAPERS?
FUR COATS AND HATS
LIFE IS GOING TO BE A DREAM FOR US
WE'RE LUCKY TO HAVE SUCH WONDERFUL HUSBANDS
I'LL TEACH YOU NOT TO GET SO PANICKY HEREAFTER

New FAB WASHES WHITER

NOTHING WHITENS LIKE FAB! You'll actually find that Fab washes most of your clothes whiter without a bleach—whiter than any soap, whiter than any washing product known with a bleach in the wash water.

IF YOU ADD A BLEACH TO FAB for your few stained, extra-soiled clothes, they'll come whiter, too—far whiter than with any other product and a bleach. For new Fab's exclusive whitening action is not affected by bleach.

WHAT'S MORE—FAB OUTCLEANS any soap! Washes out dirt; leaves no dulling soap scum.

SAVE WORK! SAVE HANDS! Fab immediately loosens dirt and keeps it floating in the wash water. No soaking is needed! No dulling soap scum to rinse out—even in hardest water. And Fab is wonderfully mild to hands!

CUT DISHWASHING TIME IN HALF!

Fab soaks dishes, glasses, pots and pans shiny clean! If a bit of food clings, the dishcloth whisks it off. Just a quick rinse and dishes drain sparkling clean. No hard scouring, no wiping—with Fab!

NAW-I DON'T MISS TH' OLD VAUDEVILLE SHOWS-I USED TO GIT HOARSE FROM HISSING-
WELL-YOU NEVER DID ENJOY THE BEAUTIFUL-I SAW THE GIRL YOU MARRIED!
SOME OF THOSE JUGGLERS COULD BALANCE EVERYTHING BUT THEIR BANK ACCOUNTS-
WHY THEY THREW THE SPOTLIGHT ON THAT BELLOWS I'LL NEVER KNOW-THEY SHOULD HAVE THROWN MUD ON HER-WONDERFUL HOW THOSE DANCE TEAMS COULD DANCE SO BADLY AND DO IT ALIKE-
THE POOR LEADER STUDIED FOR GRAND OPERA-BUT SPENT MOST OF HIS LIFE PLAYING FOR ANIMAL ACTS-
-AND WHY THE VILLAIN WAS ALWAYS SAVED IN A SHIPWRECK AND NEVER GOT WET-AND HIS CIGAR ALWAYS REMAINED LIT!!

SOME PEOPLE WONDERED HOW THEY DID THIS-BUT MOST PEOPLE WONDERED WHY-ASBESTOS
AND THE KNIFE-THROWING ACT WONDERED WHERE ALL THE KNIVES CAME FROM THAT THEY DIDN'T THROW-ALSO THE SWORDS AND AXES--
AND WHEN THE COMEDIAN TOLD A JOKE THE STRAIGHT MAN HIT HIM WITH A NEWSPAPER-IT SHOULD HAVE BEEN A SLEDGE HAMMER!

MANDRAKE THE MAGICIAN
BY LEE FALK & PHIL DAVIS
OH--I CAN'T BREATHE--THE AIR'S SO THIN.
OH--THAT'S BETTER--
BIG FELLAS --WORK FAST!
FOLLOWED BY THREE ODD-LOOKING OBJECTS ON WIRES.
WHAT ARE THOSE?
SOME SORT OF HELMETS. I THINK THEY WANT US TO PUT THEM ON. I WONDER WHY?
I--I SEEM TO BE HEARING THINGS-- WORDS!
NO--YOU'RE THINKING THINGS--THOUGHTS! THESE ARE TELEPATHIC DEVICES. THE GIANTS ARE TRYING TO "SPEAK" TO US MENTALLY-- THROUGH THESE HELMETS!

WITH ALL TH' EXCITEMENT 'ROUND HERE LATELY, I'VE HARDLY NOTICED JUNIOR EKE — SNEEZER, THAT IS — OR LITTLE CINDY — WONDER WHERE THEY ARE —
SNEEZER? OH, HE WENT OUT EARLY TO PLAY BASEBALL — IT'LL BE LIKE THAT NOW ALL SUMMER —
HE'S A SWELL SHORTSTOP, THEY SAY — BUT WHERE'S CINDY?
OH, CINDY'S OUT PLAYING SOMEWHERE, TOO — GOES OFF EVERY DAY IN HER LITTLE WAGON — WITH HER LITTLE FRIENDS, I SUPPOSE —
OH, SURE — I'LL FIND HER, MRS. EKE —
MRS. EKE "SUPPOSES"! SO CINDY'S OUT "IN HER LITTLE WAGON" — YEAH — WITH WHAT "LITTLE FRIENDS" —?
WELL, SPRING'S REALLY HERE, SANDY! KIDS PLAYIN' JACKS — ROLLER SKATIN' — RUNNIN' 'ROUND LIKE CRAZY — HM-M — DON'T SEE CINDY WITH 'EM —
SH-H — THERE SHE IS — DOWN TH' PATH BY TH' CREEK — JUST LOOKIN' UP INTO TH' TREES — SORTA DREAMIN', SEEMS AS HOW — HI, CINDY — SURE IS PRETTY IN TH' WOODS — BUT WHAT Y'DOIN' DOWN HERE ALL ALONE?
ALONE? OH, I'M NOT ALONE, ANNIE — I'VE BEEN WATCHING THE BIRDS — HUNDREDS OF 'EM — THEY'RE BUILDIN' NESTS — SEE?
YEAH! LIKE FOLKS BUILDIN' HOUSES — WOW! ARE THEY BUSY!
TO FLY! IT MUST BE WONDERFUL! AND THE RABBITS AND SQUIRRELS — ALL THE ANIMALS —
LAST YEAR I FOUND A BABY SQUIRREL WITH A BROKEN LEG — I DOCTORED IT — SPLINTS — THEY SAY IF YOU TOUCH LITTLE SQUIRRELS, THEY DIE — MINE DIDN'T — HE GOT ALL WELL —
5-10-53
SEE! THAT'S MY SQUIRREL — SEE HOW TAME HE IS? HE REMEMBERS ME — HE'S SO HAPPY HE CAN RUN AGAIN —
I — I'M HAPPY FOR HIM, TOO — I JUST WANTED TO BE SURE HE'S ALL RIGHT — SHALL WE GO BACK HOME NOW?
SURE — WANT ME TO PULL YOU, CINDY?
OH, NO, THANKS! THIS WAGON'S JUST LIKE A SWELL CAR — A RACIN' CAR — IF I JUST MAKE BELIEVE A LITTLE —

Fabulous Lotion Shampoo by Toni which TONI is most natural for you?

New TONI TRIO
3 custom-made permanents— ONE'S a NATURAL for you
Super Toni HOME PERMANENT REFILL my hard-to-wave hair needs urging very Gentle Toni HOME PERMANENT REFILL
my tinted hair needs pampering
Regular Toni HOME PERMANENT REFILL
my hair needs to avoid extremes

Super Toni is most natural for me!

For Hard-To-Wave Hair—

SUPER TONI takes beautifully and lasts longer on hair that resists ordinary permanents. Also for a curlier permanent.

Very Gentle Toni is most natural for me!

For Easy-To-Wave Hair—

VERY GENTLE TONI is extra mild yet gives a wave that's in to stay. Also for bleached, tinted, or hair with some natural curl.

Regular Toni is most natural for me!

Pat Geoghegan NEW YORK CITY, says: "Other permanents curled too much or too little. Regular Toni waves my normal hair best of all."

For Normal Hair—

HAIR DO'S AND DONT'S

BY

Carol Douglas

Noted Beauty Consultant

DO "lower" a high forehead with bangs in your hairdo, "widen" a thin face with soft curls at the sides.

DON'T use an "adult" type permanent for your daughter if she's 2 to 12. Tonette by Toni is specially made for children's resistant hair. Gives natural looking, easy-to-care-for curls that won't wash out, month after month.

DO choose your own wave from the new Toni Trio—one's custom-made for your type of hair. No one permanent can be expected to wave all hair successfully.

DON'T struggle with ordinary curlers. Get Toni Spin Curlers, the world's finest. They're twice as easy, twice as fast—give a smoother, longer-lasting curl. Can be used again and again. A complete set for any home wave. Remember, only Toni makes Spin Curlers—they're patented.
